The Ever-Changing NOW . . .

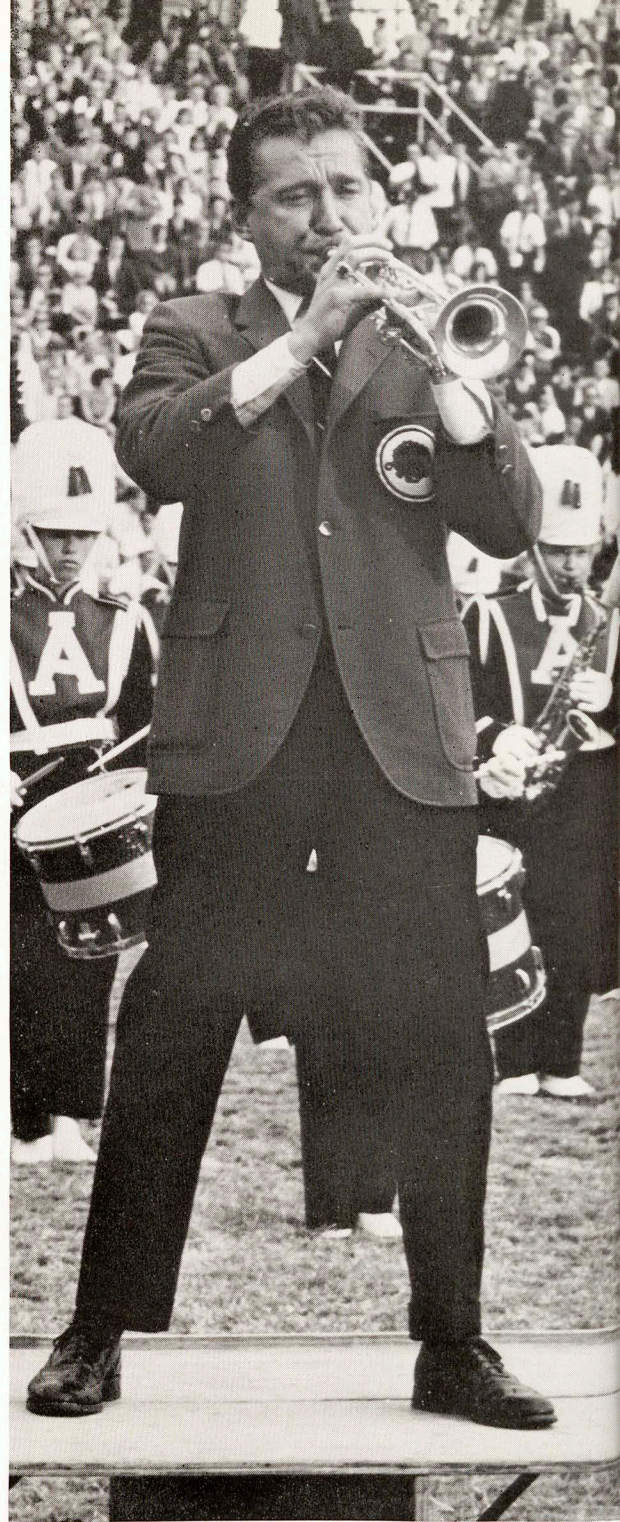

. . . fragmented, analyzed as history and fact. A fleeting moment—NOW—but already gone. Days at Arkansas are numbered in millions of NOW's. What was here just NOW is already recorded. The people in this book were all pictured in a moment that was gone before it was realized. Look at the faces, the mood each depicts; look at the pose, the shadow it casts; look . . .

NOW faces lighted with differing thoughts

NOW people together, minds welded into one

NOW triumph and exultation mounted to frenzy

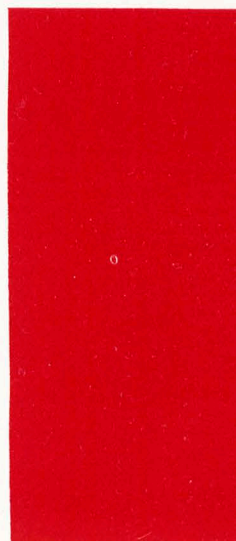

NOW the calm, the excited, the lackadaisical sitting shoulder to shoulder

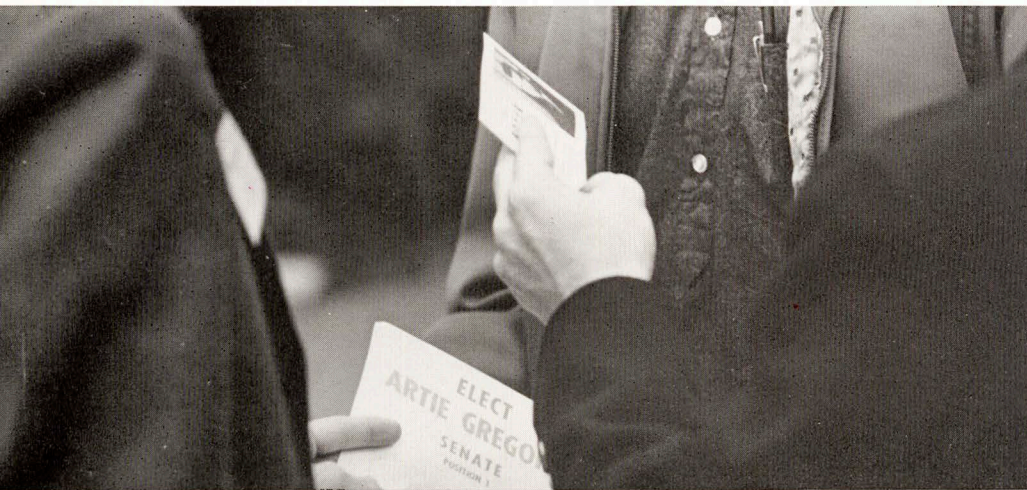

NOW the limelighter giving himself to others

NOW the show of confidence after fears and frustration

NOW the scenes of Arkansas committed to memory.

ADMINISTRATION

Governor Of Arkansas

Orval E. Faubus
Governor Of Arkansas

Orval E. Faubus, governor of Arkansas for twelve years, announced this year that he would not seek re-election. An adept politician, he moved into the Governor's Mansion in 1954.

Faubus began his rise to political prominence as postmaster in his hometown, Huntsville. He was then County Clerk of Madison County, a member of the State Highway Commission, and finally, administrative assistant to the man he succeeded as governor.

Faubus has not been a frequent visitor to the campus this year; however, he has continued to show interest in the development of the University. Under his administration, the UofA has embarked on its largest expansion and building program.

The Board of Trustees listens and comments on a report made by President Mullins during one of their monthly meetings at the University.

Mullins Seeks $50 Million Program

David Wiley Mullins — University President

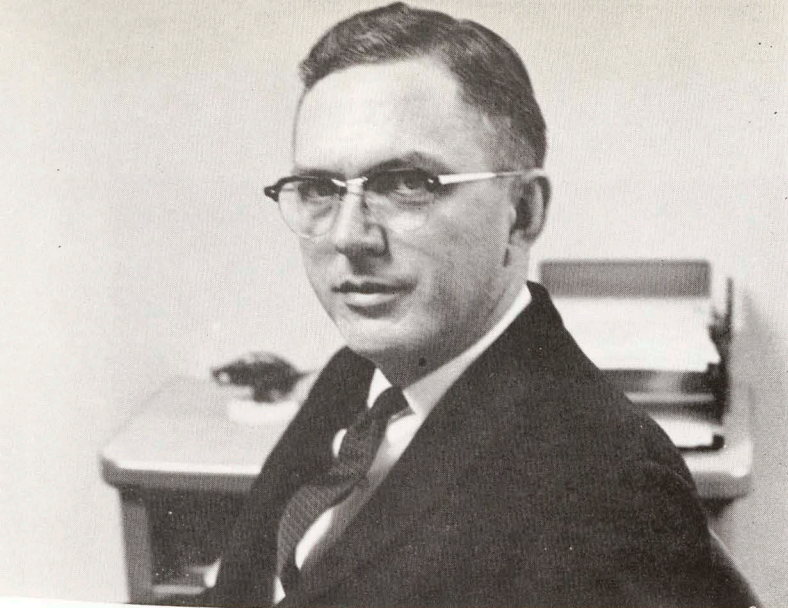

David Wiley Mullins has served as President of the University of Arkansas since 1960. During the past five years the University has completed construction on the main campus at a cost of approximately $12 million. The enrollment has increased approximately 63 per cent. In his President's Report this year, Dr. Mullins announced a $50 million building program for the UofA for the next 10 years.

Dr. Mullins was born in Ash Flat and graduated with honors in 1931 from the UofA. He earned his M.A. degree from the University of Colorado and his Doctor of Education Degree at Columbia University. He holds an Honorary Doctor of Laws Degree from Hendrix College.

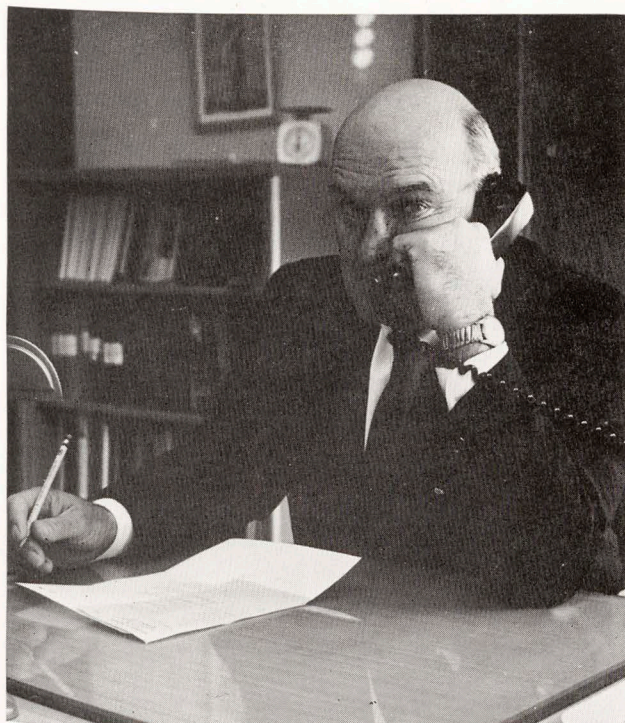

From 1941 until he came to the UofA, Dr. Mullins held various positions at Auburn University where he served as Executive Vice President for eleven years just prior to coming to the University.

President Mullins congratulates former UofA Miss America, Donna Axum, while giving out degrees.

Arts & Sciences Largest College

Well-equipped chemistry labs supervised by qualified instructors are bright spots in the College of Arts and Sciences.

The College of Arts and Sciences is the largest college of the University. Objectives of the College are to train students to be specialists in the scientific or cultural field of their choice and to give them the components of a general, liberal arts education.

A parallel objective is to encourage and develop research and other creative activity in each department of the College. Students are made acquainted with leading ideas and significant facts and mastery of habits of thought and methods of work in the natural and social sciences, languages, literature, fine arts, history and philosophy.

Under the administration of Dean Robert F. Kruh and his assistant, Robert S. Fairchild, the college works toward its goal, offering four baccalaureate degrees attained by completion of a basic curriculum.

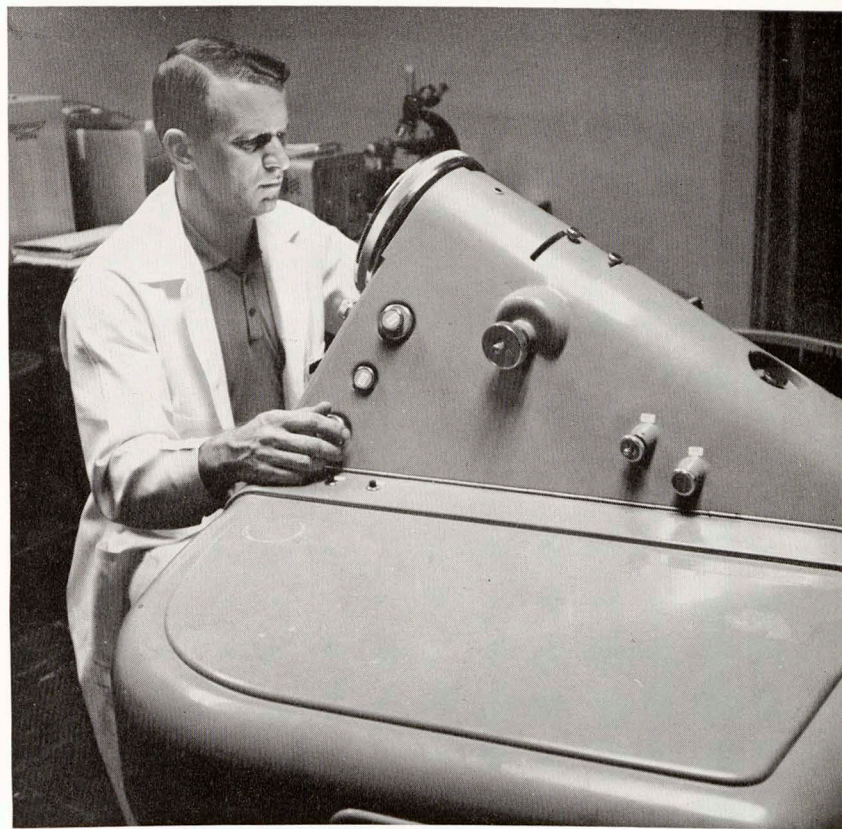

The Honors Program, co-ordinated by Dr. Harold D. Hantz, is the outstanding feature of the College. This program is designed to provide every possible opportunity to the superior student for achieving a level of accomplishment which might not normally be possible. A student is nominated to participate in the honors program at the end of his sophomore year on the basis of performance shown during the first two years of study.

Dean Robert F. Kruh

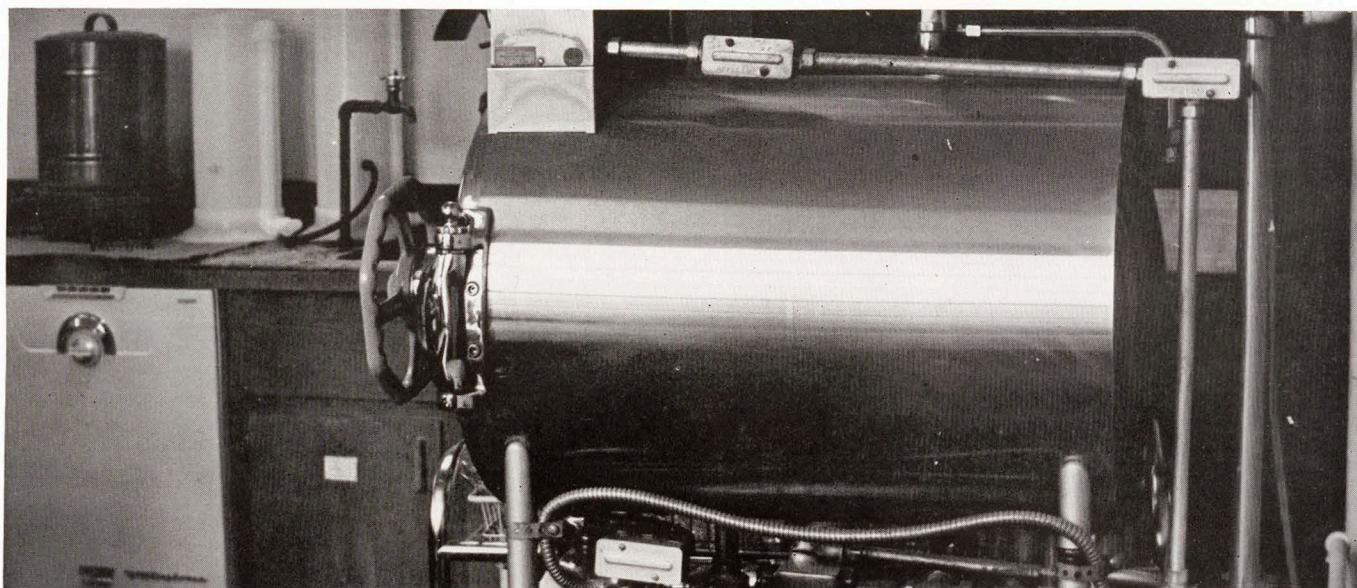

A new, multi-million dollar library will finally become a reality and gone will be the days, like above, of inferior lighting and space.

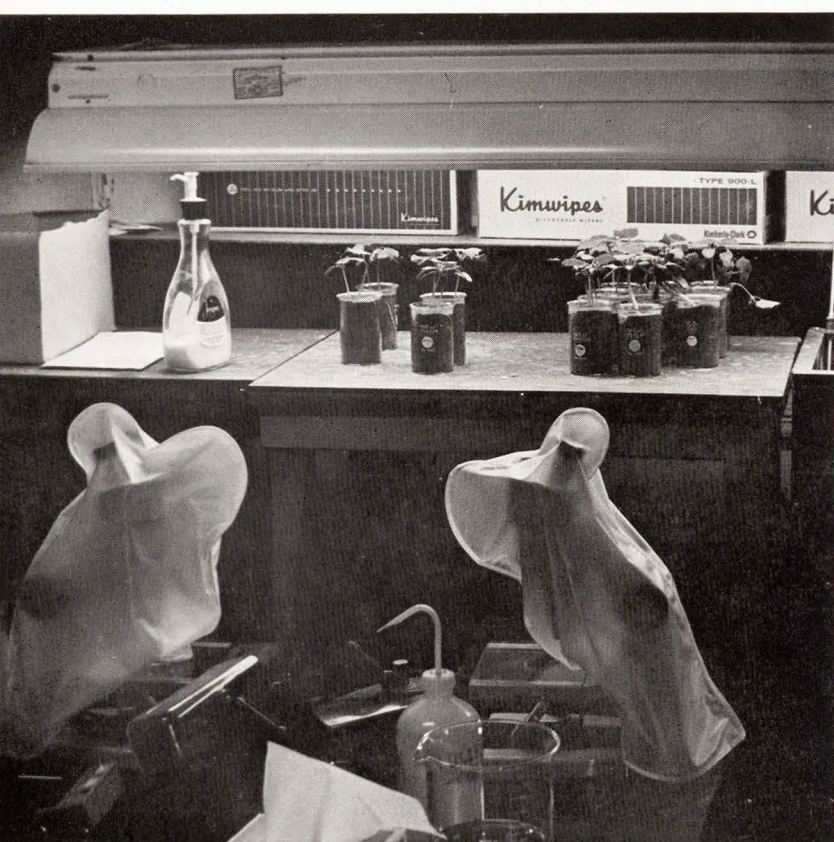

Many students have ruined their eyes while answering the challenge of research in one of the College's biological laboratories.

The Arkansas campus is set in an area conducive to botanical studies, and the College makes good use of this fact of nature.

The Animal Science Center with the latest equipment was finally completed this year through a combination of state and federal funds.

Growing cultures to determine new strains and better pesticides for use in state agriculture is one of the College's jobs.

Both men and women work in the College to find new methods and products with which to grow and prepare America's food.

College Researches Agri Problems

As the Land Grant College for the state, the University is responsible for leadership in agriculture and home economics. The division of Agriculture, which includes programs of resident teaching, research and extension in agriculture and home economics, assumes this responsibility of leadership.

As well as the technical agriculture and home economics curriculum, the college also includes basic training in the sciences and humanities. There are five plans which an agriculture student may choose to best satisfy his interests and goals. Students in home economics may enroll in electives or the teacher-education curriculum. In accordance with an agreement with the College of Veterinary Medicine of Oklahoma State University, residents of Arkansas may complete training in veterinary medicine at OSU without paying out-of-state tuition.

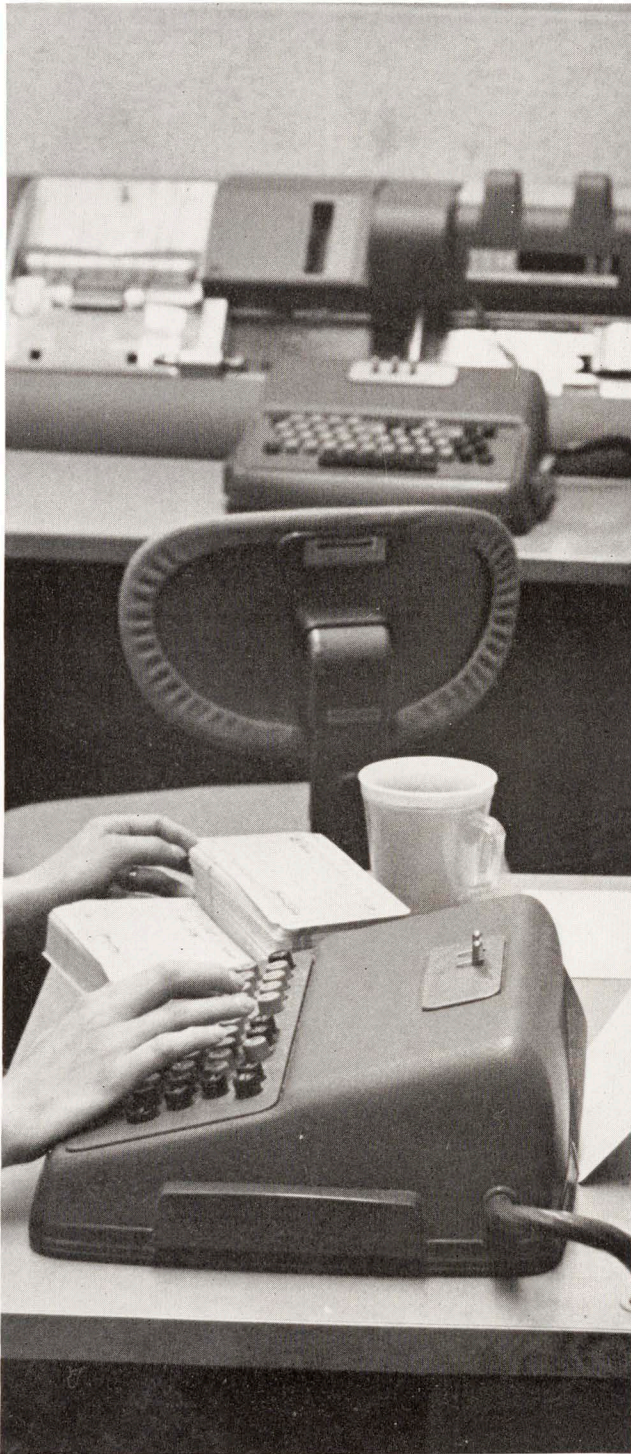

Glenn W. Hardy is the dean of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics and reports directly to the head of the Division of Agriculture.

An agri student, armed with a butterfly net, prepares to get bug samples on which to test a newly developed pesticide.

Dean Glenn W. Hardy

College Studies America's Business

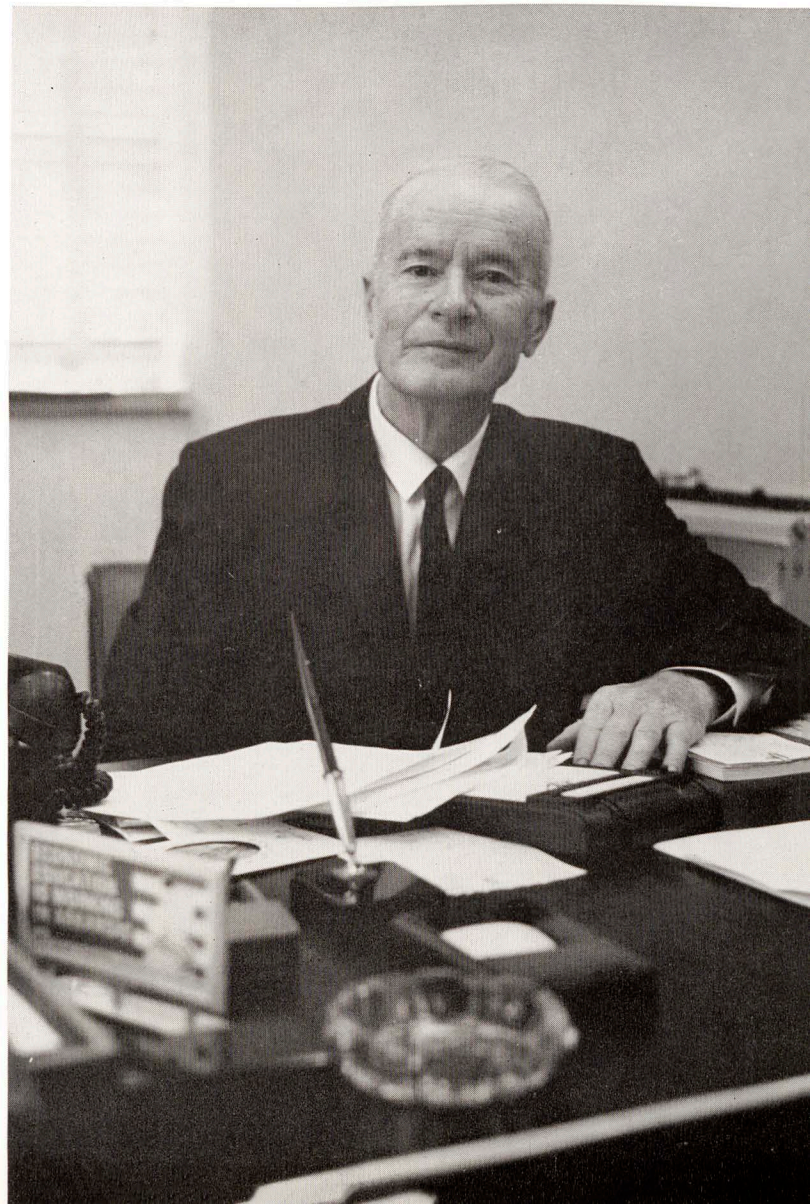

Much of the study for a place in the world of high finance now centers around machines at the University's computer center.

Paul W. Milam is dean of the College of Business Administration, which is the second largest college at the University.

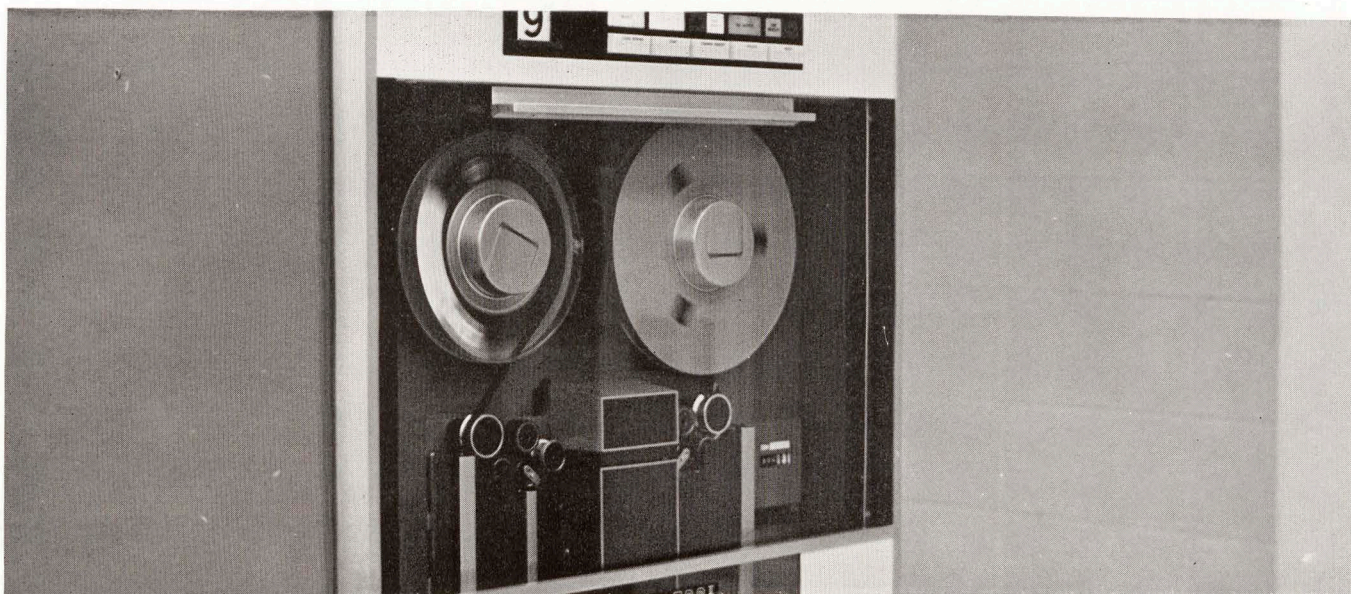

The purpose of the BA college is to educate students for positions of leadership and responsibility in private business, government service and non-business organizations. It offers specialized courses in several fields of business, including accounting, finance, taxation, management, marketing, transportation, labor and education. Also incorporated in BA are two research bureaus and the Department of Economics which operates under the general rules of the College of Arts and Sciences.

The Bureau of Business and Economic Research, whose facilities are available to faculty and graduate students, seeks to discover methods of increasing the incomes of the people of Arkansas and improve the teaching effectiveness of the College. The Industrial Research and Extension Center, established in 1955, serves as the educational and fact-finding arm of the College.

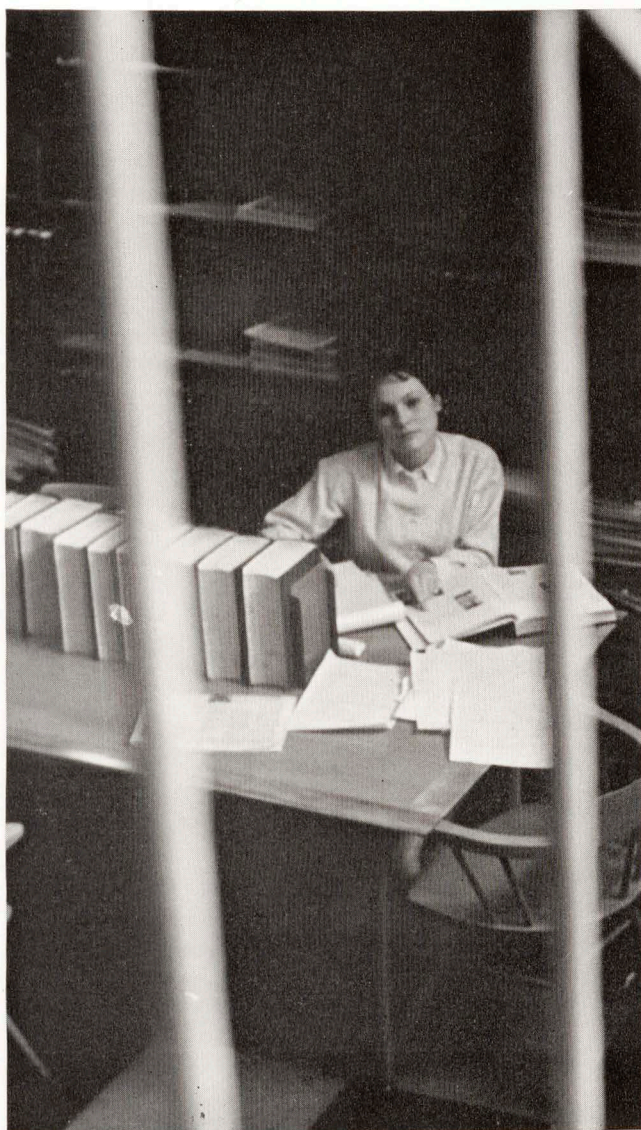

The library of the College is part of the general University Library and is housed in the Library Building. The collection comprises approximately 21,000 volumes on economics and business. Careful selection of publications purchased has made this library one of the most useful in this region in the fields of economics and business.

Dean Paul W. Milam

Signs saying 'Think' are scattered liberally around the IBM computers which run the University. Somehow, the machines never think.

A full time staff man's the computer center besides the many business students who are required to complete this course.

Occasionally, BA students branch out and take a course in Arts and Sciences where the mechanical mind is at a loss.

The ultimate purpose of the College of Education is the teaching of this little girl and the millions like her across the nation.

Rapt faces of children stare up at a student teacher as she reads a story—a bona fide attention getter for grade school.

Symbolic, in a way, of the goal of the College's graduates is the hand pointing out the way to the classroom full of students.

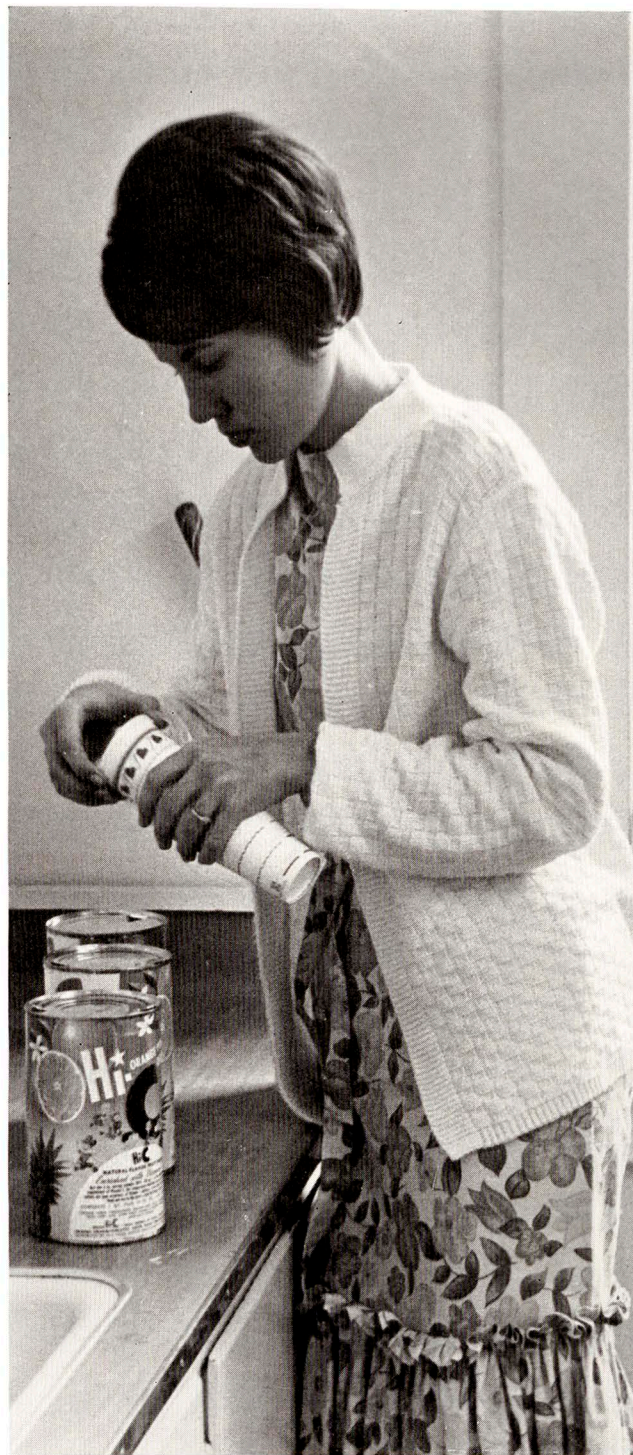

Education Trains Nation's Teachers

The College of Education prepares students for professional service in the fields of teaching, counseling, supervision and school administration. The college also strives to improve education in general by providing consultative services, by engaging in educational research, by encouraging young persons to enter the teaching profession and by maintaining a Teacher Placement Bureau.

A Committee on Teacher Education, composed of representatives from the Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics, Arts and Sciences, BA and Education, continually studies the total program of teacher education and makes recommendations for its improvement.

By meeting specific requirements of the College of Education, education majors and students from other colleges on campus may participate in the student teaching program. The University Elementary School in Peabody Hall provides facilities on the elementary level. Students in the secondary field are sent to schools in Fayetteville and surrounding areas.

Henry H. Kronenberg is dean of the College of Education. Under his direction, the college's program has been approved by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education.

An elementary teacher has to be a little of everything — mother, confidant and entertainer — even an orange juice dispenser.

Dean Henry W. Kronenberg

Engineers Sought In Many Fields

Engineering students study harder than most UA students, but they were responsible for introducing 'frisby' to the campus.

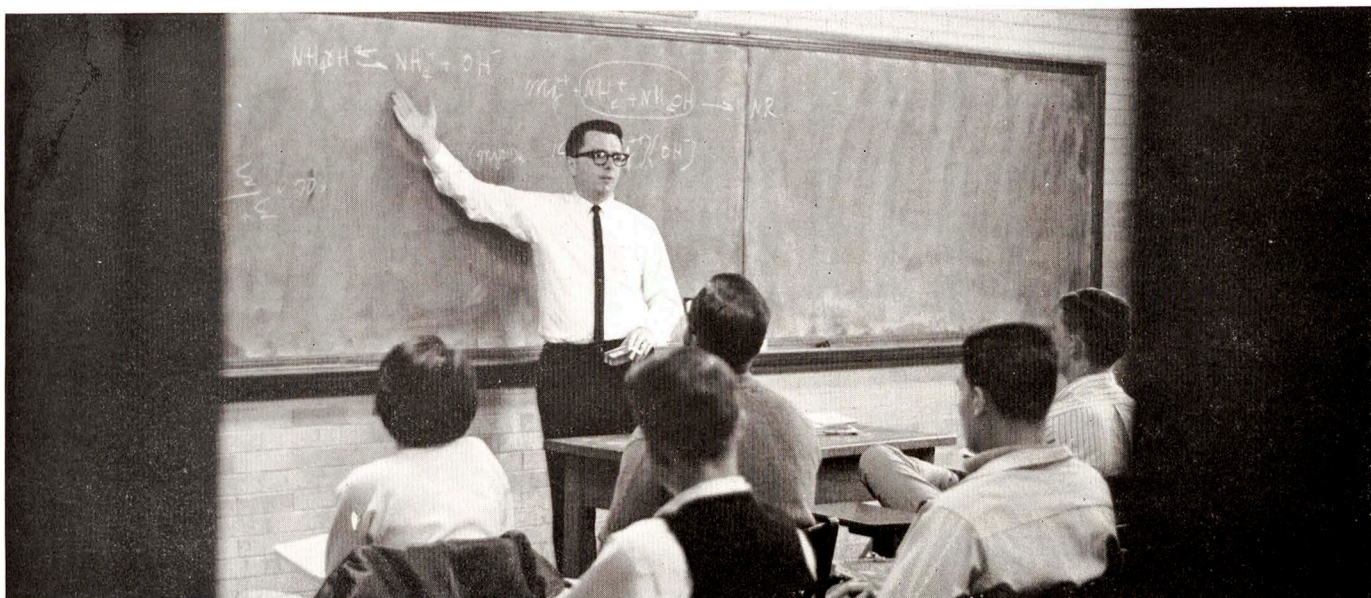

The College of Engineering's principal aim is to train students in the basic and specialized concepts of engineering. A second, but equally important, objective is to prepare its students to meet the engineering profession's demands for persons of high moral standards and ethics who are outstanding in citizenship and leadership.

Engineering education at the University dates back to 1873, just two years after the founding of the UofA. The first degrees were given in civil engineering in 1888, but a separate department was not established until 1897. A department of electrical engineering was founded that year, and a department of mechanical engineering was added in 1903. A course in mining engineering was begun in 1880 but dropped in 1886 due to lack of demand. Chemical engineering was first offered in 1903 through the chemistry department of Arts and Sciences. This division became a part of the College of Engineering in 1945.

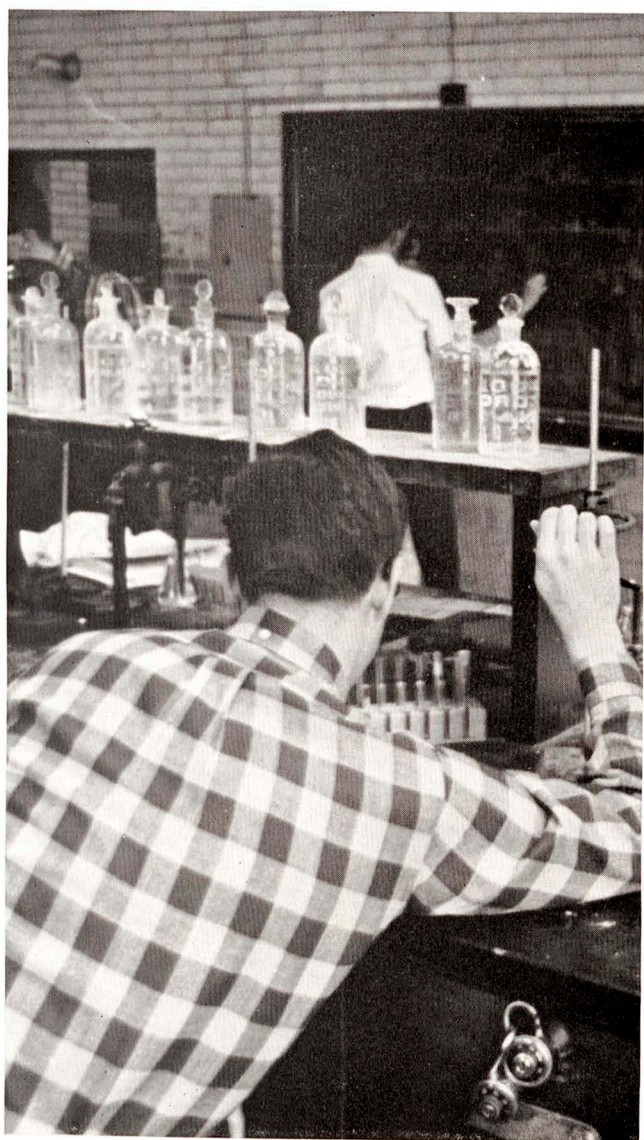

The first dean of the College of Engineering was William N. Gladson, who served in this capacity from 1913 to 1936. George F. Branigan, who is presently dean, was appointed in 1948.

Dean George F. Branigan

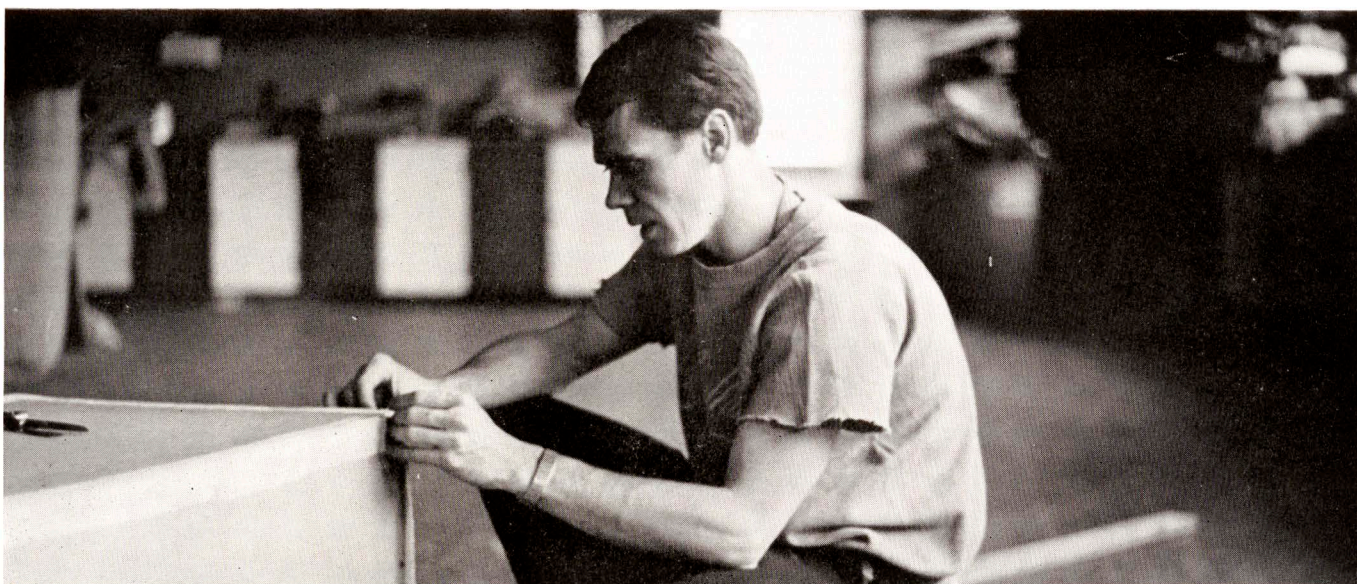

An Engineer's life begins with the simplest formulas and progresses into the most difficult and complex formulas known to man.

Much of a chemical engineer's life is spent in the laboratory gaining knowledge through the actual experimenting with reactions.

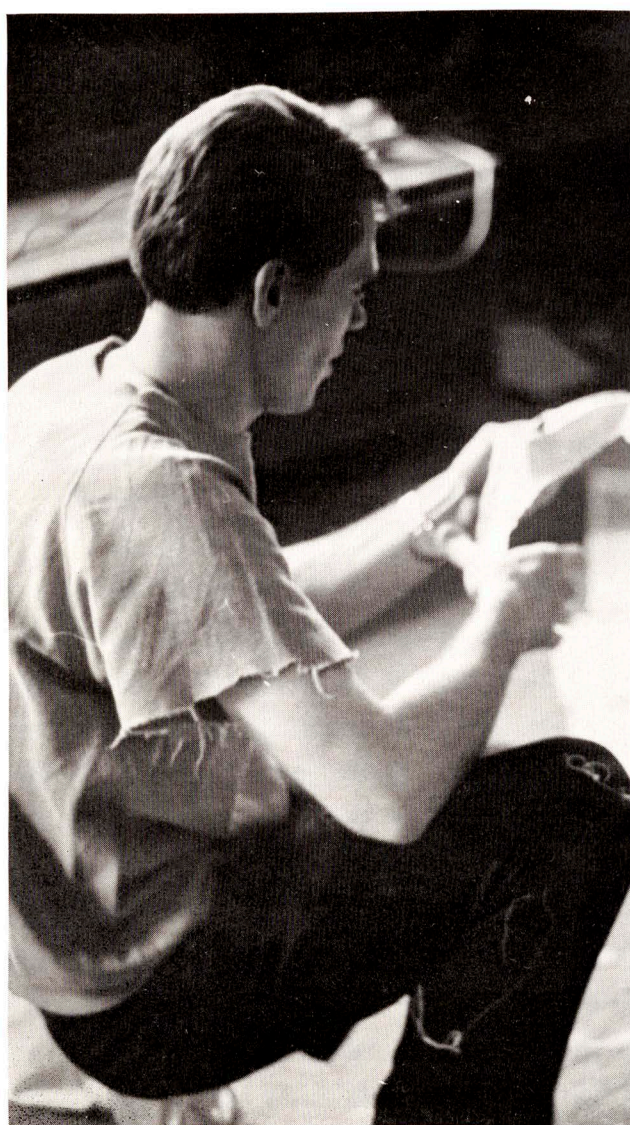

A world of bottles, formulas and test tubes form the world that is the College of Engineering at the University of Arkansas.

A graduate student is a peculiar thing at the University. In reality a part, he is, nevertheless, apart from the community.

Rip Ellis works on a set for the Fine Arts Theatre Production of "Beckett" as part of his work in the Graduate School.

Even that which looks simple to the average eye is part of Rip's course of study leading to a masters in Speech and Drama.

Graduate School Growing Steadily

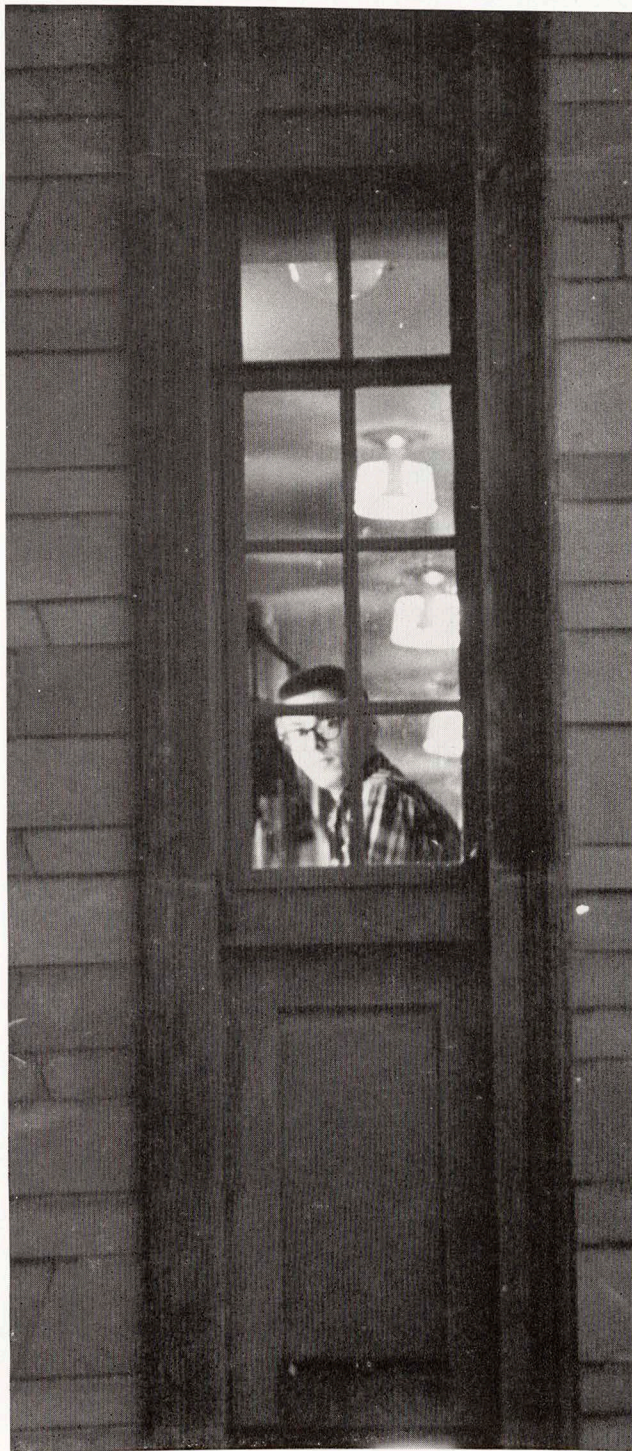

The Graduate School was organized under provisions of the Federal Land-Grant Act and instituted by the General Assembly of Arkansas March 27, 1871. The first students were enrolled in January, 1872.

Virgil W. Adkisson is dean of the graduate school. He also serves as chairman of the University Committee on Research Facilities and as Research Coordinator.

Though the main center for the school is on the Fayetteville campus, the school has centers at Little Rock and Fort Smith, which offer limited credit through the facilities of three Arkansas colleges.

The University of Arkansas is one of the sponsoring institutions of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies. Through this association, staff members may study and do research work at Oak Ridge. The National Defense Education Act program and the National Science Foundation program are two other fellowship programs in which graduate students may participate.

Masters's degrees which may be conferred are: Master of Arts, Master of Science, Master of Fine Arts, Master of Music, Master of Business Administration and Master of Education. Seventeen advanced degrees are also offered, including a Doctor of Education and a Doctor of Philosophy.

The library stacks are a second home to most graduate students engaged in writing theses and in preparing bibliographies.

Dean Virgil W. Adkisson

Law's Mock Trials Interest Many

A typical scene in the law building is huge casebooks piled on the steps while students take a coffee break in the lounge.

The primary objective of the School of Law is to provide a thorough preparation for the practice of law and to prepare the student either to practice in common law jurisdictions or to seek employment in government or private business.

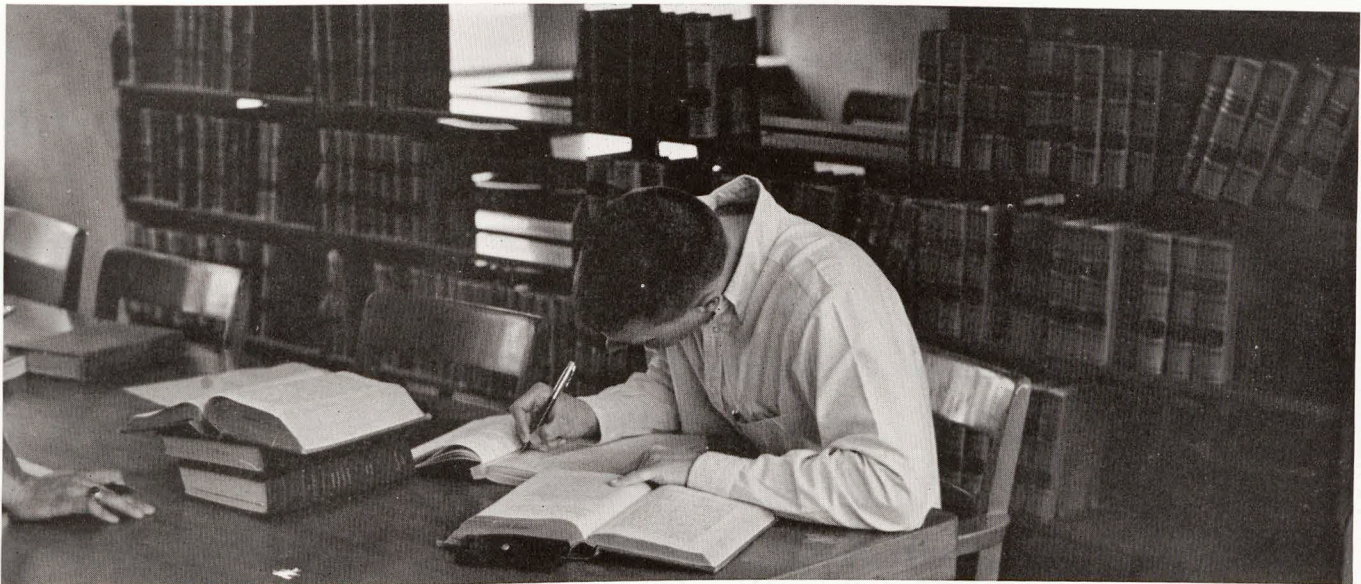

Ralph C. Barnhart, dean of the Law School, works with the Arkansas Bar Association in a program of continuing legal education to keep practicing lawyers abreast on new developments in law.

One of the most interesting aspects of the Law School, for the whole campus, is the mock court cases. All law students are required to complete assignments in the preparation of appellate briefs and in oral argument of appellate cases. A practice court for third-year students is conducted so that experience may be obtained in the trial of jury cases. The various stages of a trial are demonstrated, with students participating under the guidance of an instructor.

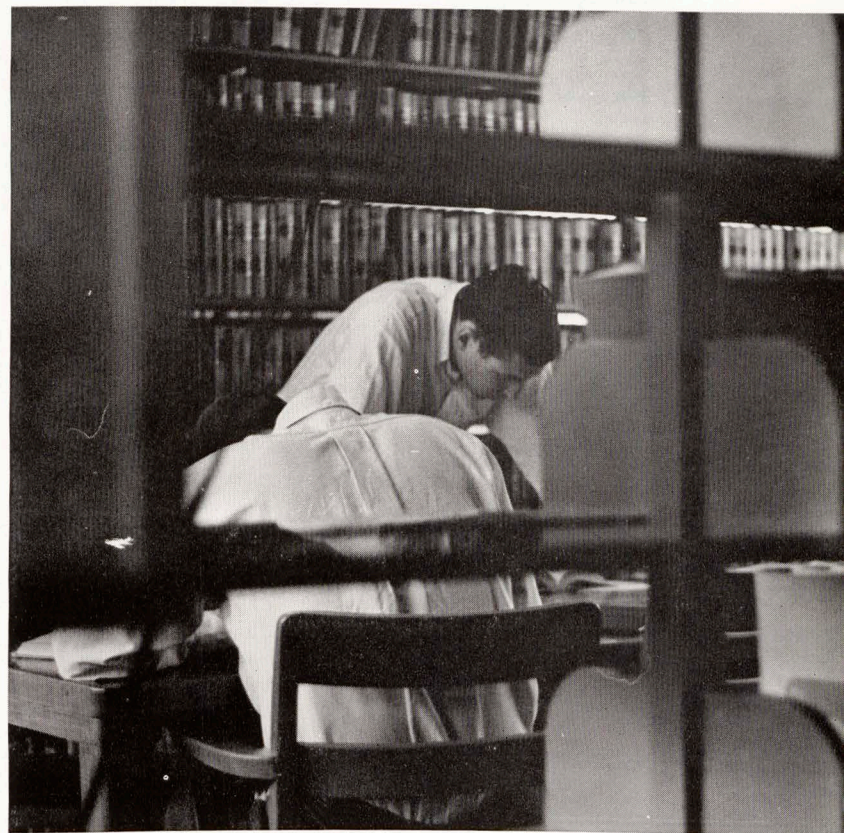

The Law School was established in the fall of 1924; in 1953 a new law school building, Waterman Hall, was finished.

Dean Ralph C. Barnhart

Pouring over casebooks, UofA law students discover not only the points of law but the changes in trends of interpretation.

Each case usually contains from twenty to fifty citations of similar cases which helped in the decision—law is verbose.

Stack after stack of books, filled with judicial thought from the very first, line the law library for the eager student.

The University Medical Center, a multi-million dollar complex, in Little Rock is one of the newest and best equipped of its kind in America.

Medical Center Leads In Research

The University Medical Center is made up of the Schools of Medicine, Nursing and Pharmacy. Located in Little Rock, it is noted for the excellent facilities and personnel. It is regarded as one of the most modern institutions of its kind in the nation. The T. H. Barton Institute for Medical Research houses an extensive research program at the Center.

Since the School of Medicine is affiliated with the Veterans Administration Hospitals in Little Rock and North Little Rock, under a nationwide program, beds in those hospitals are utilized for teaching purposes. The Hospital and outpatient clinic provide examinations and treatment for thousands of patients each year. Classroom instruction is supplemented by actual experience with patients who come to the Center.

The School of Medical Technology and the School of X-Ray Technology are administered within the framework of the School of Medicine.

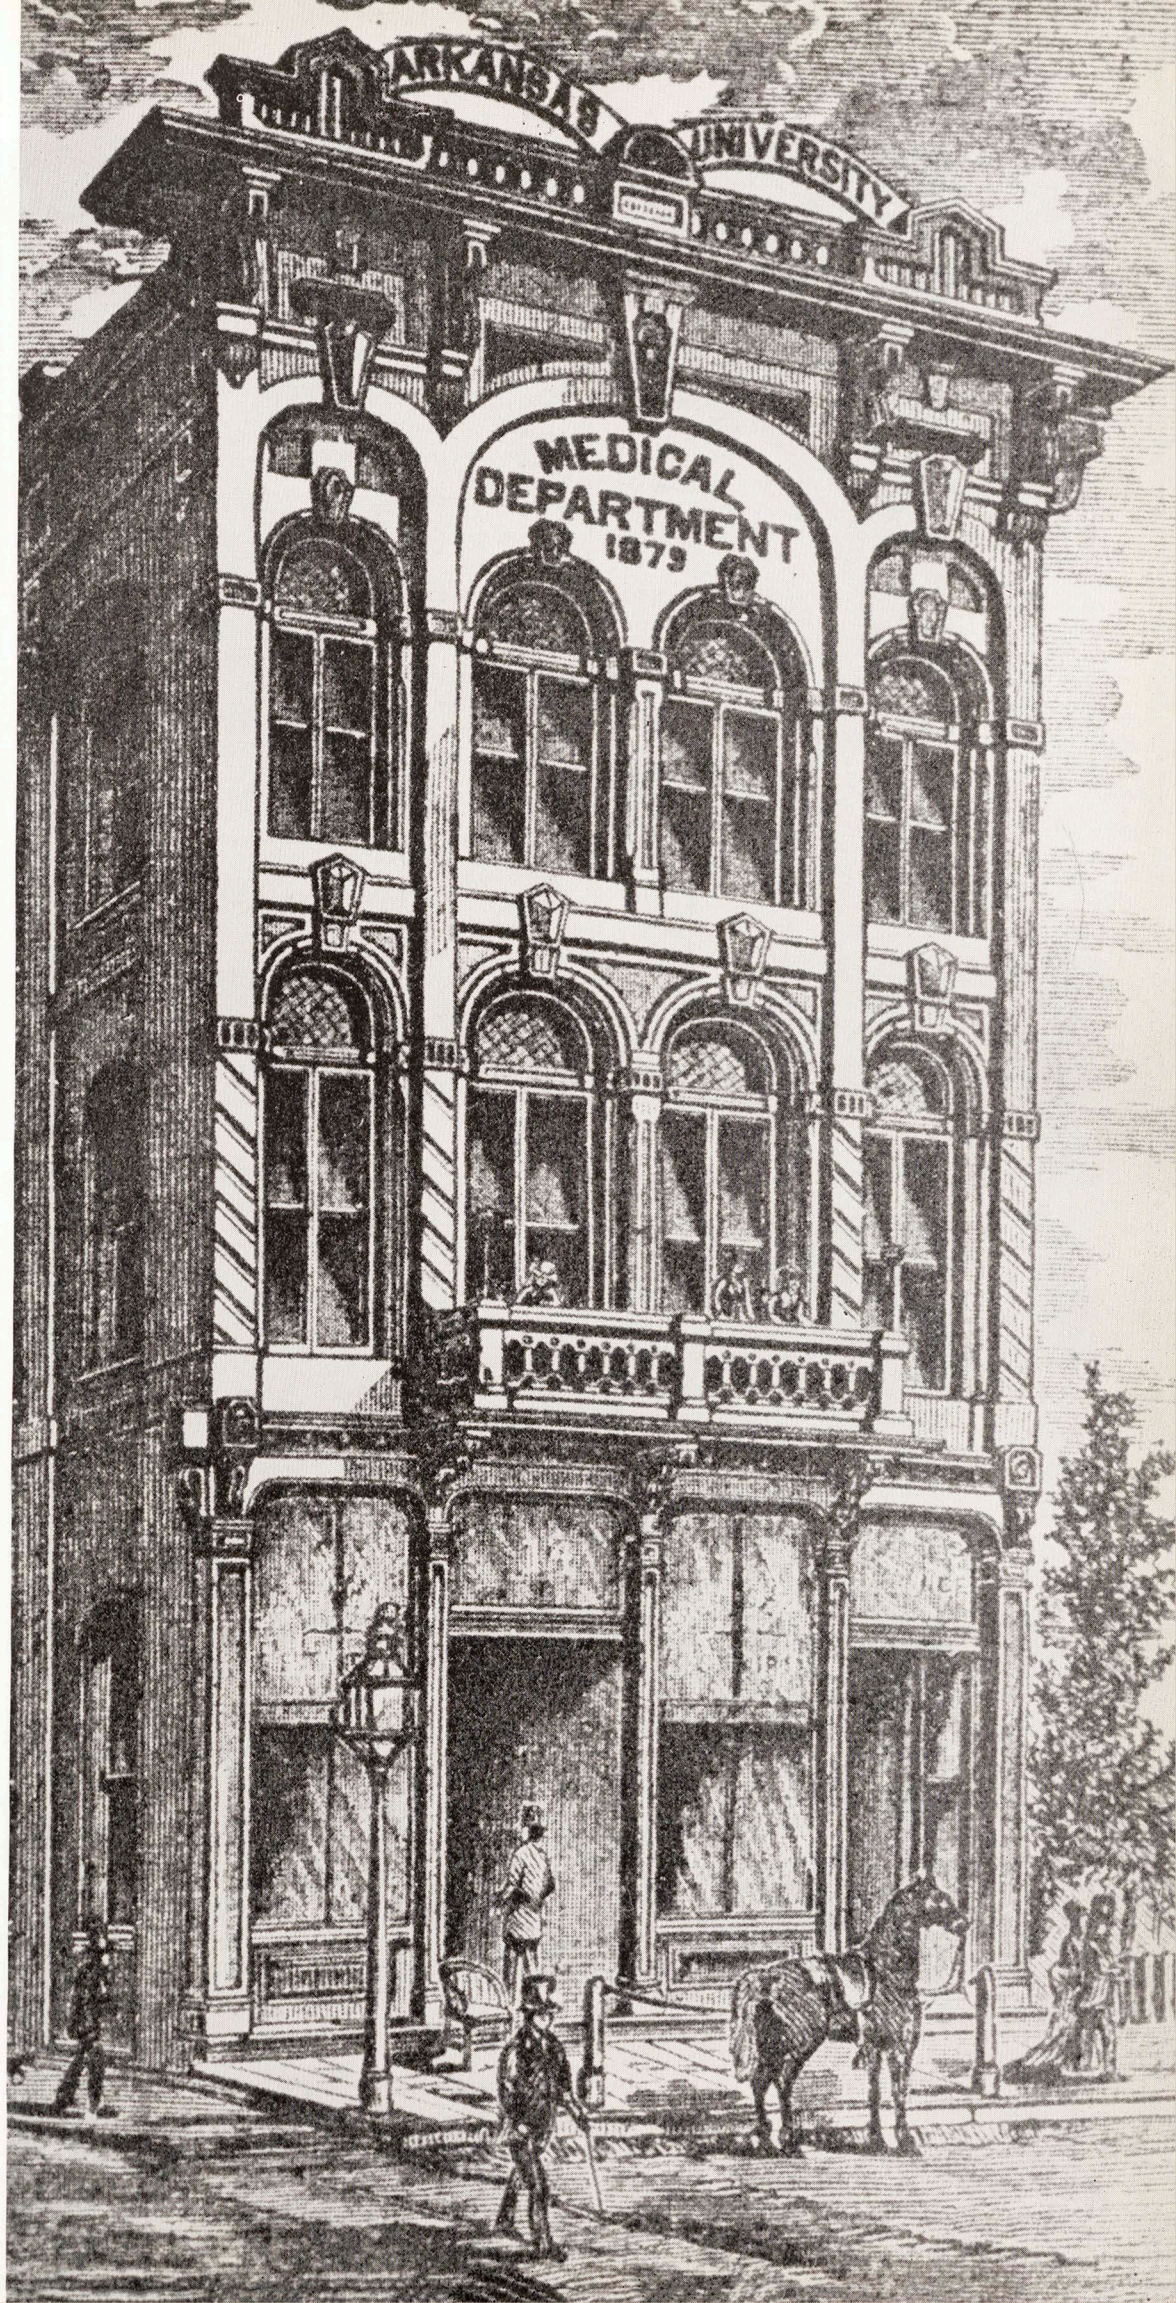

Dr. Winston K. Shorey is the Dean of Medicine.

The Center is a completely modern complex housing three schools.

The Med Center had modest beginnings but developed slowly into an institution of high distinction.

All Aspects Of Medicine Taught

Dean Eloris Field

The School of Pharmacy was established in the fall of 1951. Stanley G. Mittelstaedt is the dean. The school is concerned primarily with training students in areas dealing with the supplying, assembling and preparing the medicinals used for the prevention, cure and control of disease. The scope of training is broad, so as to prepare students to become leaders in the public health professions.

The School of Nursing is directed by Miss Eloris Field, Dean of Nursing. It was established to help meet the pressing demand for skilled nurses and to fill a long-standing need in Arkansas for an educational program combining college-level instruction in academic subjects with professional education for nurses.

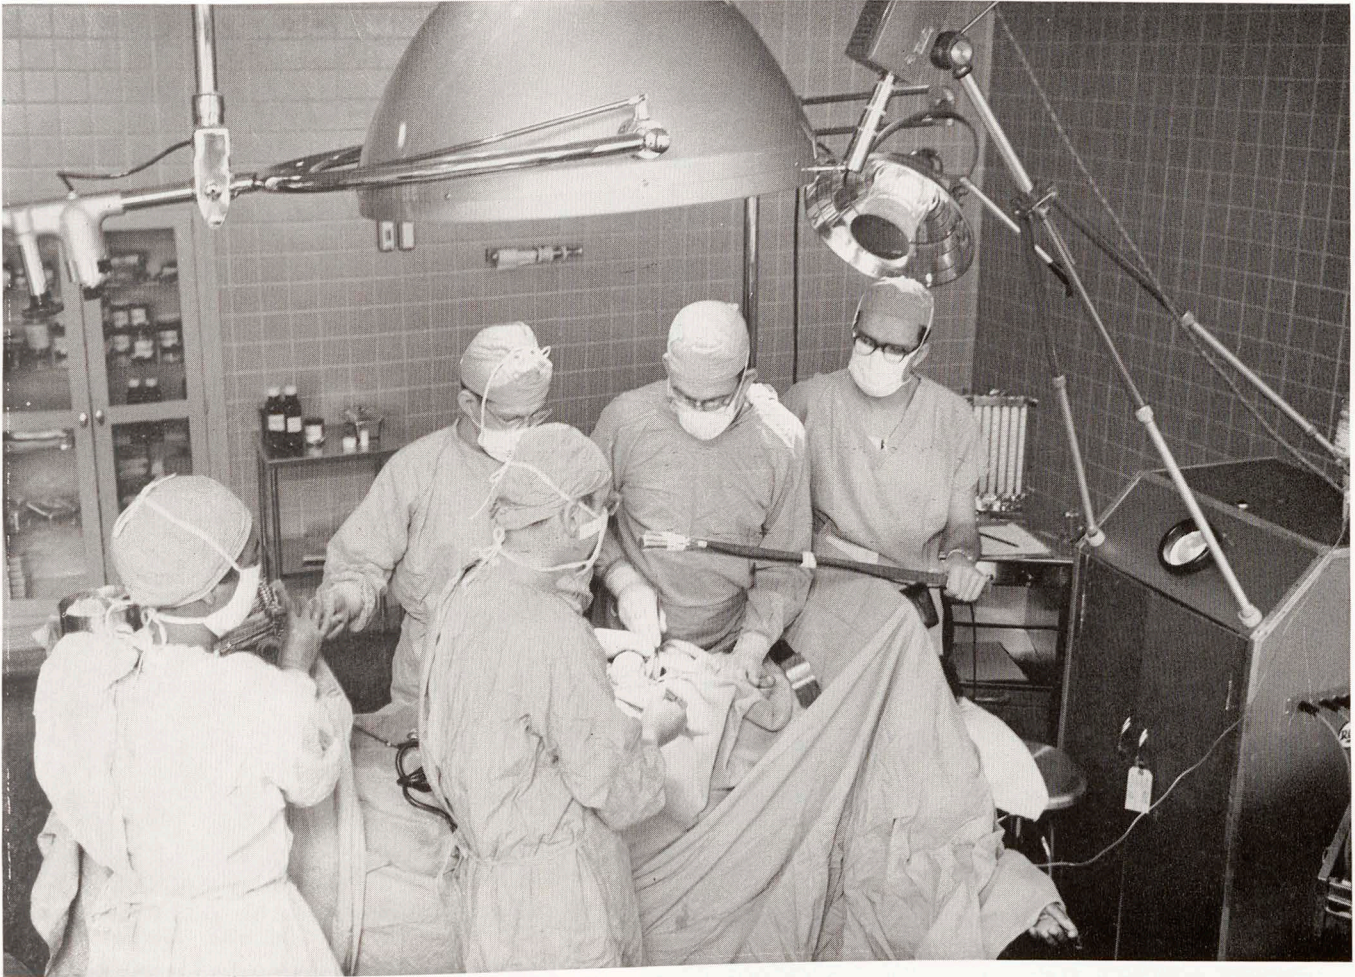

This year the school of Nursing on the Fayetteville campus was discontinued. Now a nursing student enrolls in Arts and Sciences at Fayetteville for two years, then transfers to the School at Little Rock for the second two years. The training at the Medical Center is concentrated in the areas of clinical and other practice fields.

Students of all kinds and with every sort of problem wander into the division office seeking restitution or a solution.

Pat Brown is the real workhorse of the division. She acts as confidant, advisor and secretary for all students.

Division Office Oversees Students

Dean Jacqueline Sterner

The Division of Student Affairs, under the supervision of the Dean of Students, is responsible for various student activities. It is composed of the Dean of Students, the Dean of Women, the Dean of Men and the Coordinator of Student Aid.

The main function of the personnel is to co-ordinate the activities of the students with the activities of the University as a whole. The Division includes the Student Counseling Service, Infirmary, Food Services, Student Union, Book Store, Placement Office, financial aid and part-time employment services. Along with these duties, it has the responsibility of working with all student organizations in terms of student welfare, morale and discipline.

Student government, in its many phases, works directly with the Division of Student Affairs. These aspects are, in the main, the Student Senate, Associated Students, Inter-Fraternity Council, Panhellenic Council, Men's Interhall Council, Women's Interhall Council and Off Campus Women and Men.

Four secretaries in the Division, Miss Alford, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Swearingen and Mrs. Doughty, keep things running smoothly for both the Deans and the students.

Division Coordinates Many Services

Dr. D. Whitney Halladay, Dean of Students, graduated from Pomona College and received his Ed. D. degree from Columbia University. He came to the UofA from the University of Florida in 1956. He is active in the Fayetteville Army Reserve of which he is a Lt. Colonel.

Dr. Jacqueline Sterner, Dean of Women, directs and coordinates all phases of the co-ed campus activity. She received her B.A. and M.S. from Indiana University and her Ph.D. from Ohio State University. She came to the UofA from Texas Tech, where she was Assistant Dean of Women.

Col. Ralph T. Simpson acts on all requests for financial aid.

Miss Grace Vineyard, Assistant Dean of Women, works with all phases of the women's program, but concentrates mainly on freshmen. George Yourick, Dean of Men, plans and implements a social-educational program designed to supplement the classroom experiences of men students. Dean Yourick came to the University from the University of California at Berkeley. His degrees are from the University of New Mexico. Frank C. Michel, Assistant Dean of Men, has the responsibility of the fraternity program and the foreign student program. His secondary responsibilities pertain to general counseling and advising of students, collectively and individually. Dean Michel received his degree from Washington State University.

Elaborate experiments lead the way in research in many fields at the UofA's Graduate Institute of Technology in Little Rock.

Computers and other kinds of machines do some of the work at the GIT, but the most work still remains in the individual mind.

GIT Provides Advanced Research

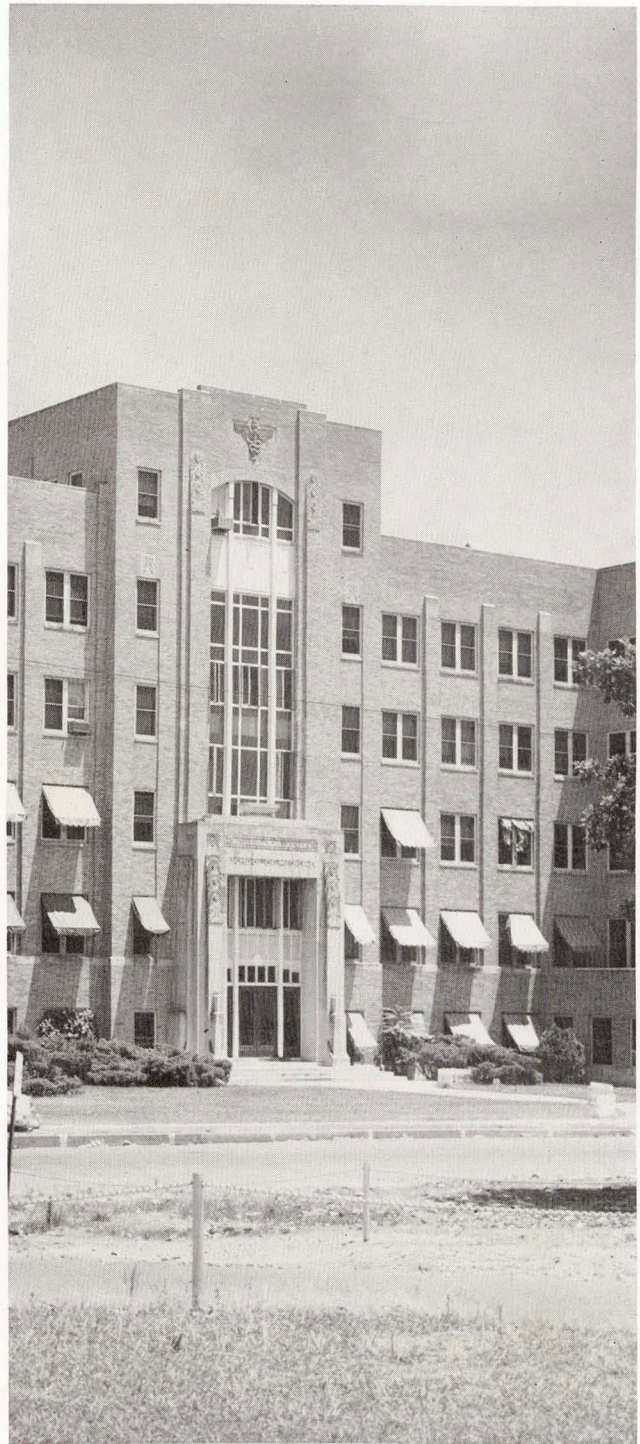

The University of Arkansas has established the Graduate Institute of Technology as part of its educational facilities. Well equipped laboratories are available at the Institute center in Little Rock.

The overall objectives of the GIT are, first, to provide an opportunity for graduates in science and engineering, including those currently employed, to continue their studies to be able to qualify for advanced degrees in the fields of science and technology, and, second, to engage in advanced research so as to expand the field of scientific knowledge.

These objectives supplement each other in that research must be a part of the graduate training of scientists and engineers, and graduate students or other technical assistants are essential to effective research.

The research program is designed to supplement the academic program by providing practical operating experience for students. Several research projects are related to space exploration and instrument application of lasers. Other research is health-related; and another project concerns the development of new and improved techniques for determining water quality.

William B. Stiles is the Director of the GIT.

The GIT, being a young school, is housed in the old Med Center building in Little Rock but maintains well-equipped labs.

Complex research is conducted to give students an opportunity to continue their advanced study.

'Royal Gambit' Opens Play Year

King Henry VIII, as played by Parker Rushing, exemplified the modern man as he gave vent to all his desires and ideas.

Henry and his first wife Katarina of Aragon, played by Norma Jean Wood, fought continually over Henry's desire for others.

The first play of the year was "Royal Gambit," by Hermann Gressieker, produced by the University Theater group under the direction of George Kernodle. The play was an adaptation of King Henry VIII's life with, or more frequently without, his six wives. King Henry, in his English abode, was the "symbol of the modern age" as he gave vent to ideas that would find their maturation in centuries to come. Each of Henry's wives represented different stages in his development. However, more overtly, they merely fit his momentary whims. He reached self realization after the death of his last wife, Kate Parr.

Parker Rushing, who played King Henry VIII, was the sole member of the National Collegiate Players. His performance was dynamic, captivating his audience with his bold and articulate manner.

The simple and uncluttered setting contributed to the full appreciation of the production. The artistic lighting took the place of much of the scenery. The costumes were typically 16th century. Nancy Haynes was in charge of the costuming for this play as well as for all following plays. Similarly, Preston Magruder managed the settings and lighting in various productions throughout the year.

"Royal Gambit," as well as the succeeding plays, owed its success to the combination of faculty and student talents in the drama.

'Stop The World' Packs Theatre

The English play, "Stop The World I Want To Get Off," was brought to America by Leslie Bricusse and Anthony Newley. The University of Arkansas theatre produced it this fall under the direction of Norman DeMarco.

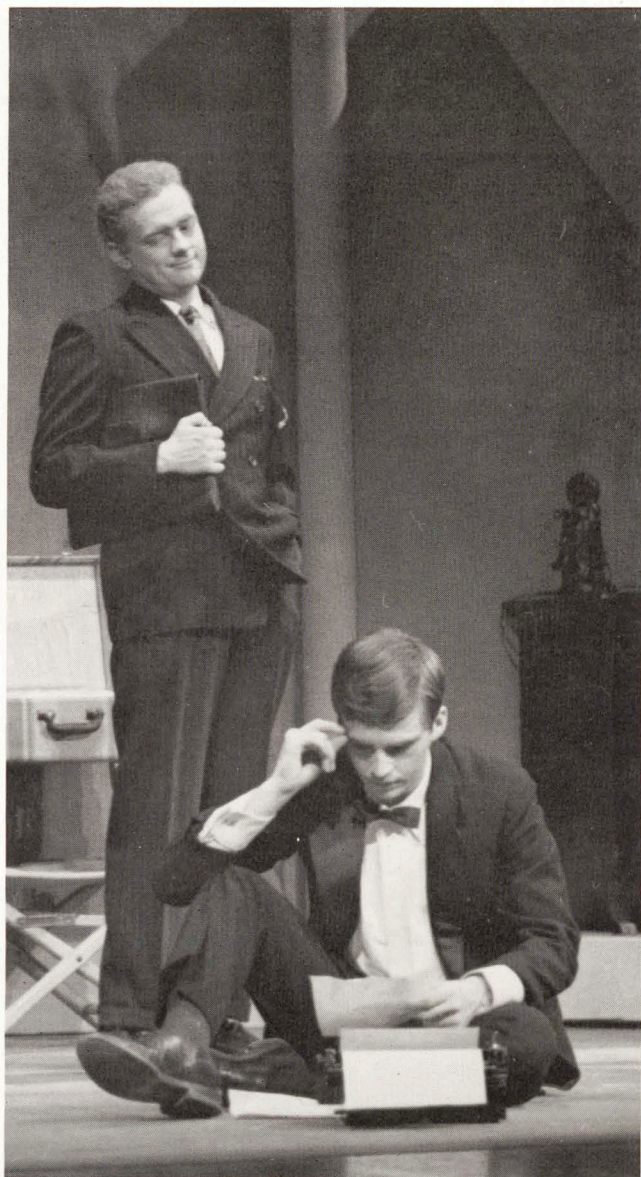

Probably the most memorable aspect of the play was the songs now popular on the American scene such as: "What Kind of Fool Am I?", "Someone Nice Like You", and "Once In a Lifetime". The orchestration and lyrics were under the direction of James Field and Kenneth Ballenger, respectively. Not only did the audience fall in love with Littlechap's songs, but became enchanted with his priceless gestures and facial expressions. One could almost compare him to Marcel Marceau, the French mime. Littlechap, a middle class Englishman who climbs to the top rung of the social ladder during the evolution of his life, is extraordinarily portrayed by Rip Ellis and Ray Boudreaux. Evie (Sheryl Bryant and Mary Hendly), Littlechap's wife, takes on all kinds of personalities in her husband's mind.

The setting was simple in nature and easily arranged. The advantage of this type was in leaving the audience's attention completely on the characters. The play was given continuity and unity by the chorus. It was to Terry Worthy's choreography, the play owes a large part of its success. For, as one can remember, it was the enjoyable mime that endeared the audience to Littlechap.

Ray Boudreaux resembles the great Marcelle Marceau in his portrayal of the enchanting Littlechap in a moment of anguish.

'Disenchanted' Shows Author's Fall

Gene Mackey ponders over a script for a cheap Hollywood production in his role as Shep Stearns in "The Disenchanted".

The Disenchanted, written by Budd Schulberg and Harvey Breit, was directed this winter by Robert Bonnard. It was based on the tragic last days of the 20th century American author, F. Scott Fitzgerald. In the play Fitzgerald was portrayed in the character of Manley Halliday. The audience followed Halliday through a week of agony in which he attempted to write some cheap scripts for a Hollywood producer in order to make enough money to allow him to finish his great novel. Because of the fact he obtained many ideas for his works by nursing old memories, a great many flashbacks were employed. The producer, and his kind, epitomized the dangerous industrialization of the arts. In other words, he exemplified the tendency of modern man for creating inhumanity. Stearns, while continuing to worship Halliday, watched his idol gradually destroy himself.

The flashback technique used, brought reminiscences into the mind of Manley, many of which were obsessions with his wife which brought him only frustrations. The flashback was the main scenic device in the play, bringing insight into the decreasingly productive life of Manley Halliday. For, "After a while you don't count the years, you count the number of your disenchantments".

Norma Jean Wood, as Mona, puts a convincing touch on the role of a Hollywood party-goer during the great hey-day of stars.

Plays directed by Dr. Kernodle have always been known for their elaborate sets and costumes, reminiscent of the English and French stage.

'Rivals' Features Elaborate Sets

"The Rivals", a delightful play, was under the direction of nationally known and respected Dr. George Kernodle. The production was a spoof in the old 18th century happily-ever-after style with an ingenious laugh-filled dialogue highlighted by the performance of Norma Jean Wood as Mrs. Malaprop.

Perhaps the most successful aspect of the production was that of the comical manner in which the characters were brought to life in a particularly Kernodle style. One can easily see an example of this in the roles of Captain Jack Absolute and his father. Contrary to a great many productions in which just one or two of the characters carry-off the play, each of the performers had his own individuality that created the favorable response of the audience.

In addition to the fine acting, the production was fast moving as a result of the changing of scenes before the audience's eyes. All in all, the performance was a welcomed success due to the hard work of the several members of the National Collegiate Players along with the other up-and-coming members of the production.

Characters

SIR ANTHONY ABSOLUTE	Ralph Clift
CAPTAIN JACK ABSOLUTE	Gene Mackey

All Sheridan's characters carry names revealing their personality: Lydia Languish (Sheryl Bryant), Captain Jack Absolute (Gene Mackey), Mrs. Malaprop (Norma Jean Wood) and Sir Anthony Absolute (Ralph Clift). Hand movements and facial expressions were rampant.

Theatre Presents Opera—'Carmen'

The gaily costumed players gave little hint to the high tragedy involved in "Carmen".

'A cast of thousands', made up of many of the Uarkettes, sang brilliantly to the music provided by the University music department.

Georges Bizet's "Carmen" was produced this spring under the direction of Kenneth Ballenger and Norman DeMarco. Contributing to the success of the Opera was the University-Fayetteville Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Marx Pales.

This well-known and loved tragedy was performed with such feeling as to touch the hearts of all the audience. Both Susan Garner and Judy Safley did an excellent job in portraying the saucy, coquettish Carmen. Similarly, the tragic heart-broken figure of Don José was well dramatized by Jim Davis and Ray Boudreaux.

One aspect of the production that particularly struck the viewers as having created the romantic and exciting atmosphere was that of the colorful and imaginative settings. The bold costumes of the soldiers and gypsies in the street scenes, the gay air of the tavern and the deep blue sky of the smugglers' camp in the mountains contributed to the intrigue of the opera. The infinite variety of artistic means of creating the mood as well as the plot, in the form of dancing and singing, left little room for lag in the interest of the audience. The performers proved themselves adaptable to the many talents imperative to a production of this sort.

'Becket' Closes Year On High Note

Martha Shields casts a mean look at Ed Brown in rehearsal for her role as the Queen Mother in the DeMarco-directed production.

Jean Anouilh's "Becket", directed by Norman DeMarco, ended the theatre year at the University on a high note. This presentation was one of the finest offered in Arkansas for many years. The play is recognized for its great dialogue, and an all-star cast translated this dialogue into a moving performance.

The powerful love of King Henry II for Becket is the theme of the play. But it is the incapability of Becket to return that love which induces the tragedy. Becket, played brilliantly by Gene Mackey, is known for most of this life as a free-living soul — that is, until he receives Henry's appointment as the Archbishop of Canterbury. Then, he finds his life completely changed and all his love going to God. Henry is left to mourn this loss of friendship. It is Ed Brown's portrayal of the complex, and yet simple, King Henry which highlights the play.

Simple, yet forceful and moving, sets enhance the acting abilities of the cast. Memorable roles were turned in by Rip Ellis as a cardinal to the Pope; the Pope, Jack Cohen; Martha Shields, the Queen Mother and Nonnie Wilson, Gwendolen.

Uarkettes Appear Across State

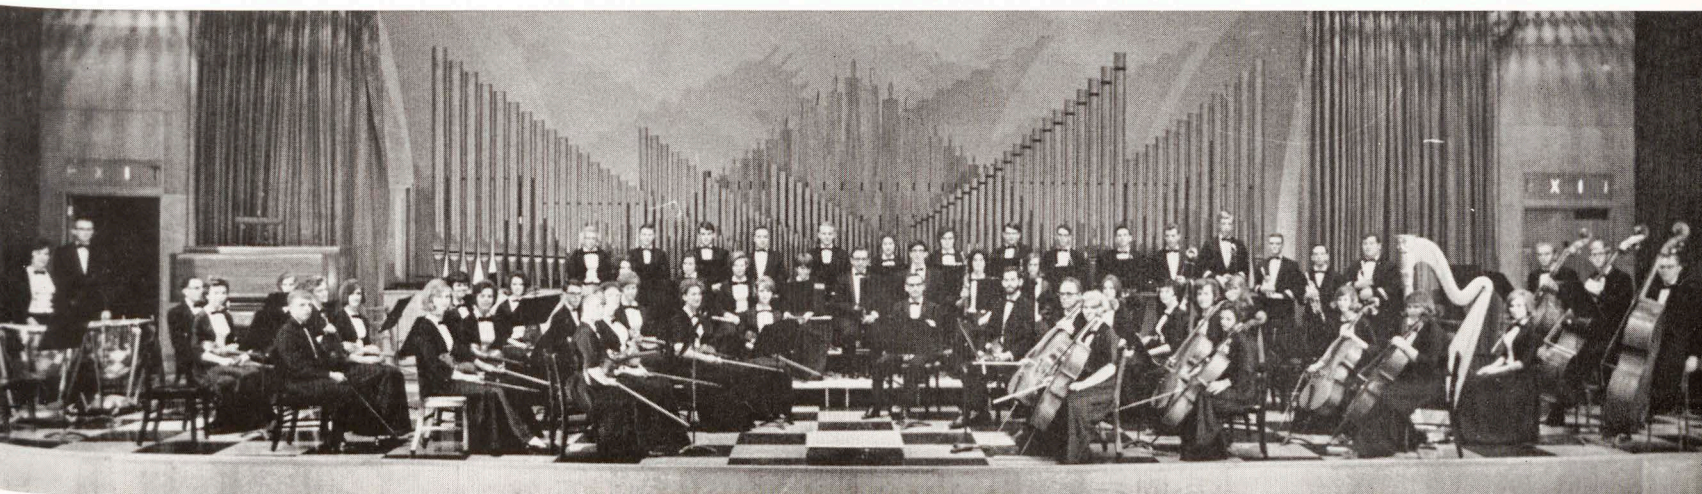

Dr. Kenneth Ballenger saw to it that there was never a dull moment for the Uarkettes this year. Most notably, they put out a record, Spotlight On The Uarkettes. They made appearances at numerous conventions, including the Farm Bureau Federation convention in Little Rock. They sang at the CEFOR Atomic installation dedication just outside of Fayetteville. They also appeared at the Barton Coliseum in Little Rock, the Town Club, in Fort Smith and the Texas Tech game. Finally, the opera "Carmen", produced this spring, was composed primarily of Uarkettes.

The Uarkettes have added to the national and international fame of University singing groups by going abroad in 1964 for the USO to tour American service installations. Their work is mainly in the light-opera and popular vein.

The Uarkettes pose for a formal picture before going out on a state-wide tour. The singing group raised money this year by cutting their own album of music.

The symphony provided the music for the Theatre Production of "Carmen" besides giving many concerts throughout the calendar year.

Symphony Presents 3 Concerts

The University-Fayetteville Symphony gave three concerts this year. They accompanied Grace Reginald in Ravel's "Scheherazade". They also, in coordination with the Dramatics department, helped put on the annual opera. This year's opera was the much loved "Carmen," by Georges Bizet. In May, the University orchestra presented their Concerto Aria. Concluding the group's activities will be a final concert in the summer.

The symphony draws its members from the University community, both faculty and students, and from the Fayetteville community. Throughout the years it has accompanied guest artists and has traveled across the state.

Marx Pales is the symphony's conductor.

Dean Dalton, a student at the UofA, plays as a member of the symphony along with residents in the Northwest Arkansas area.

Schola Set To Return To Europe

The University of Arkansas' Schola Cantorum had another busy and fruitful year under the direction of Richard Brothers. They performed for the Music Teachers' National Association in Oklahoma City and gave fifteen concerts around the state of Arkansas. The highlight of the year will be when Schola tours Europe again this summer, presenting the main concert in Aix-en-Provence, France. As all Schola members will agree, it will have been an energetic year.

Schola gained international recognition three years ago by winning the top prize at the Guido d'Arezzo International Polyphonic Competition in Italy.

Schola, which is better known in Europe than in America, received an invitation from Monte Carlo to participate in that city's year-long anniversary celebration along with such notables as Van Cliburn, Joan Southernland and Leonard Bernstein. This has been included in with their summer trip.

THE YEAR

In rush skit Acacias promised rushees "wine, women and song". If this is an example of the Acacia dream girl, how did they get any pledges? This skit, like others, is revived year after year.

Pledges were happy on bid day. However, all the joys of pledging were lessened when phone duty, study hall, and cleaning details were explained the next day. The excitement of bid day is remembered.

Tri-Delts take time out from busy rush schedule to impress a future pin prospect with tans.

Greeks' Finest Hour

Rush brought the Greeks back to campus first as usual. They were the first to see a changed campus bursting with new buildings. The rib structure of the new women's dorm, a new Kappa house, the swimming coliseum, a finished animal science center, a new AKL house, new sections and buildings for the stadium and an almost completed infirmary sprouted up on the campus.

Rush had also changed. Somehow, the men's edition just wasn't as exciting. The new summer rush program had taken away some of the glamour. However, most agreed it had been good for the small fraternities, and that was its purpose. Who got the best of rush? It was a very good year for a bumper crop of top-notch rushees.

One will never see a nicer, sweeter, kinder, lovelier, more gracious and more sisterly group of coeds than those who attend rush functions.

Rush: A Study In Anxiety

Something should be said about the eager, anxious Pi Phi method of greeting rushees . . . however, Tessie says it best.

Who says UA students are apathetic? Civil rights workers march on Washington; we march on the Union, crests held high.

Peace Corps service postpones military obligation for two years, a recruiter informed UA students. Students cheered.

"Well, Lambda Chi promised me dates with Pi Phi twice a week, complete test files, free beer and that SAE's aren't really cool."

Moments of solitude are rare treasures in the first hectic days of school. Especially when one finds a beautiful girl in a beautiful setting.

Moving In And

The horde of locusts returned to the Hill. Traffic was jammed for blocks around the freshmen dorms. Crying girls, crying parents hugged each other a last time.

For the old timers, there was still time to sit on the lawns and renew old acquaintances. But the dread of registration lurked around every corner, especially this year with the huge rise in enrollment. It was still the same old mass confusion, even with freshman pre-registration. Two good events could be looked forward to: apartment privileges for sophomore girls and the opening football game with Oklahoma State in Little Rock.

A bond of comradeship formed between two campus leaders breaks the isolation of great responsibilities.

Registration—Is It Worth It?

Registration is confusing even to the fifth year senior. But when instructors must check to see what course it is . . .

Razorback bandmen traveled to the first Little Rock game even without uniforms. It didn't hamper their spirit.

Fall Opens With Football

The first two weeks of school was a period of adjusting once more to college life. After the fair and registration, the only exciting events were the first game in Little Rock and the Tulsa game at home. Tulsa again made wild boasts of defeating the Hogs and again came close to doing it.

Blue Key, with the help of Mortar Board, Chimes and Cardinal XX conducted tours around the campus for high school seniors. Final enrollment figures were released and students found they had 9300 companions on the Fayetteville campus. Naturally, there wasn't space for all in any of the facilities. Off Campus Men's representation was questioned and hopes rose for another controversy this year.

Razorback Day again offered high school seniors a chance to tour the campus. The Razorback-Tulsa game was the real attraction and persuaded many to apply.

From Dances

World affairs dominated much of the thinking of Arkansas students the first part of October. China was invading India, the Viet Cong was stepping up activities in South Viet Nam and Rhonda Oglesby, the UofA's Miss Arkansas, resigned her post. All of these were extremely interesting to males on the campus since the draft quota went up to 35,000 a month. Deferments were as precious as the Hope Diamond.

Many mundane and normal events did take place. MIHC-WIHC sponsored a Casino Carnival, ideas on the responsible liberal were thrown out to the public, coffee houses sprung up in all the religious centers and the Student Union and President Mullins hosted the new faculty and staff.

Working behind the scenes can be just as demanding and as intense as appearing before the footlights.

One of the advantages of going to a large university is the quantity of events from which one can choose. A modern dance was a wise choice.

To Plays, To Snake Stakes

Columbus, Rhonda, Baylor

Was Columbus first? This trivial controversy was the highlight of the week prior to Texas Week. It was an item of passing interest to UofA students — at least we remembered that it was Columbus Day for the first time in years.

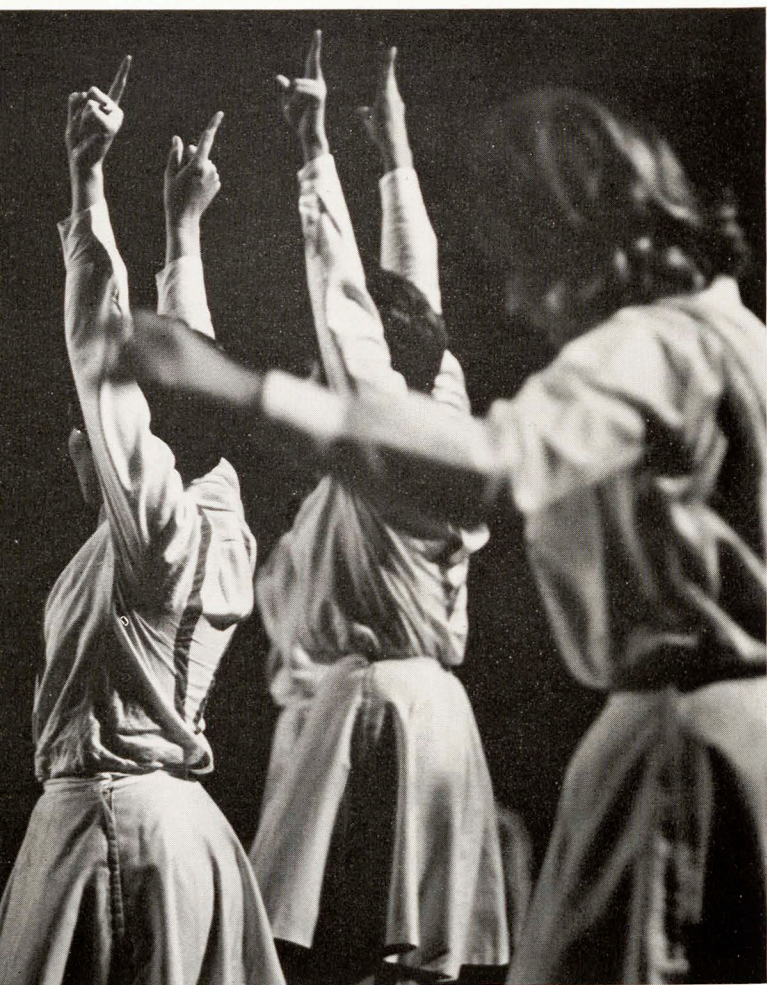

Blue Key and ODK named very few in the fall tapping sessions. Pi Phi and Chi O gained the title of 'jock girls' by winning the Sigma Nu Relays. Gubernatorial candidate Winthrop Rockefeller strengthened his ties with the University community with a visit to the YRC. Playing at the University Theatre was the second play of the year, "Royal Gambit". Rhonda Oglesby, the errant Miss Arkansas, was still missing. Arkansas was getting ready for the Baylor aerial barrage, hoping to protect their No. 3 rating. These were the headlines.

Cross Country teams at the UofA have long been excellent, as this first place finish shows. However, football season goes on at the same time.

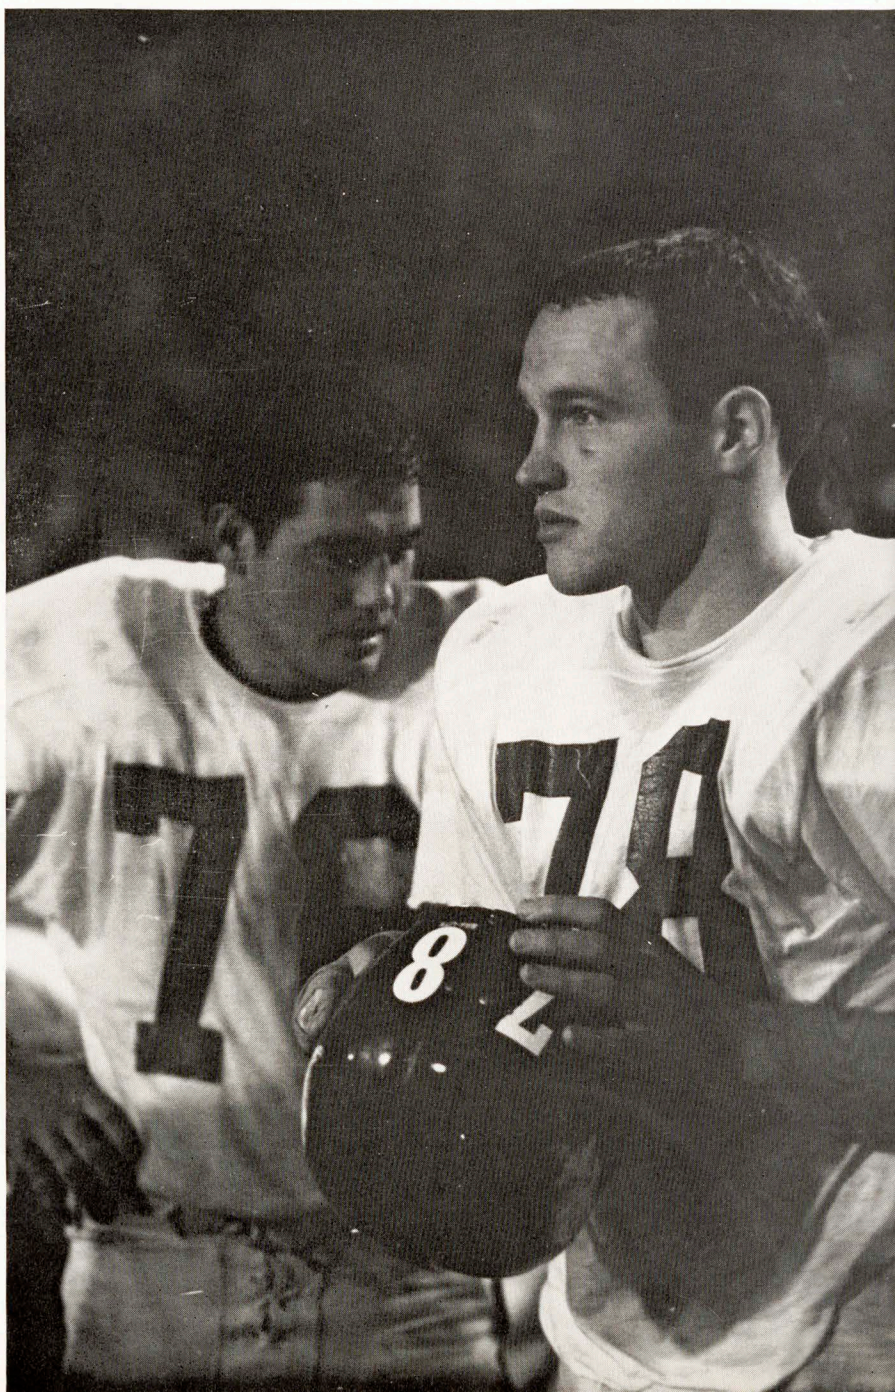

It Was A Good Night In Waco

The sign of Number 1 was perpetuated by the cheerleaders and students for twenty-two straight games, especially when one happened to be on Texas soil.

There was no rest for offensive linemen Glen Ray Hines (78) and Mike Bender at Waco. The defense continually stole the ball from Baylor and gave it to the offense.

Jim Williams hog-ties the Baylor quarterback in a scene oft-repeated. The entire defense swarmed through the line.

The jingle says 'Things go better with Coke', but it would be hard to convince the Baylor bear of that after the game.

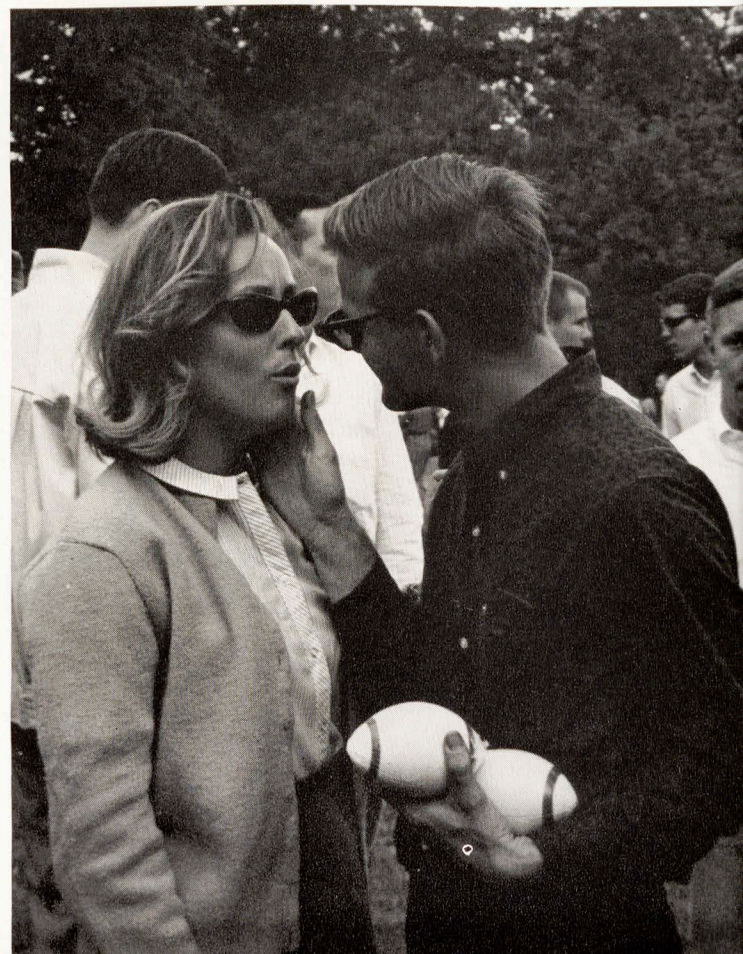

The helicopter hovered overhead, dangerously close to the tree tops on the front mall and to the towers of Old Main, dropping footballs.

Big 'Beat Texas'

The biggest, most exciting and most important week in the University's football history dawned during the middle of October. It was the Texas game with added attractions. Texas was ranked No. 1; Arkansas was ranked No. 3. Arkansas had the nation's longest winning streak with sixteen straight; Texas hadn't been beaten since the Hogs had done it the year before. And looking in on the game would be millions of people — NBC was televising the game nationally and in color. It was the SWC championship and the national championship all rolled into one.

The week was filled with pep rallies. Butterflies cavorted in everyone's stomach. This was all the marbles at one time, and the oddsmakers shocked everybody by making the Hogs a three-point favorite.

Missy Alford attempts to talk Bill Wooley out of a football dropped by the UFO. What is she offering?

Week Electrifies The Campus

Several thousand kicking, shoving students scrambled for the souvenir footballs raining down from the helicopter hovering overhead.

Impromptu and planned pep rallies took place all over the campus. Never has 'Whooo, Pig Soobie' been done with more meaning and volume.

Everything Magnified 100 Times

'Go, Hogs, Go' roared ten thousand button-down collared students continuously through two and a half hours of madness.

Silhouetted by the bonfire, two students and a confederate flag symbolize the spirit of 'Beat Texas' Week.

Five thousand attended the Friday night pep rally, yelled for two hours and marched behind the band to the bonfire.

Coach Broyles was a picture of confidence the week of the game. He really felt, for once, that Arkansas was better.

All of that confidence had been replaced by worried frenzy by the fourth quarter. Shirt-tail out and waving as usual, Broyles and the boys watched the field with nervous fear.

"To be No. 1 you have to beat No. 1 on national TV," Lindsey Nelson told a cheering crowd at the pep rally. We did, we were—for one week.

Madness, Pure Madness

If the week before the game was madness, the game and the events which followed it were pure madness. Songs had been composed, recorded and played depicting the heroics of "Quarterbackin' Man" Jon Brittenum and "Lighthorse Harry" Jones. The First Baptist Church had put up a quote straight from an Arkansas bible: "Football is only a game, spiritual things are more eternal; nevertheless, Beat Texas!"

People were in the stands for this game an hour before kickoff. And they were callin' the Hogs from the first. They were telling the nation about Arkansas football. The Porkers told the same story on the field. Arkansas Football Is Football At Its Best. All forms of feeling broke loose in the pandemonium that followed.

The NBC cameramen and announcers, from their perch high on the press box, agreed that this was the best game ever on national television—bar none.

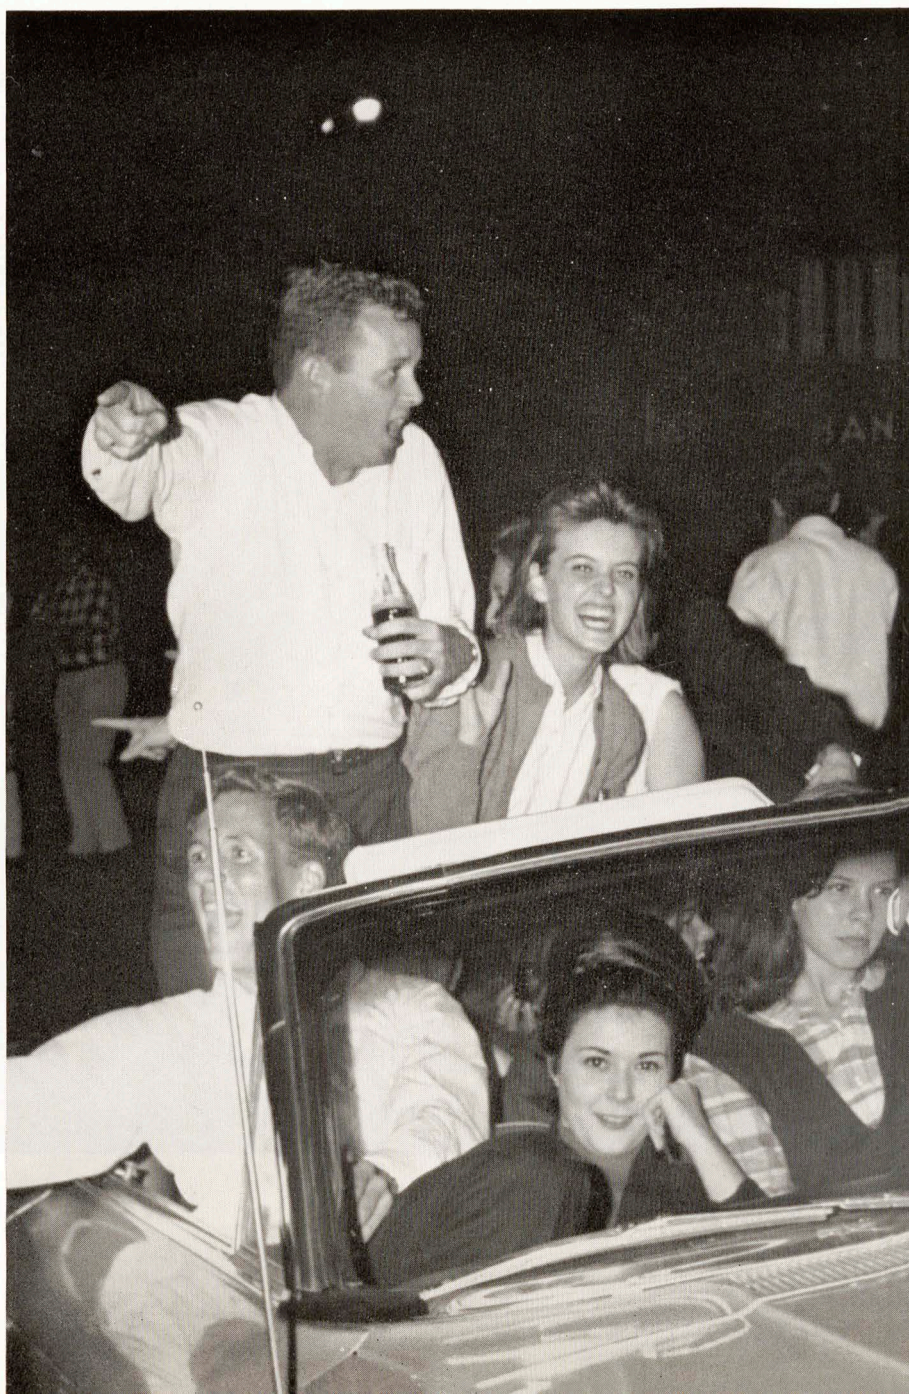

Riotous Ending To A Great Week

Look at the 'birdie'! Linda Bird Johnson cheered for the Longhorns while her Secret Service man grabbed a few winks. L. Bird went home sad for second time; LBJ lodged protest.

Cars lined every street and were jumped on by wild students as they passed Arkansas and Dickson. No one seemed to mind.

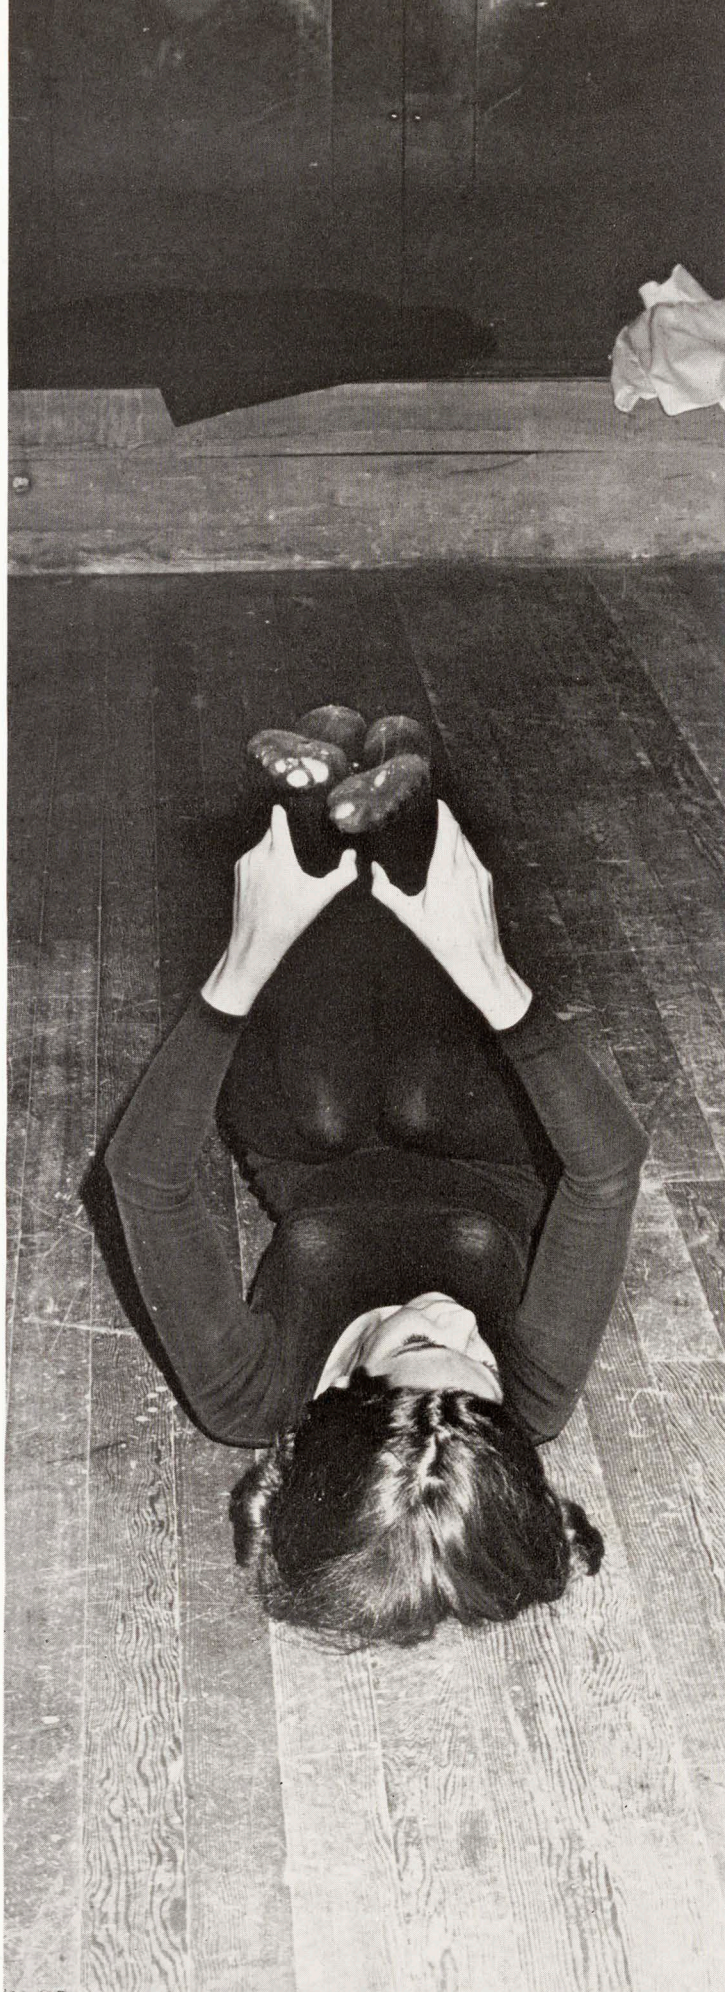

We Are No. 1! And students celebrated the fact with roll after roll of toilet paper streamers in front of the U Ark.

One giant roar that went on for ages, it seemed, announced the winning touchdown. People hugged, pounded and stomped.

Fine Arts labs are not the most popular courses on campus, but they are required. Some even find them rewarding instead of a necessary evil.

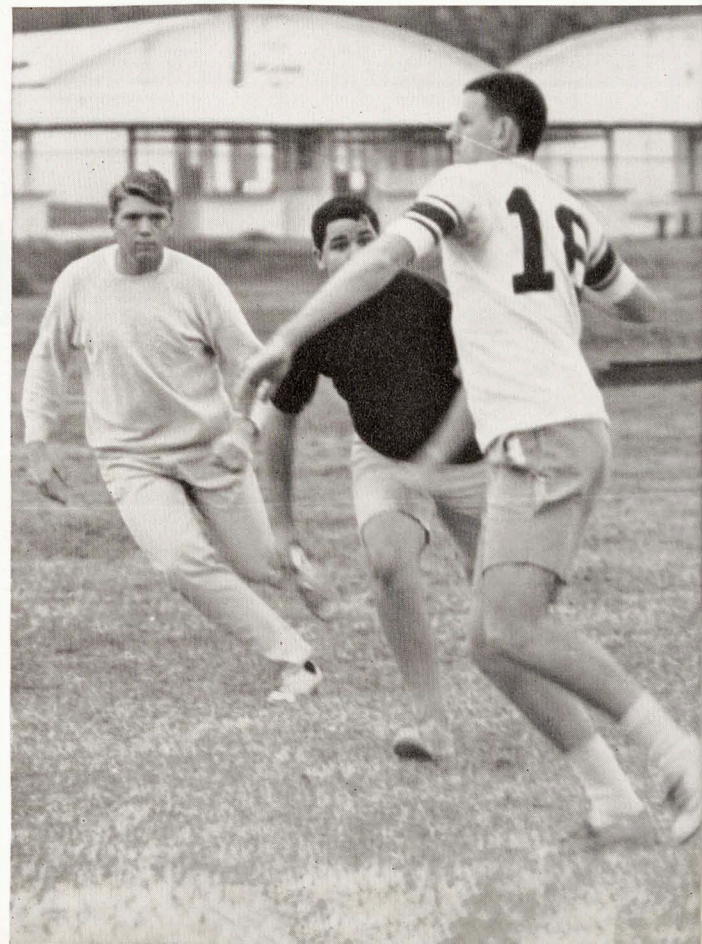

The War Causes

The return to normalcy after the Texas game was more like a letdown than just a return to the usual goings-on at the University. The Texas game probably won't go down in the history books, except those of football, but events happening all across the nation the same weekend probably will.

Mass student demonstrations, repeatedly pointed out as encompassing only 1% of the total student population of America, were held in every major city and college town all across the nation. The importance of these demonstrations was that they caused a rash of "support the war" crusades. The US Senate, in the form of Senator Fulbright, began a series of hearings into the war and ultimately into US-Chinese relations, and America's students caused America's parents to take a second look at the war.

On the University campus, a petition was circulated in support of LBJ's policies, and students huddled around TV sets to see the NBC version of the Arkansas-Texas game.

Twelve hundred men participated in intramural football in the fall in three different leagues.

Protest—Then Reaction

Arkansas' ROTC units took the war cries from Viet Nam seriously and began to clean their weapons in case they were called to help.

Other students took the war cries seriously too, however, they were jeered at for painting 'US Get Out Of Viet Nam' on the sidewalks.

The Letdown After Texas Week

It really has no practical use in the expanding campus picture—except that in all weather and at all times, it is the most beautiful building.

It was another long, tiring trip to a Little Rock game in which nothing spectacular happened except Harry Jones' injury.

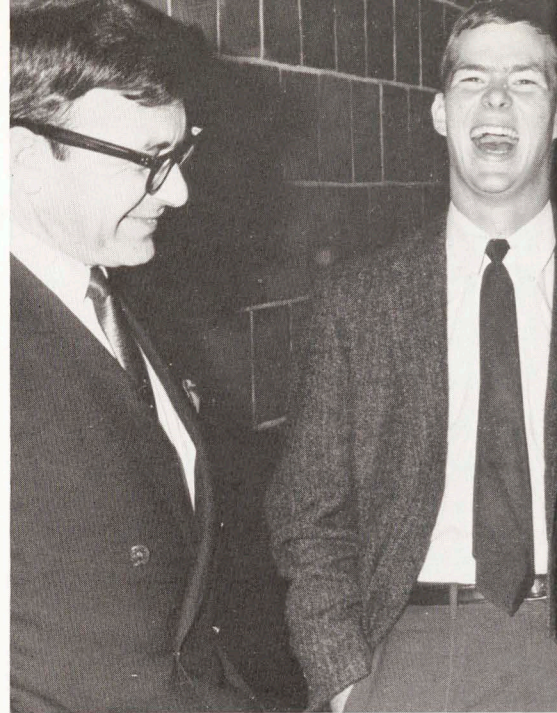

Many cars had paint jobs ruined by over-zealous students over something as frivolous as being No. 1 in football.

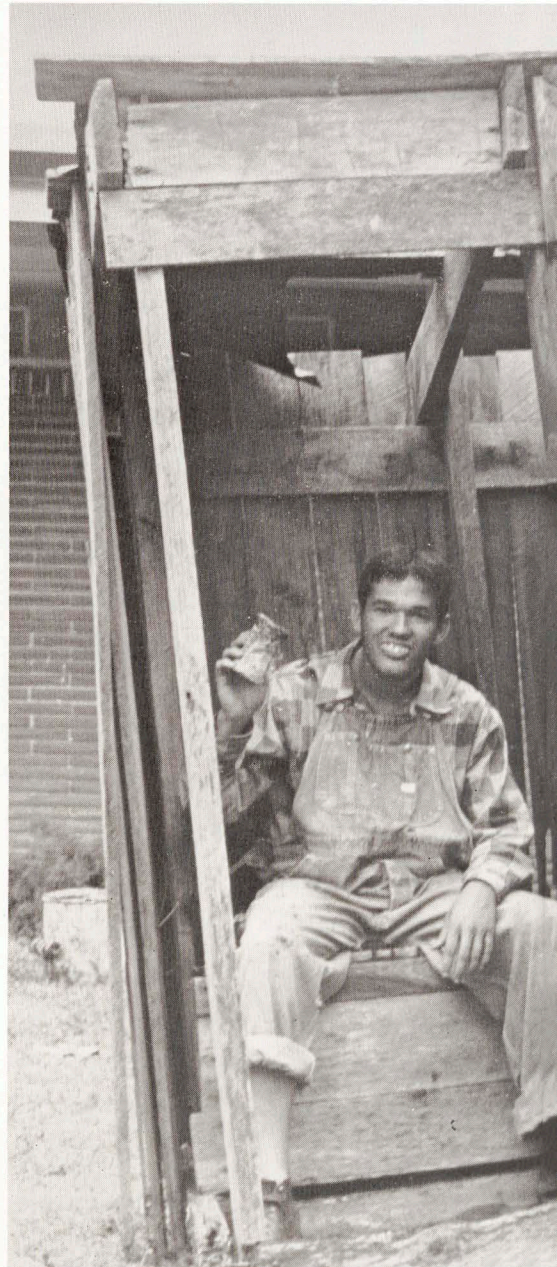

Ferrante and Teicher were forced to take many bows during the course of the wonderful evening by enthusiastic students.

Leave it to the Sigma Nus to outdo the previous year in their decorations for this year's orgiastic Sadie Hawkins fest.

Sylvia Spencer and Pat Mayo interview Teicher backstage during the dynamic duo's concert.

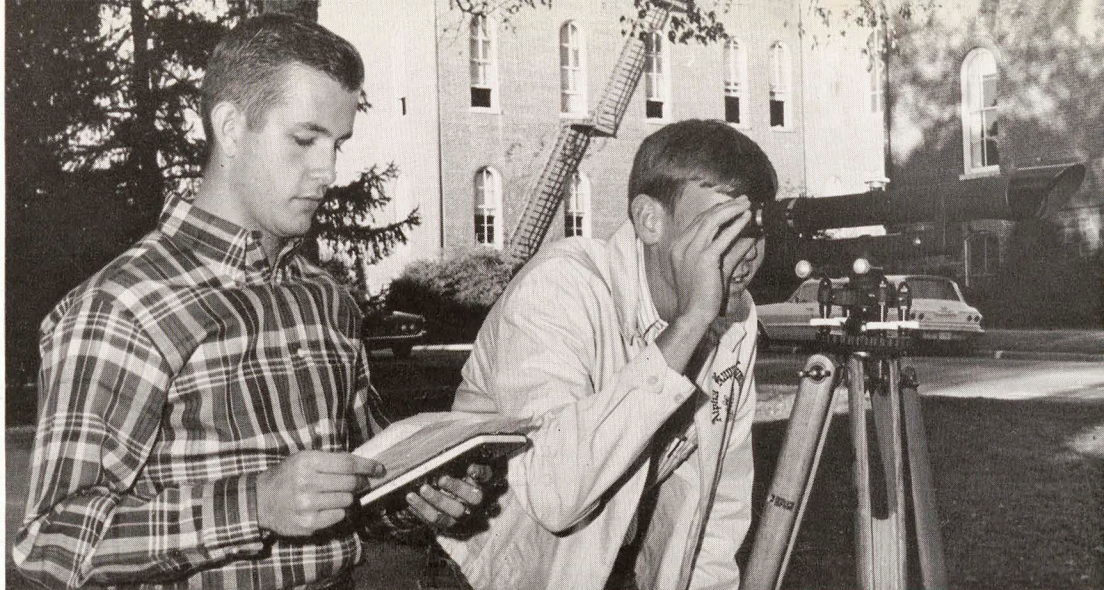

Concert Season Begins

Halloween and the few weeks after were busy ones at the University, and people thought of other things than football for a change. Dr. Mullins made his annual speech to the Faculty Senate and told of the UA in transition. He expressed hope that Arkansas could profit from the mistakes of schools already well into this phase. A new atomic reactor was dedicated close to the University, and Fayetteville became a prime target for something. Win (or lose) Rockefeller made another trek to the campus and talked of the great leadership potential here. Four students attended. Sadie Hawkins, Ferrante and Teicher, Fred Waring, 'Stop the World' and the TRAVELER's first B. S. edition furnished the entertainment for the cool fall nights.

The campus was surveyed again by Engineering students and found lacking.

Frosh Elections

New York was in the limelight on the national front in November. First, John Lindsey was elected mayor, and then a huge power failure blacked out the northeast US. Some Arkansans thought it was those 'commies' again.

And back on the campus, Arkansas Career Days wound up with the same old forecast of UA students going out of state for work. Houses on campus had their pledges busily at work preparing float and house decorations for Homecoming competition. The last few year's tradition of election controversies was kept alive in the freshman elections. YDC was moving ahead in 1965 with, of all things, a pageant and beauty-queen contest. Jacki Jame-son became Homecoming queen and gave DG something to cheer about. The Registrar's office released a list of new admission requirements, and that got the award for the funniest happen- ing of the month.

On one of his frequent trips to the campus, Rockefeller stopped by to convince Dr. Mullins that there would be a new master in the mansion come 1967.

And A Prelude To Homecoming '66

Smiles flourished as the freshmen were inducted into the age-old merry-go-round of UA politics and controversies in November.

Wise students have learned to boycott the Union during elections to avoid being mobbed by two or three candidates at the same time.

Homecoming—A Queen Is Chosen

The dances get crazier and poor seniors who can't keep up are left sitting. At least the dances offer interesting views.

Homecoming Queen Jacki Jameson is mauled by jubilant members of her court after being selected by the assembled jocks.

She really had more assets . . . , Lee Johnson, Hog defensive end, must have mused as he tried to decide for whom to vote.

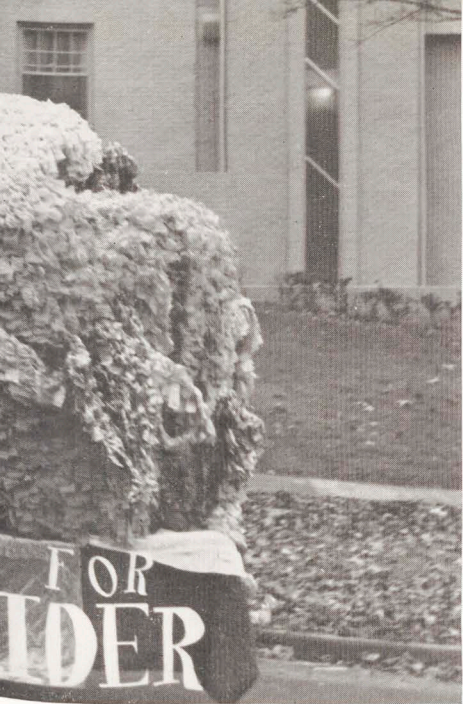

The gods kept the old tradition alive by creating rain for Homecoming week and for the game. It wasn't so bad for classes, everyone enjoys carrying his black umbrella, but the tremendous amount of money spent on the decorations went down the gutter with the rest of the trash.

Chi Omega borrowed from a TV ad for their theme. The decoration was ill received by the judges, and knowing students took one look at it, remembered fall rush, and added: 'Hottest Brand Going—And Went!'.

Floats and house decorations were generally lacklustre this year and, by game-time, wet.

Campus Demands Victory

Again the University campus was in the spotlight in the football world. NBC had come to town for the second time, this time to televise the Arkansas-Texas Tech game on regional TV. The game itself meant more than anyone would have believed earlier. For the past few years, if Arkansas didn't win, Texas did. All of a sudden a loss would mean that Texas Tech would be tied for the championship and go to the Cotton Bowl.

Spirit began to build up early in the week but somehow it just wasn't close to what it had been a few weeks earlier. Who was this pompous team from the West Texas pampas? For the first twenty minutes of the game, they put the Arkansas defense through the mill.

The Red Raiders could do no wrong in the first half, but after the half, Bobby Roper (80) and Jim Williams (71) harassed Tech into many errors.

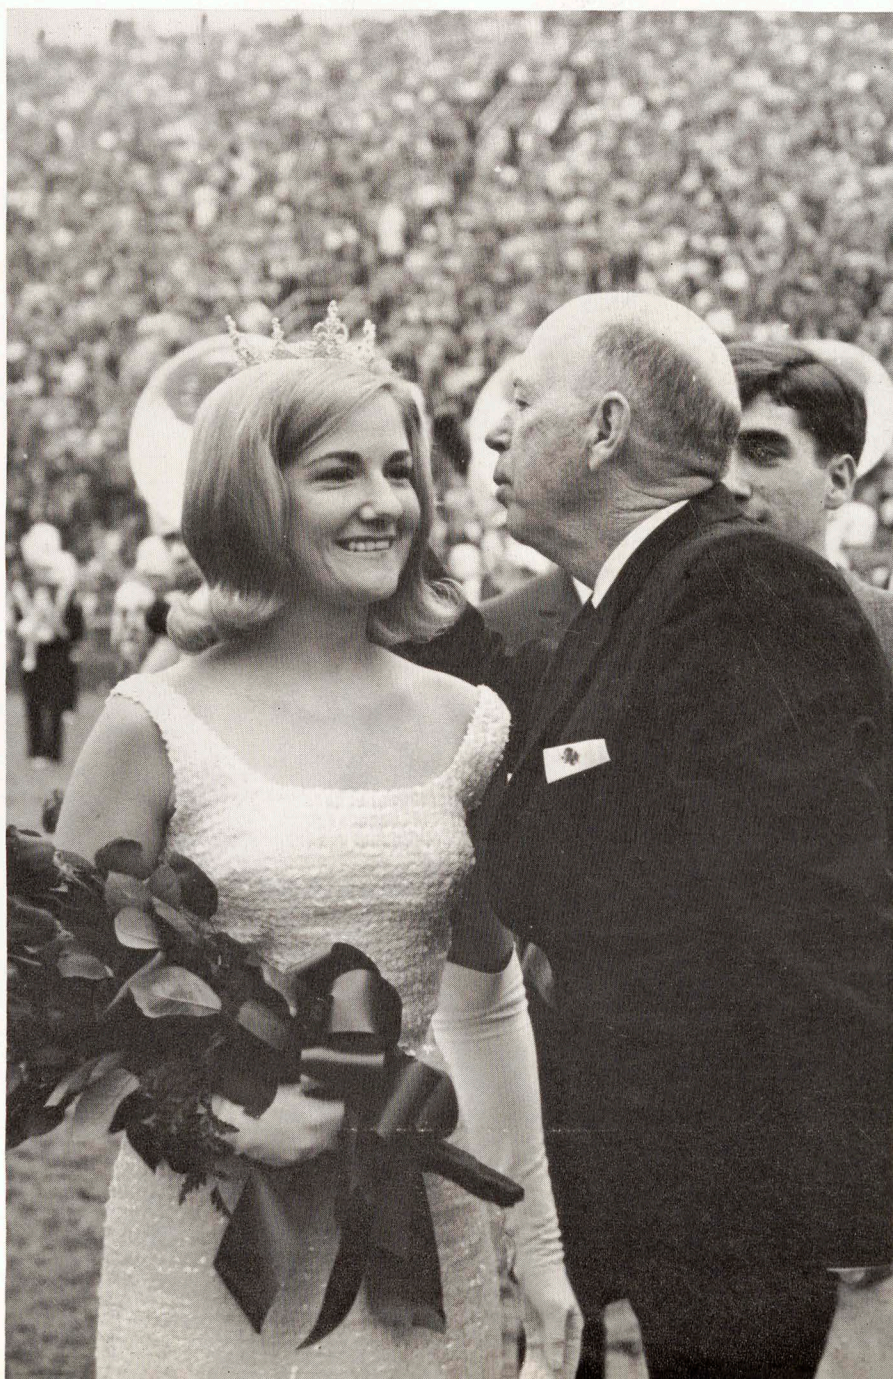

A Thrilling Game And Lots Of Color

Well, I'll be damned! The pretty Tech cheerleader might be saying. Her hopes were dashed.

It's Grade-Lifting

Everyone waits for football season to be over to schedule meetings, contests and back-room political meetings. Student politics are usually petty, but this year they were dull and petty. Gone, for all practical purposes, were the Kingmakers; gone was the free speech movement. The Senate had begun a revamping of the constitution, but even that wasn't exciting.

Some of the more 'exciting' events held were the YDC queen contest, Singfony practices and the Viet Nam forum. Basketball, being a minor sport at the UofA, began unannounced and unattended. The Hogs surprised everyone by winning most of their pre-conference games and being ranked in the nation's top twenty. For many students, basketball season meant a possible retirement of Glen Rose, who just happened to be, ironically, one of the ten most successful coaches in the nation.

The problems of facing reality in the modern world were explored in the University Theatre's production of "The Disenchanted" in December.

A large number of intent and questioning students attended the forum to learn many of the little-known facts about the war in Viet Nam.

A distinguished panel debated the issues of the Viet Nam struggle at the senate forum.

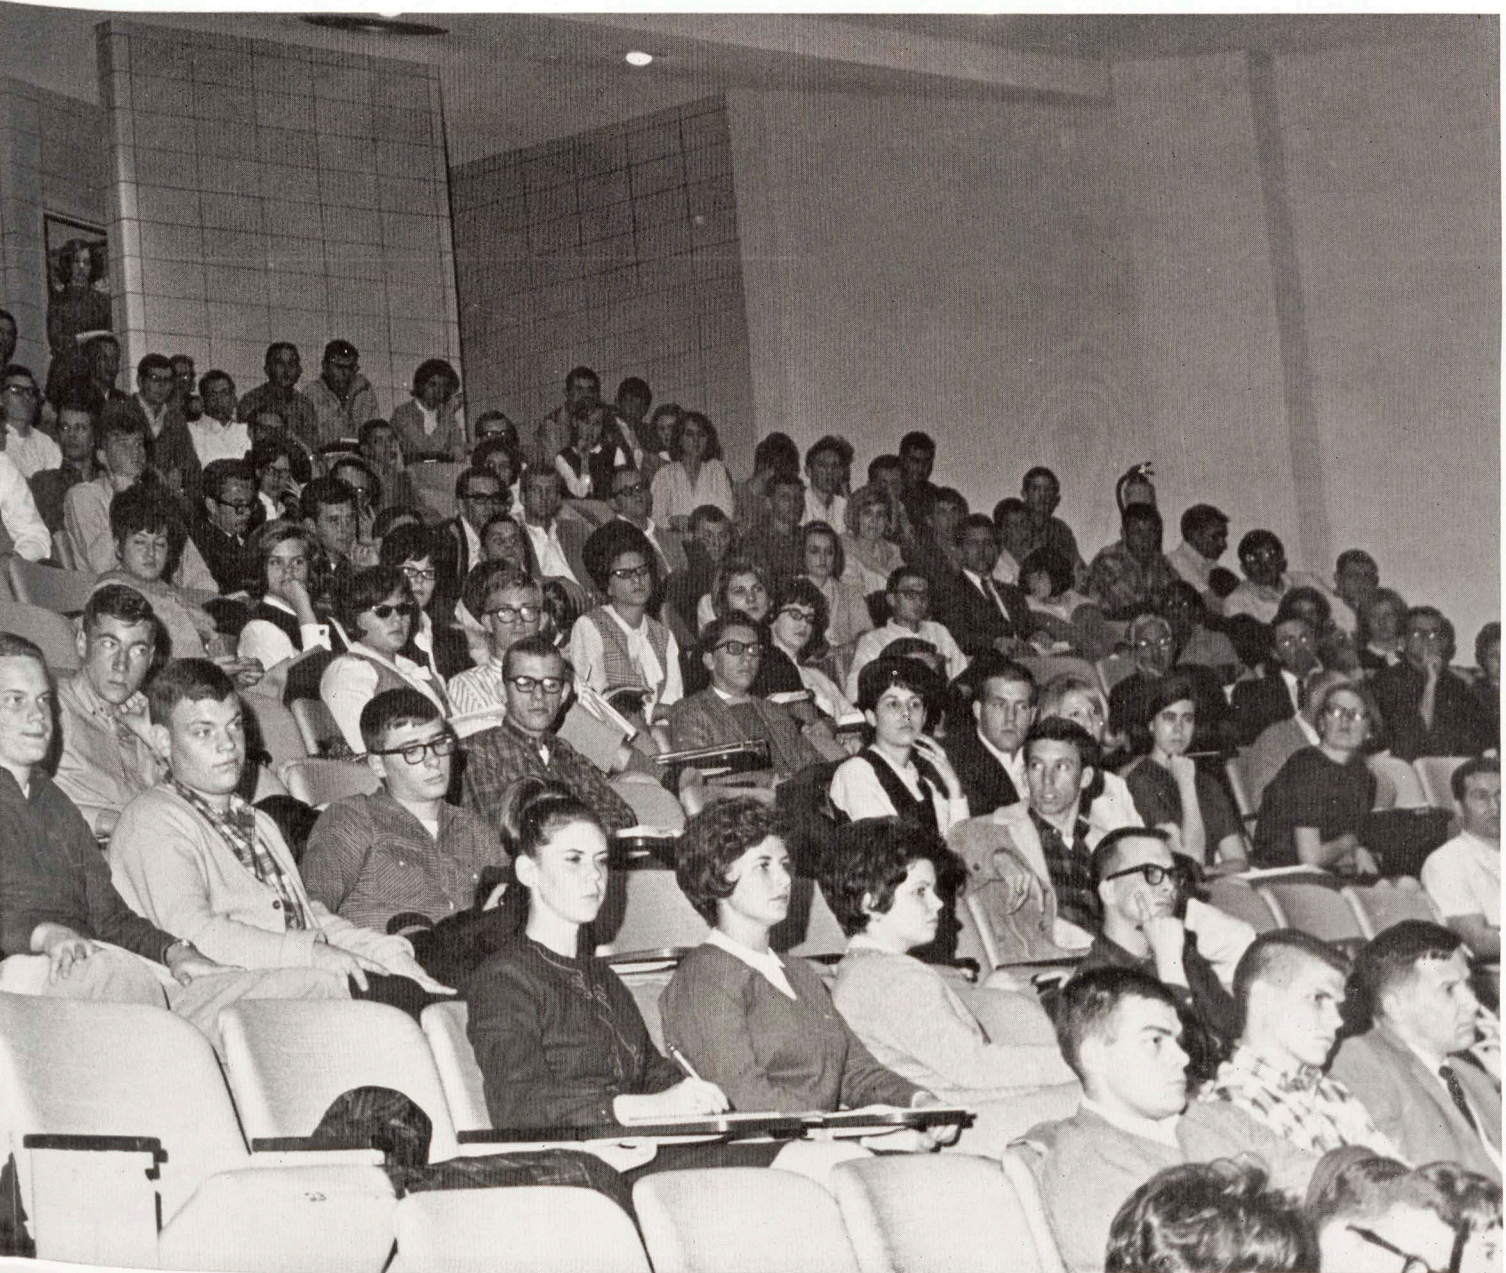

Holiday Spirit Grips UA

The period between Thanksgiving and Christmas vacation is really a lost cause. More grades fall during this period than any other. Everyone seems anxious to get off this 'damned hill' for one last fling before winter weather sets in for good. And this year there was the Cotton Bowl to look forward to.

Everything possible is scheduled for these last few weeks — Greeks have dances; teas, tests, reports, shopping trips, decorations and Santa Claus become all jumbled together in this short space of time. Hotz and Off-Campus Men won the Singfony trophies; DeGaulle was forced into a run-off election; the Student Religious Council Symposium expressed views on pre-marital sex; Arkansas' anti-evolution law was being challenged by a Little Rock school teacher; Ricky Sugg broke the school basketball scoring record with 42 points against Centenary and the Senate passed a new cheerleader code — all before Christmas.

It wouldn't be Christmas without the annual revolving Christmas tree offering by Kappa Sig. This year, for a change, it was almost a good tree.

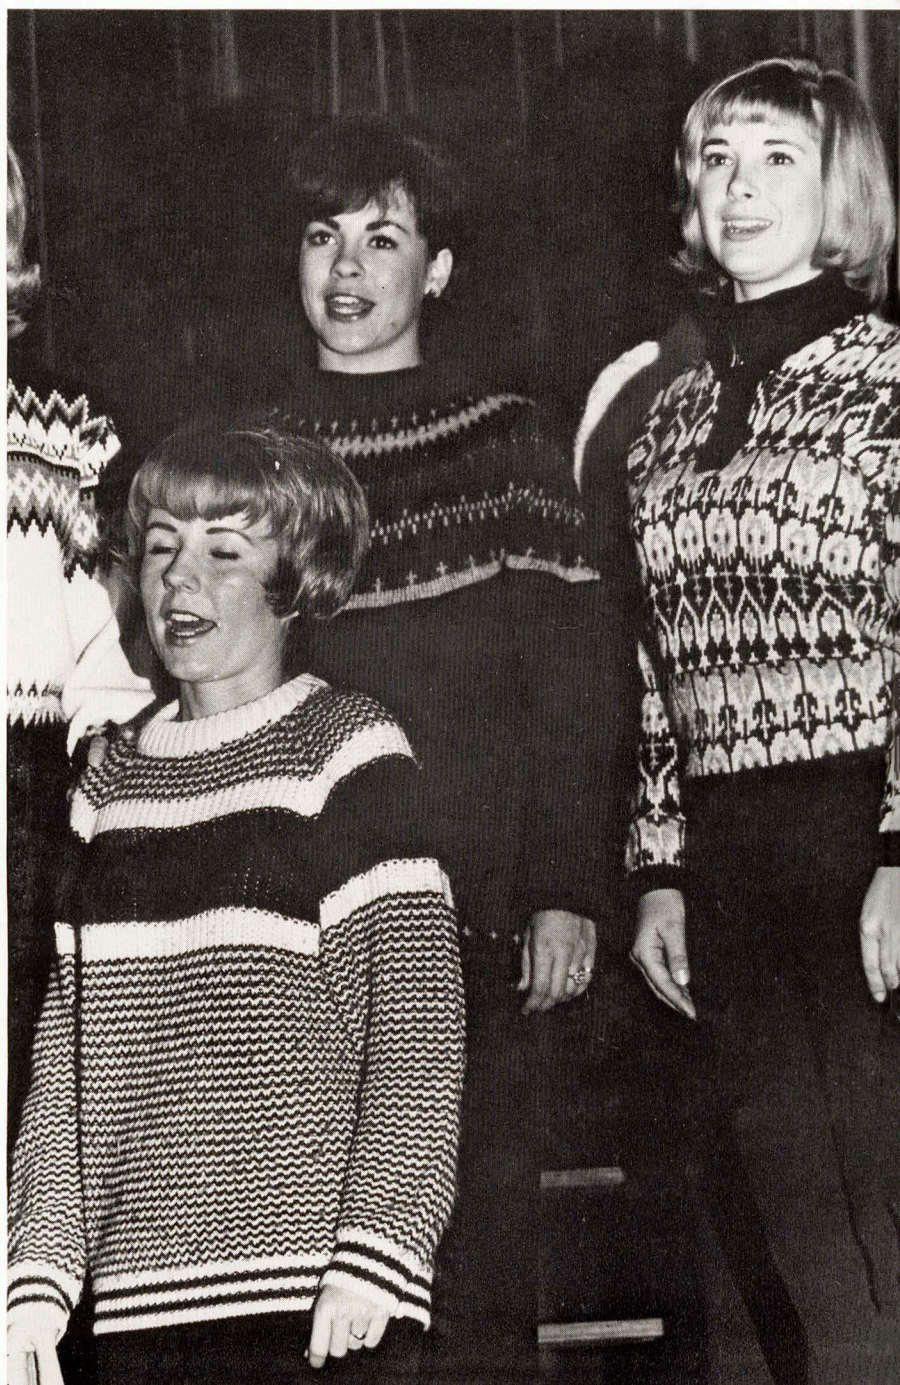

Singfony, Parties—A Merry Whirl

A Last Look At

Thoughts turned to New Year's Day before everyone went home for the holidays. There was a mild controversy over the extra day students were to be given for travel from the Cotton Bowl on January 3. The administration gave the day, but because it might cost the North Central accreditation, they announced that professors 'could' have make-up classes. Of course, this meant that if you were unlucky enough to have a make-up, it was the prof's fault. That's the way the administration wanted it — they didn't get the blame.

The unbeaten football giants worked out for awhile in Fayetteville, and then traveled to Brownsville, Texas, and on to San Antonio, Texas, for pre-bowl workouts. This was in keeping with the tradition at Arkansas that bowl games are supposed to be fun for the team. LSU stayed in Baton Rouge the entire holiday.

But the main thought was GOING HOME.

For two years Fayetteville has graced the beauty spots of the city with crowns. Would you believe carnival merry-go-rounds? Left-over neon signs?

Fayetteville Before Dallas

The 700th anniversary of Dante's birthday was commemorated with special readings by the faculty at a special performance at UofA.

Braniff wasn't the only one to end the 'plain' plane. Razorback team members added their own splash to the company's chartered plane.

T'was Fun 'Til The End Was Nigh

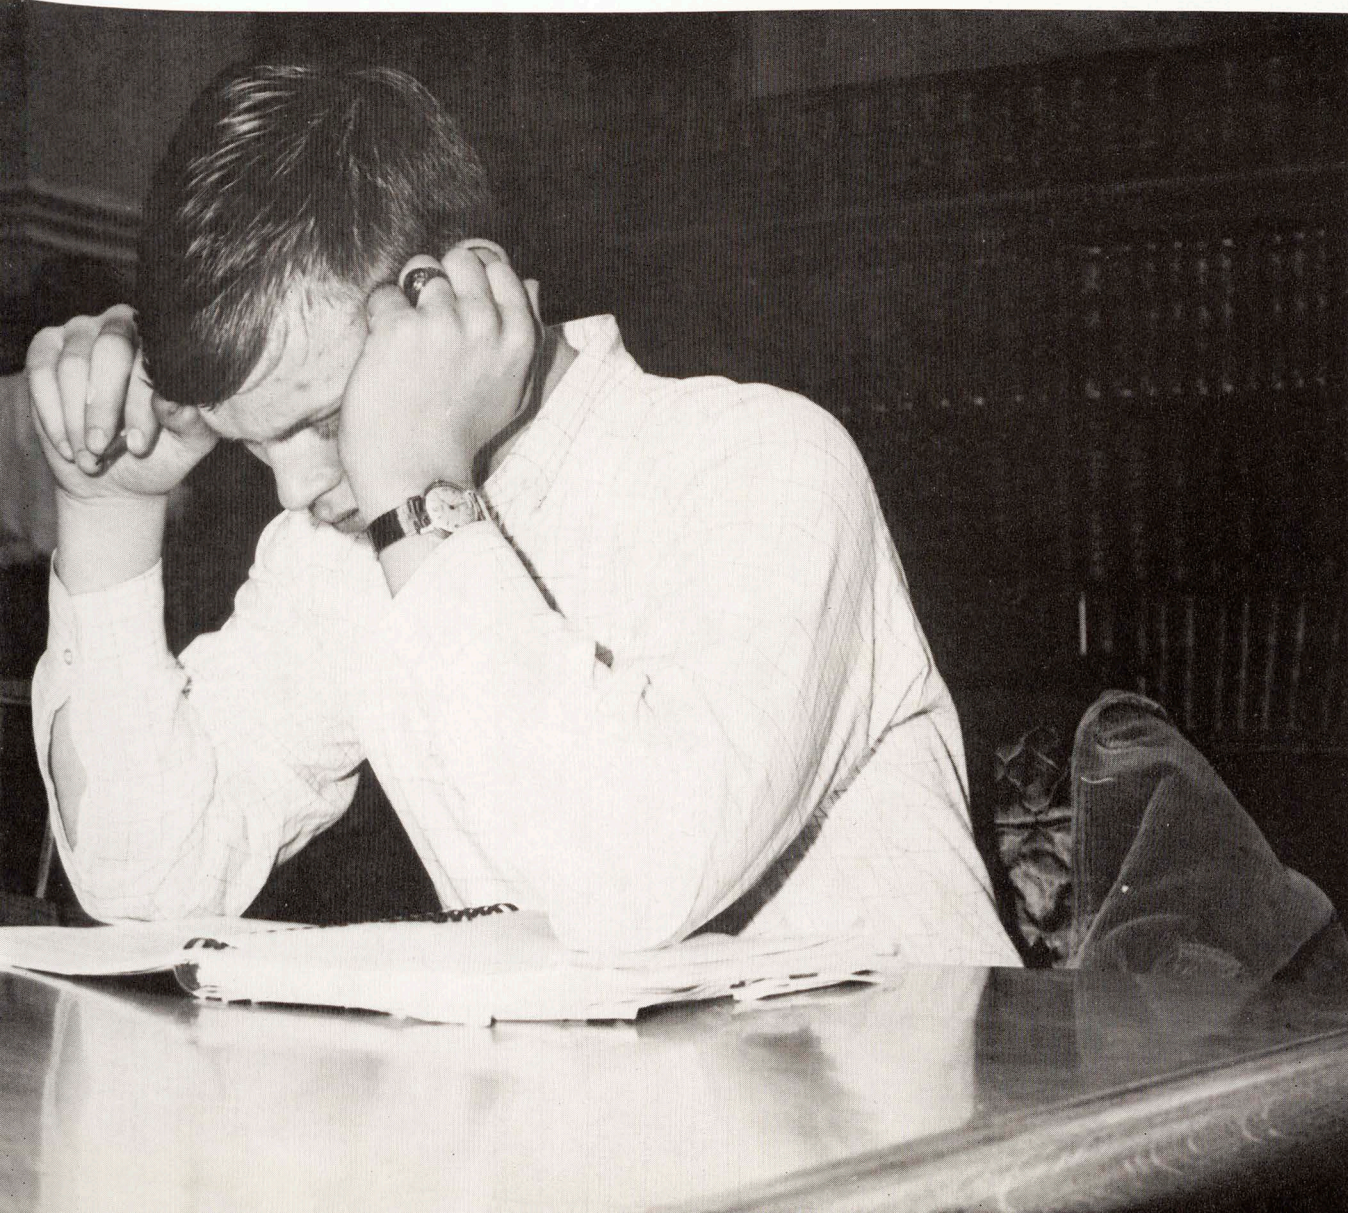

Martha and Arthur clowned it up with the rest of the rabid fans who flooded Dallas to see 'the new football dynasty'.

Everyone, at one time or another, winds up in the streets and gutters of Dallas the night before to root for the Hogs.

Back at school after the fiasco, it was time for panicked students to hit the books as finals—Armageddon—approached.

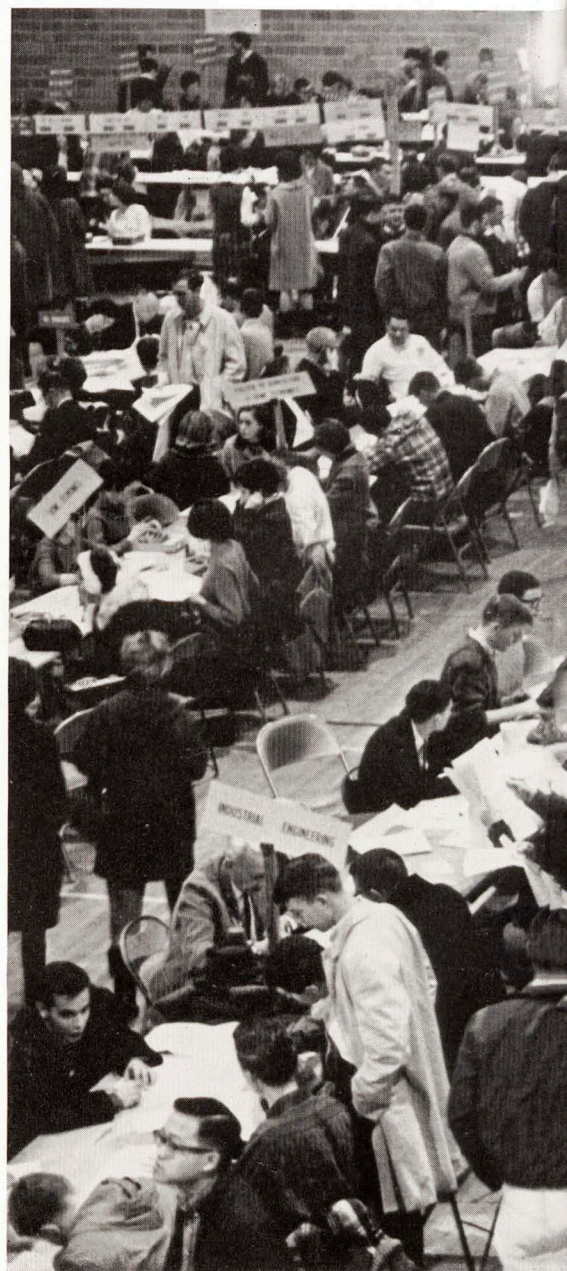

Snow blanketed the campus for a three week period through finals and semester break. It was fitting weather for this bleak time.

The horror that is registration was lessened somewhat by the large numbers who were not able to make it back over the mountains after semester break. Amazingly, classes were still closed out early.

The students who were able to make it back to the hill trudged through snow to register.

Snow, Snow, Snow . . .

With the approach of finals everything shut down — even the TRAVELER. With snow almost knee deep and falling every day, there wasn't much one could do except study. All had been lost in Dallas; those little people from the selective service were lurking everywhere and the infirmary was giving away some kind of shot — yes, study was best.

Several announcements flooded through the communication blackout. Theta announced plans to colonize; the new constitution was nearing completion and the Hogs were floundering in the basketball race. The TRAVELER staff selected '65's top news stories: the football season as a whole and Texas week in particular, Rhonda Oglesby's resignation as Miss Arkansas and the Off-Campus Men controversy.

Rush, Fire, Turbo-jets Hit Campus

The snow provided some moments for romance even though it was kind of cool for any of the real hot stuff.

People hovered around the fire which engulfed the top of the old infirmary in hopes the whole thing would burn.

Fayetteville became only hours instead of days away from civilization with the arrival of Central's new turbo-jets.

Gradual Exit Of

Days were still chilly when the annual rites of spring commenced — first in small bursts and finally with one fell swoop.

"The Rivals" appeared as the fourth theatre production, and Debbie Doland was selected best dressed. On the political front, Guy Jones and Jack Coleman announced as the University's candidates for state YDC president. Both later withdrew.

The TRAVELER introduced the cartoon feature 'Fratman' onto the scene in keeping with the Batman fad. The basketball Razorbacks finished in a blaze of glory and knocked Texas A&M out of the SWC championship. Many students now went to Hot Springs for the races on weekends instead of going home.

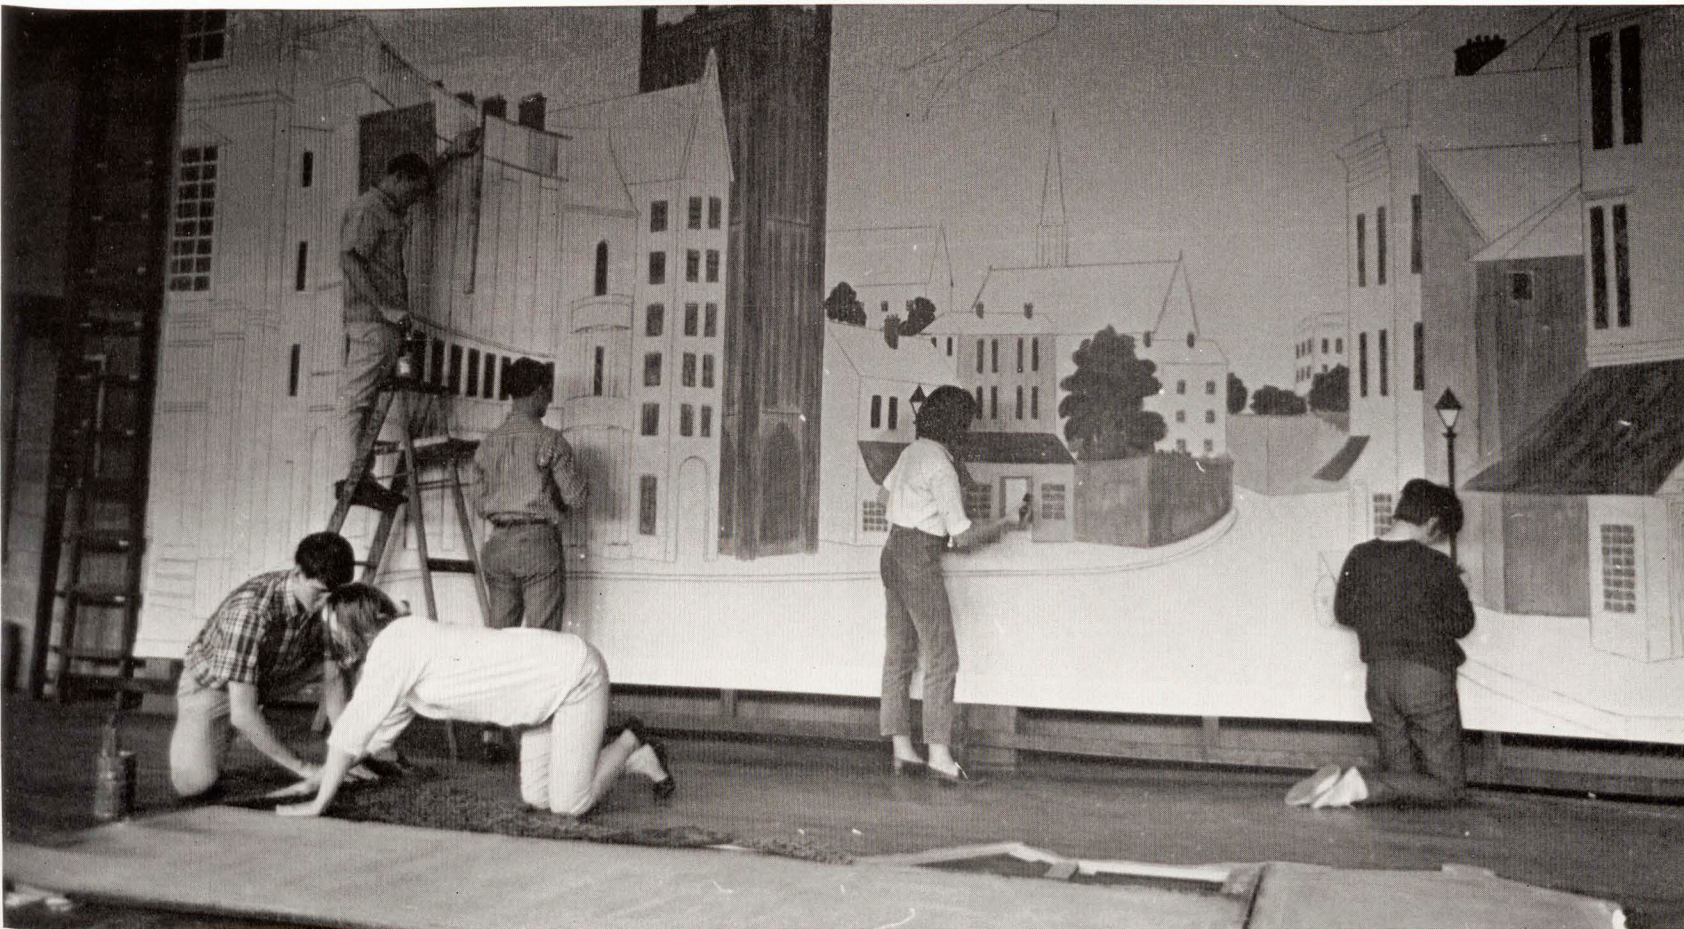

Spring was being born.

Lambda Chi's Purple Id party brought out the worst in both manners and dress as evidenced by gross Indian.

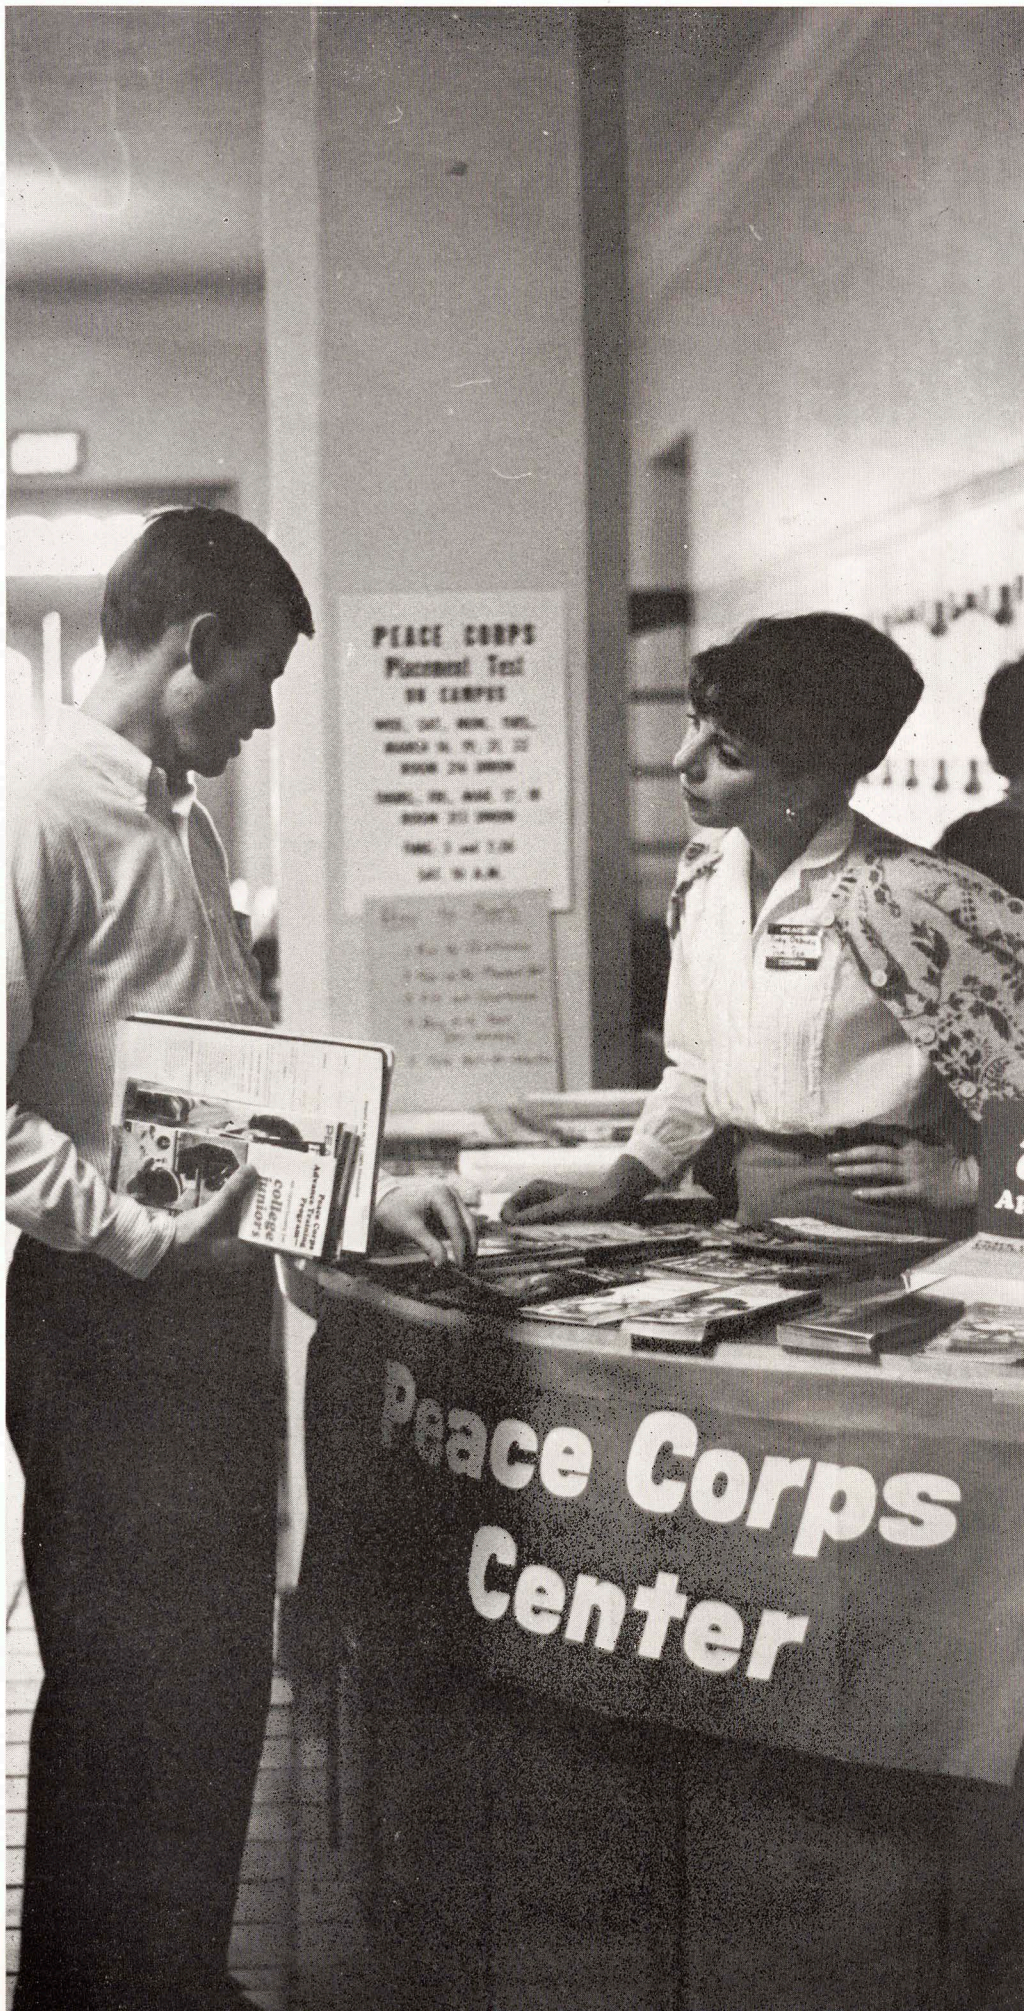

Winter, Entrance Of Spring

Something was finally offered in the Union as entertainment for the weekends — the Dim Den — to keep up with the church centers.

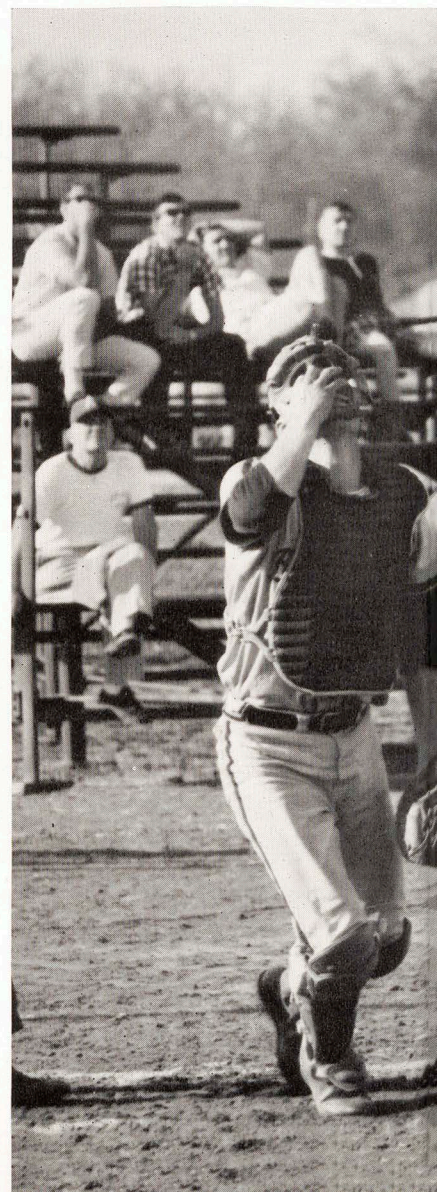

Drafted or dragged in, students busily worked to prepare the sets for the theatre production of "The Rivals" during early spring.

Peace Corps, Spring Sports Appear

Peace Corps recruiters continually moaned their fate at the UofA — lack of interest from students and the TRAVELER.

The hot and cold spells of every other day drove students inside the Union for bridge, then back out for the sun.

Baseball suffered as usual from lack of practice time and poor weather, but sometimes people went for the suntan.

It was how long? Sorority girls attempt to gross out engineers in quest of St. Patricia title at one of the rites of spring.

Agri students retaliated for all the green shamrocks and insults of Engin Day by beating the puny engineer's at the tug 'o' war.

If it wasn't the Navy, Marines, Air Force or Boy Scouts, it had to be job recruiters.

Spring Awakens Campus

A long lethargic winter ended with the first hint of spring. Suddenly, every day and every weekend was crowded with activity. The second concert of the year rescued the Razorback Beauty fate; the engineers reveled with more green paint than usual to salute St. Patrick; Mortar Board, majorettes, elections, counselors and queens — all added pages to the sorority rush books. Everyone decided at the same time to honor someone with something — in short the year was coming to a close 'more rapid than eagles' and there was still a lot to accomplish.

The rites of spring were celebrated in many ways. Sororities and fraternities had spring formals; independents had parties; honorary societies had beer busts; there was Greek Week, then GDI Week and almost every school had a 'day' of some kind. It's one hell of a way to close out a year of drudgery.

Beauties And Queens Reign Supreme

Robin Cash ends one of the Hog calls during the cheerleader tryouts in the Greek Theatre. She was chosen for the Easter pageant instead.

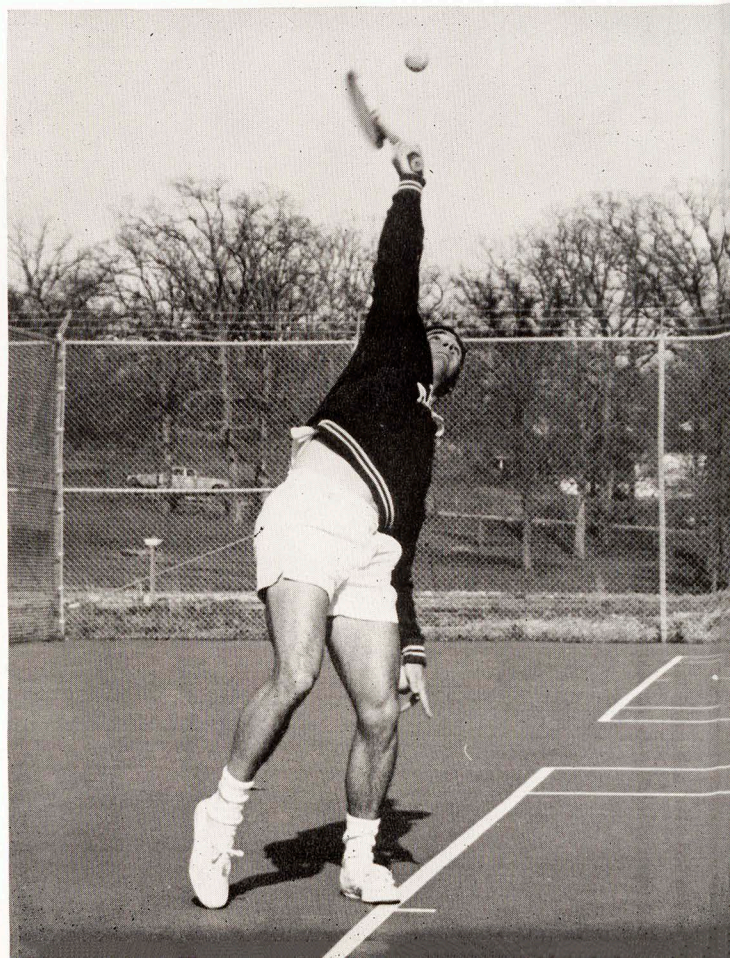

Pan-Olympic

The second annual Greek Week festivities proved to be a welcome romp in the sun for campus Greeks. The competition for first place was fierce between those chariots which held together long enough to finish the race. Sigma Chi came through as the overall winner — their only victory of the spring.

The whole thing must be considered a rousing success for people like Russell Black, IFC president, because it's hard to get all the Greeks together on anything.

Almost lost in the shuffle of Greek Week were such items as the fact that spring vacation was upon the campus; the new cheerleaders were chosen without a Zeta and Sigma Pi monopoly and the Red Cross bloodsuckers were back on campus with their tasty donuts and coffee.

In between rain showers, the twelve new tennis courts were in full bloom with hosts of failing students.

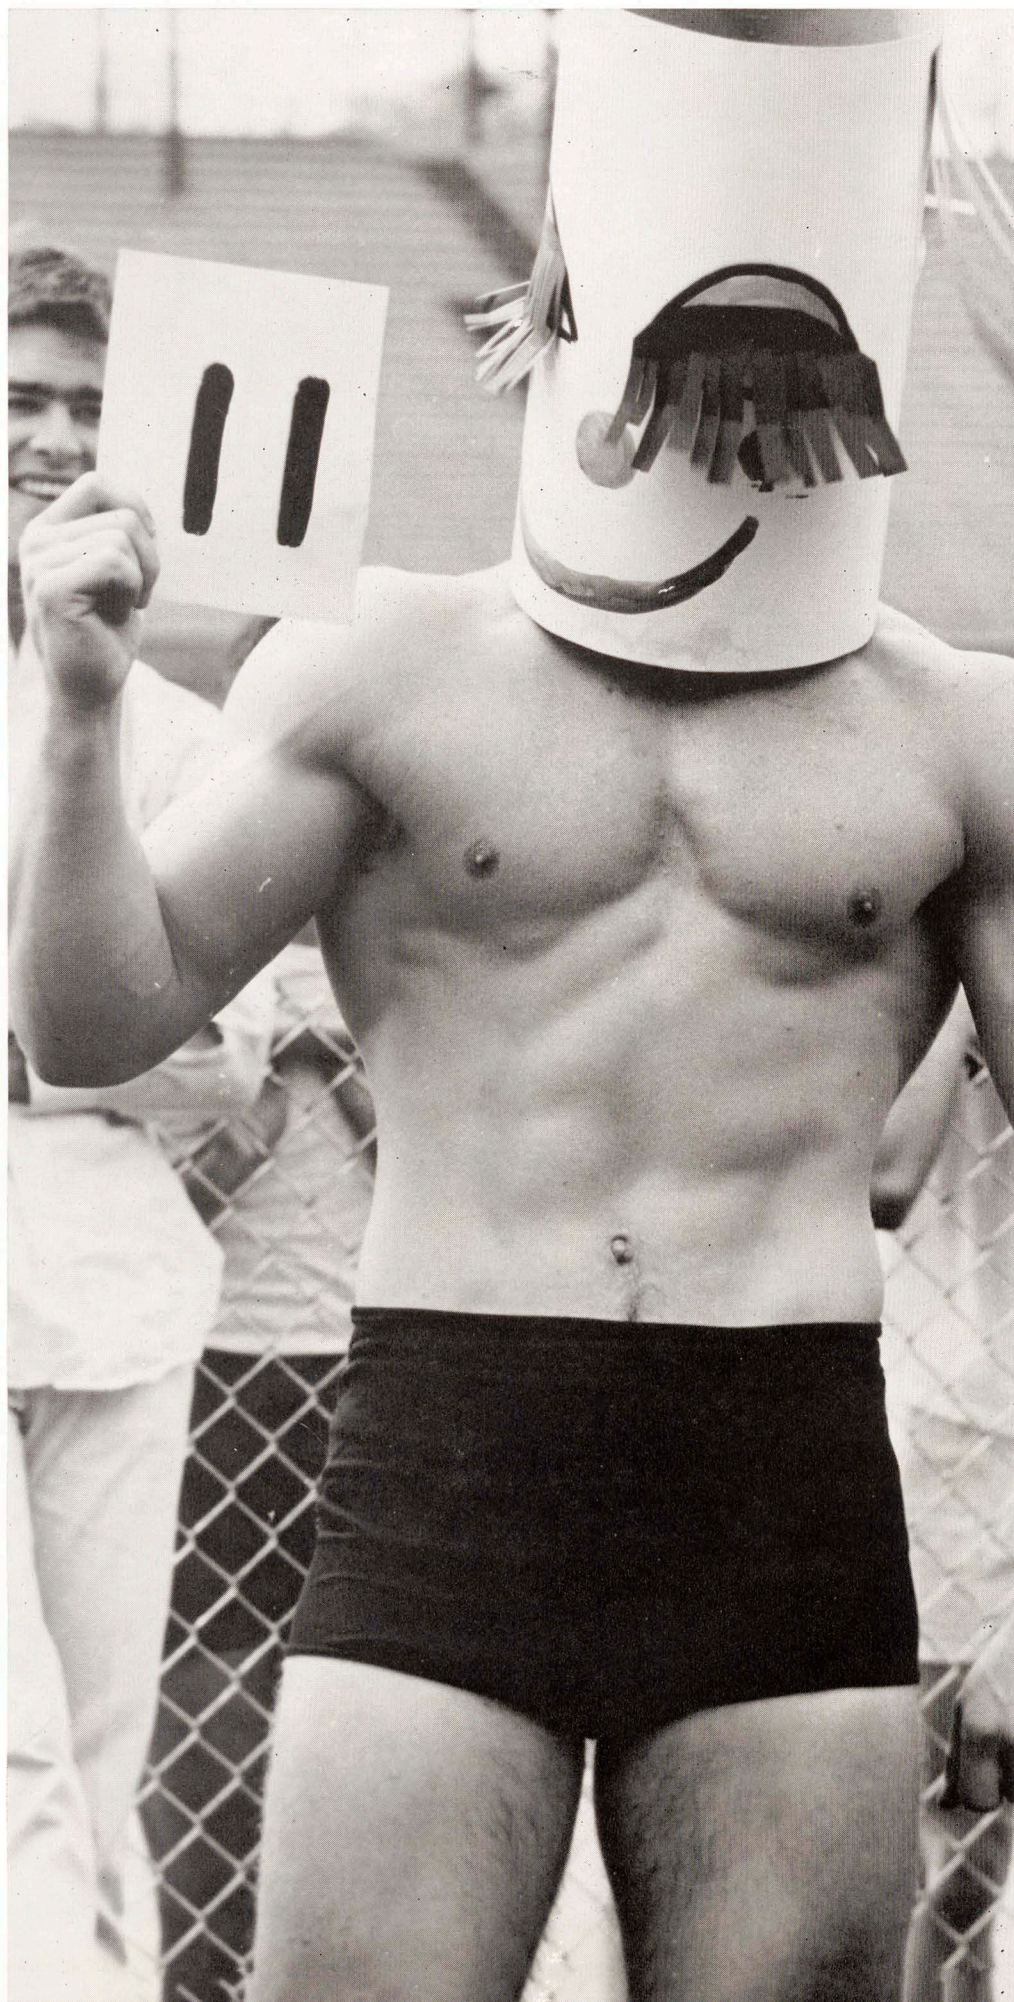

Games Cap Week-long Greek Orgy

Even Teke was permitted to enter the Pan-Olympic games as evidenced by torch bearer. All 70 pledges were entered in at least one event.

The mud-wallow bath was advertized as being better for the complexion than either Tackle or Clearasil so contestants were many.

Ben-Hur Or Muscle Beach Revisited

'Mr. Greek Physique' competition was the favorite of the women at the Pan-Olympic games—good reason it seems.

Last year Russell Black bull-dogged calves to get his picture in the RAZORBACK, this year something difficult.

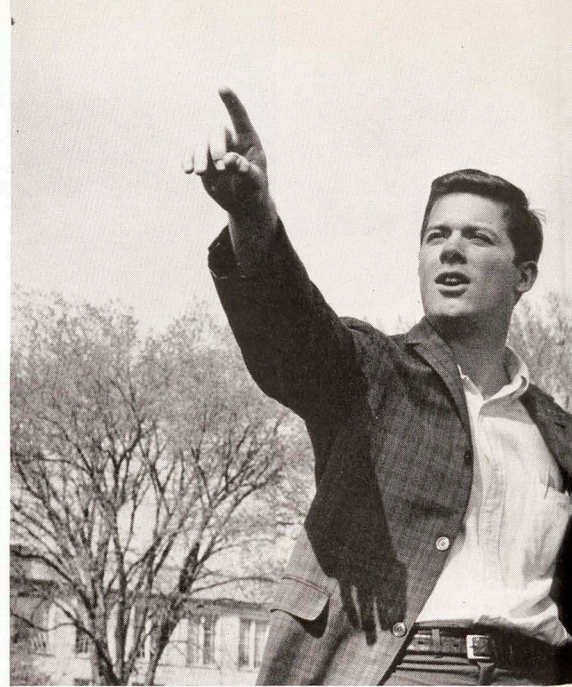

"Parade of the Charioteers" was appropriate as a large and enthusiastic crowd watched the start of the chariot race.

Preparations for the spring elections got underway with the Sigma Chi's putting a parachute on a lamp post outside the frosh dorms. They should have saved it for when their candidate crashed.

Eleven of the Miss UofA hopefuls lined up for the traditional cheese cake photo before competition during Gaebale weekend.

To Gaebale—With Feeling

Gaebale dawned upon the University again with some old things rejuvenated. Once again, the carnival, which had been discontinued because of administration consternation, was restored. But even that was not enough to rescue the old 'big weekend' from being second rate. It was killed when the fun was taken out of it by the administration, and it'll take more to revive it.

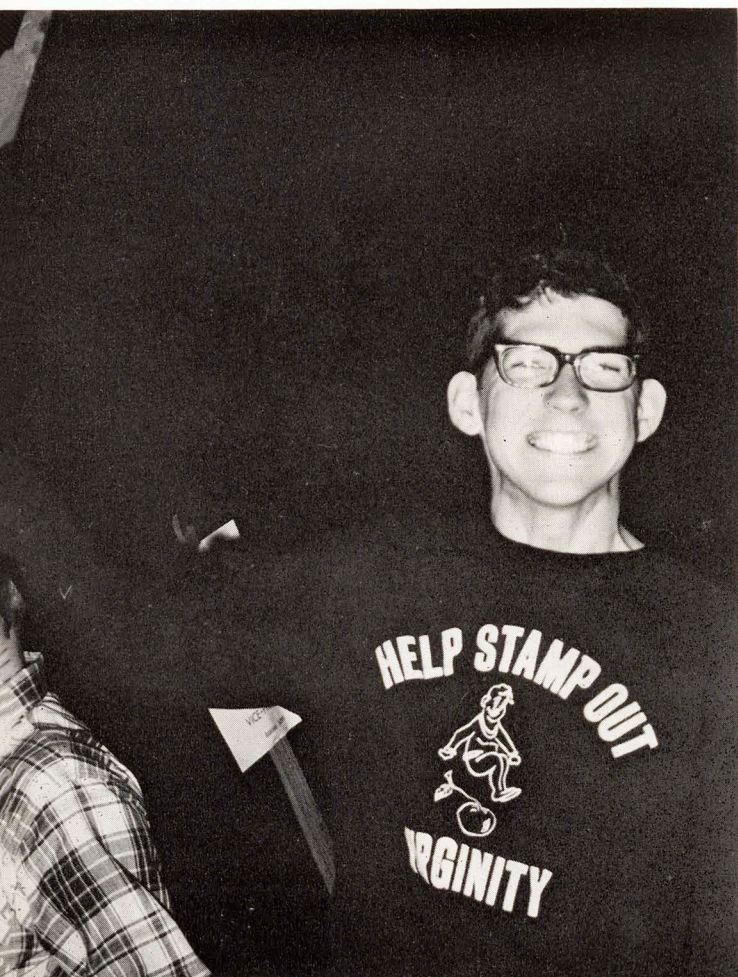

Now competing with Greek Week, GDI week and better entertainment at fraternity parties, Gaebale is a near dead horse. This year, Brother Dave Gardner and Ike and Tina Turner were the entertainment extravaganza. At least they beat the Miss UofA candidates.

Campaigning was fierce in front of the freshmen women's dorms where a huge block of votes lie just for the simple taking — in a ride to the polls in a GTO.

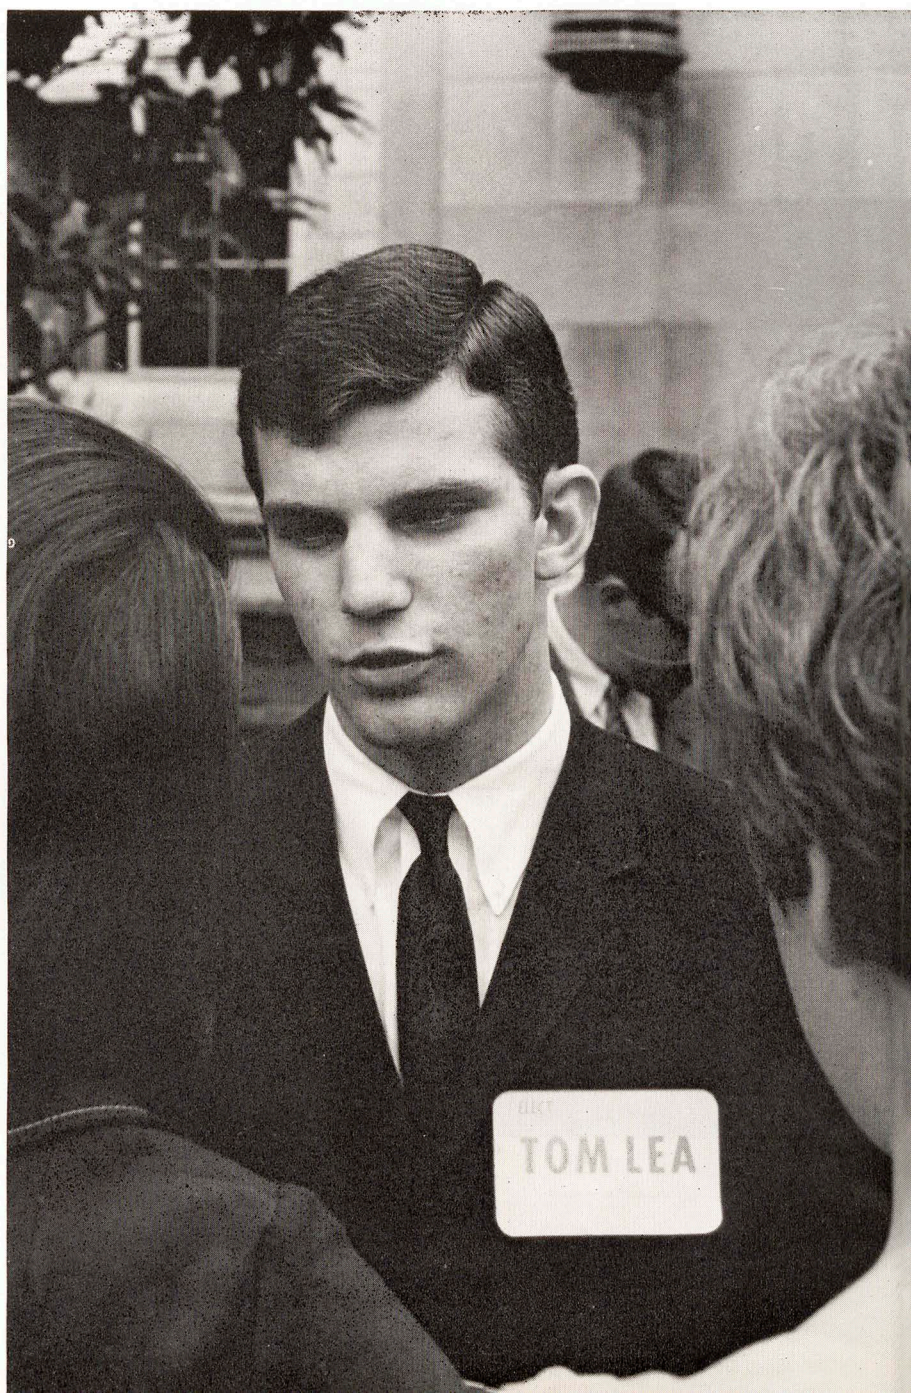

What An Election! It Had Everything

It might not get Dean Sterner's vote, but for the weary campaigners in front of the Union, it was welcome relief.

Tom Lea broke the tradition by winning in the runoff after having won the primary—even with an increase of 600 votes.

A new dynasty awaits the primary election returns from the balcony of the Union, and Sigma Nu regained power.

Six hundred people jammed into the Union lobby to hear the first election returns from the voting machines.

Lea countered the Switzer derbys with an old-fashioned march to the polls by his supporters in the freshmen men's dorms — it worked.

A Wild Campaign.

The year was rapidly growing to a close, and it was fitting that such a wild campaign should close out the excitement. It was a campaign of many firsts: voting machines were used for the first time in Arkansas; an all new high of 4200 plus voted in the primary; that was broken in the runoff with over 4800 voting; the runoff vote surprised everyone by exceeding that of the primary and the one who won the presidential primary won the runoff.

For the Tom Lea, Kent Burnett, Susan Matthews and Jack McNulty supporters it was a happy ending. For the others it was a time to regroup for next year and moan the tremendous amount of money spent in a losing cause.

Oh yes, the biggest first of all — a Negro candidate ran for the presidency of the student body — and received 600 votes.

The first round over, campaigners throw down cards and regroup with new literature for the big runoff push.

Senate Writes New Constitution

The drafting and passing of a new constitution was the outstanding achievement of the 1965-'66 Student Senate. There were many other significant accomplishments which earned for the Senate the recognition of being one of the most active and responsible in recent years.

Committees were established to help organize the plans for the new student union, to study the possibility of building an auditorium jointly with the city of Fayetteville, to draft a new cheerleader code, outlining a new method of selecting cheerleaders and to investigate the possibilities for setting up a university radio station. Much of the work and worth of these committees will be decided by the year-end reports they will give to the Senate.

A Student Senate salary act fixed the salaries of all student government officials; an act classified all the organizations on campus recognized by the Senate and the University and a minimum grade point was set for participation in extra-curricular activities.

Associated Student officers Mac Glover, president; Jim Lee Morgan, vice-president; Gail Bigge, secretary and Bill Dillard, treasurer, worked together efficiently this year. Until April Morgan did a very capable job as President of the Senate when he stepped down under the new constitution and that position was assumed by Glover. Glover and Morgan spent most of the year checking on the committee meetings and communications between these committees, organizations and the administration. Glover implemented an evaluation of each committee's work to determine whether they were necessary and should be abolished.

Gail fulfilled her campaign promise by having all minutes of the Senate meetings available the next morning. Dillard kept the Senate in the black throughout the year.

The Student Court gained in prominence and respect this year. One of the first questions the court handled was an interpretation of the rule defining representation of Off Campus Men. Problems dealing with the mis-use of I. D. cards and student conduct at football games were also decided. During the spring election, the court was called upon to rule on two significant questions: first, whether students who did not meet the grade point requirement were eligible to run for office and second, could a campus governing body (MIHC) support a candidate with funds? The Court ruled in the first case that a student could not and in the second case that there was insufficient evidence.

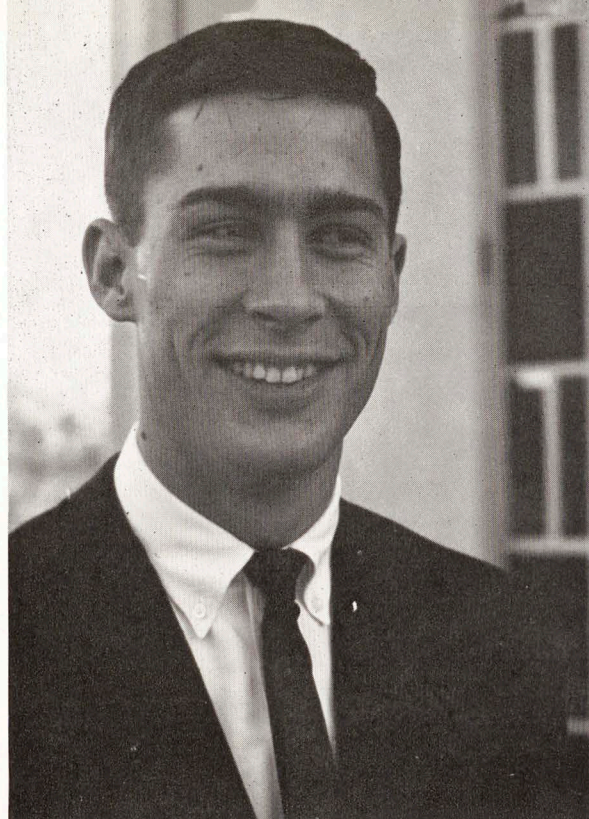

Senior class officers J. J. Scroggin, president, and Missy Alford, secretary, helped the commencement committee plan the graduation exercises.

ATHLETICS

John Barnhill began the building job twenty years ago and saw it climax this year with a 22-game winning streak and another title.

Barnhill, Staff Lead Hogs' Rise

It has largely been through the efforts and foresight of athletic director John Barnhill that the Razorback sports program has enjoyed a meteoric rise to national prominence in the past few years.

Barnhill came to Arkansas in 1946 and began by winning a Southwest Conference championship (the UA's first clear title) and two bowl bids. This stirred the interest of the state, but it took a revitalization of the state Razorback Clubs, the setting up of an Educational and Athletic Scholarship program and the establishment of the Razorback Sports Network (the largest college sports network in the nation) to start the University on the road to the top.

Head football coach Frank Broyles came to the University from Missouri, and Arkansas fans have been happy ever since. He has become the SWC's winningest coach with a national championship, six bowl bids and six conference championships.

Head basketball coach Glen Rose retired at the end of the past season after more than thirty years of association with University athletic teams. Labeled the Dean of Southwest Conference coaches, he retired ranking ninth in the nation in won-lost record among active coaches.

George Cole, assistant athletic director, began his University career as an All-SWC quarterback in 1927. He has been associated with the UofA ever since.

Coaching Staff Gets New Faces

Good coaches never stay around in one spot long, and Arkansas lost several during the past year. Jim MacKenzie, the architect of several conference-leading Arkansas defensive units, became the third Broyles assistant to get a head coaching job at a major school when he transferred to Oklahoma (the others, Tennessee and SMU). He took with him assistant Barry Switzer. The two replacements were Charles Coffey, who made a reputation as Tennessee's defensive line coach this past season, and Gordon Smith, an offensive end with the Minnesota Vikings.

With the retirement of Glen Rose, Duddy Waller, who has been freshman coach for eight years, stepped up as head basketball coach.

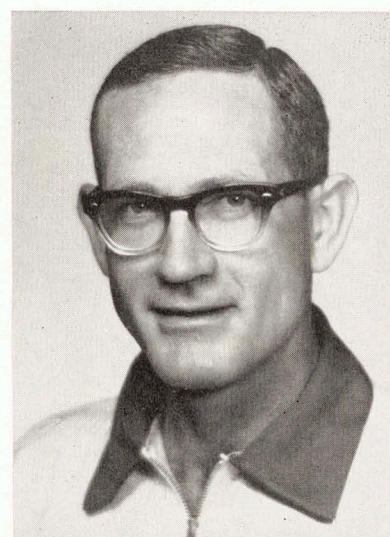

Bob Cheyne, Sports Publicity Director, announced this spring that Bud Campbell would replace him as announcer for the Razorback football games over the UofA Sports Network. Cheyne said that a championship team required too much of his time in other areas on football weekends.

Arkansas 28—Okla. State 14

The 1965 season loomed big for the defending national champion Arkansas Razorbacks, and head coach Frank Broyles was quick to point out that every game along the way wouldn't be a pushover just because the Hogs were undefeated.

But that didn't dampen the spirits of a crowd of 44,000 who turned out for the Razorback's season opener with Oklahoma State in Little Rock on September 18.

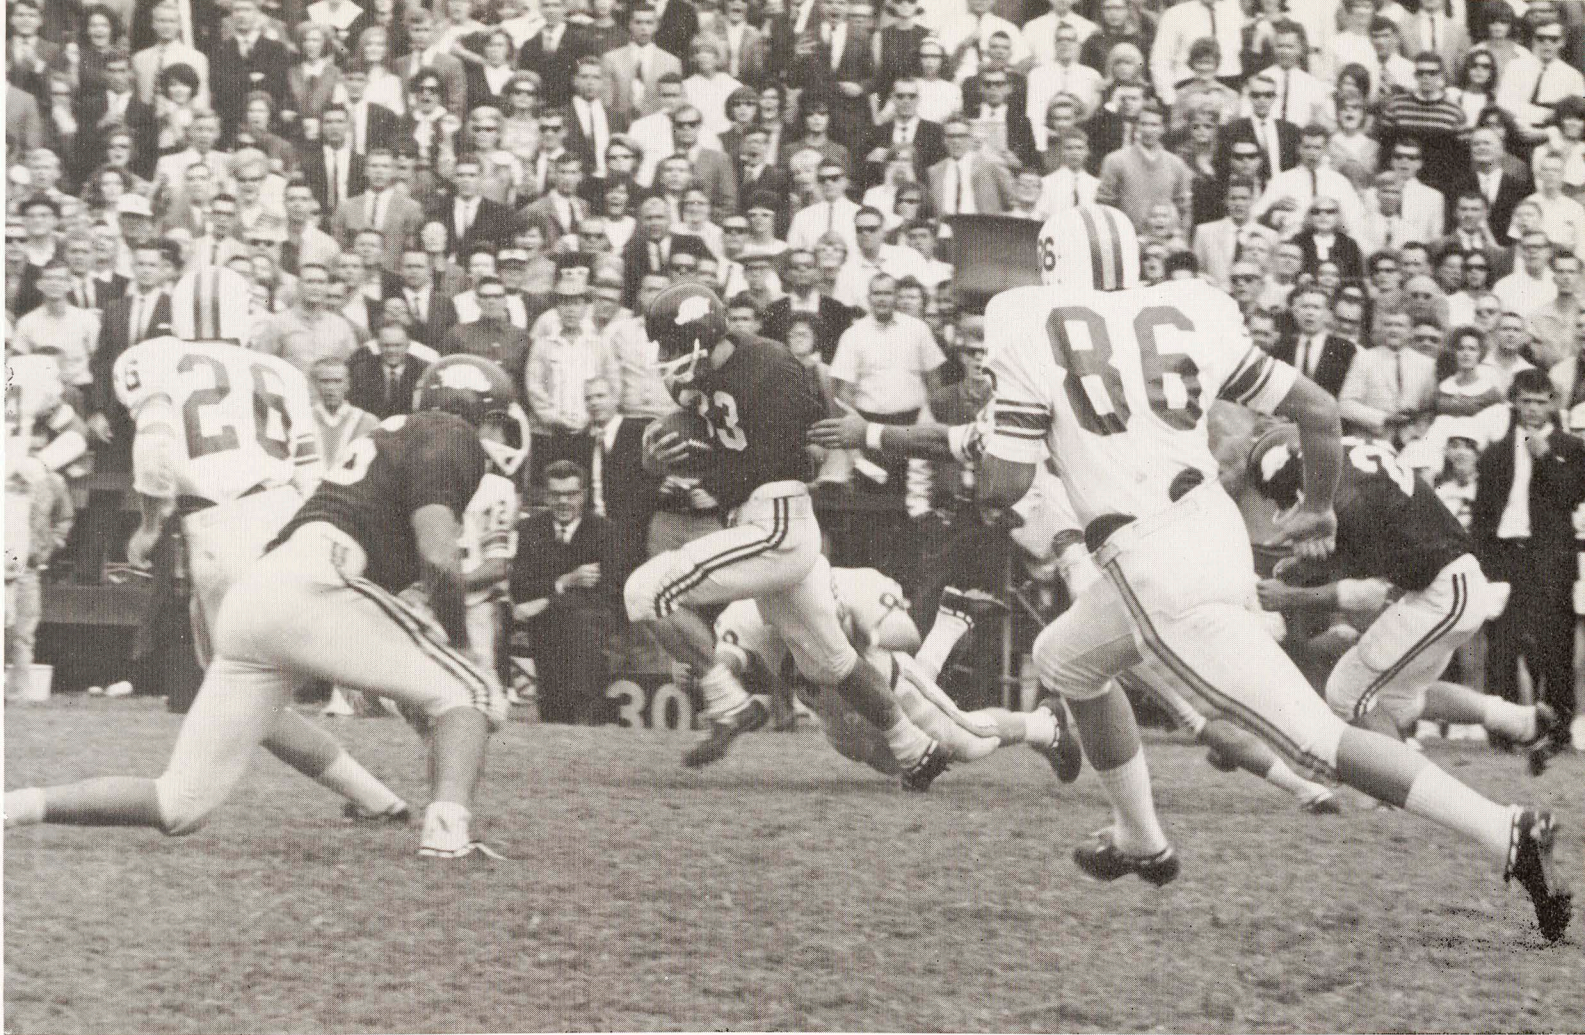

Bobby Burnett established himself as the inside powerhouse, while wingbacks Jim Lindsey and Harry Jones took turns proving the Razorbacks were just as effective outside.

Brittenum hit Jones for three quick strikes and the first score, and in the second period Jones galloped 50-yards around end untouched for the second touchdown. Lindsey led the next drive with a 31-yard scamper, and Burnett and Brittenum combined to put the ball at the eight where Brittenum took it across.

This was final proof that Arkansas was dynamite offensively, although the game still left defensive questions.

Bobby Burnett, Arkansas' workhorse, pounds up the middle behind a wall of red jerseyed offensive linemen in the opener with OSU.

Bobby Burnett eludes three tacklers in a slashing drive toward the goal as the Hogs made a last half surge to down the Hurricane.

Arkansas 20—Tulsa 12

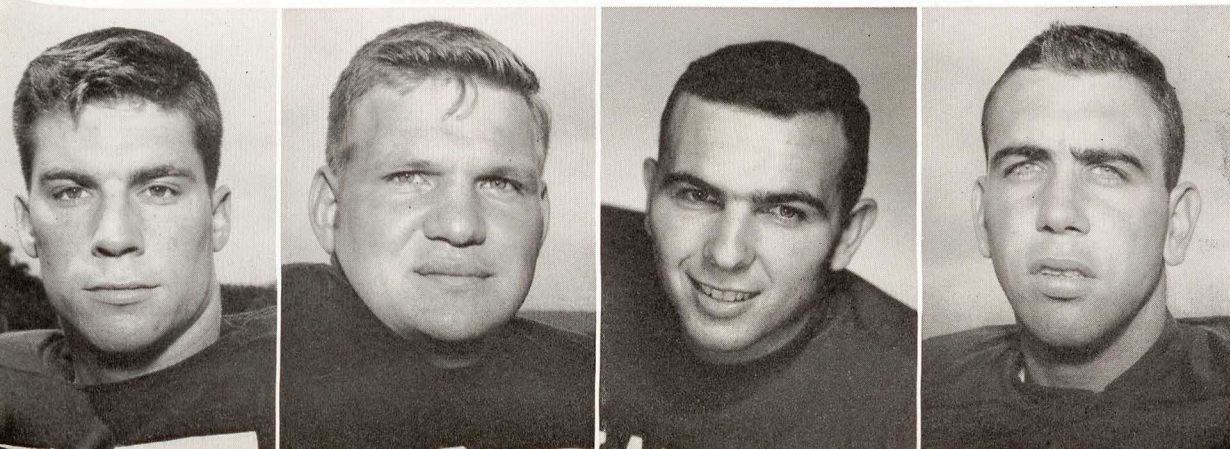

The Razorbacks had shown a slight second half letdown against OSU in the category in which Tulsa was offensively strongest—pass defense. So head coach Frank Broyles was apprehensive about the stout Hurricanes. He warned that the Sept. 25 game would be one of the Hogs' toughest of the season, both physically and mentally—time proved him right.

Arkansas got an early break when Tulsa fumbled, and Loyd Phillips recovered in the opening minutes. Ronny South booted a 29-yard field goal, giving Arkansas a 3-0 lead, but moments later the tide turned when Tulsa intercepted a pass at midfield. Tulsa's quarterback passed for the score. A blocked PAT gave Tulsa a 6-3 lead. The lead seesawed twice more, and the Hurricane held a 12-10 edge at halftime.

Arkansas stiffened defensively in the third quarter and forced a Tulsa fumble which South converted for a 45-yard field goal and the lead, 13-12. The Hogs drove again, this time 77-yards with Brittenum hitting Crocket for the winning points.

Arkansas 28—TCU 0

Against Tulsa, Arkansas was forced to scramble from behind, and in effect, it seemed to jell the offense. The Porkers were an aroused group when they met Texas Christian in Little Rock and proved it at the expense of the Horned Frogs.

Before 47,000 fans the Hogs went into game No. 15 and on the opening drive slashed 71 yards in 14 plays. Alternating between Harry Jones, Bobby Burnett and Bobby Crockett, quarterback Jon Brittenum marshalled the Hogs steadily downfield, sending Burnett over from the one.

Brittenum hit three straight passes after TCU was stopped cold, then gave Burnett the ball four straight times until he scored. A short TCU punt put Arkansas ahead 21-0 in the third period with Jones scoring on a 21-yard pitch-out. Jones followed this with a 59-yard sprint around end for the final score, picking up flawless blocking. This first conference win of the season strengthened the Hog's chances as a SWC title contender.

Arkansas had faced three straight throwing ball-clubs in its early season play, and it served to groom the Razorbacks for a fourth, Baylor, when the two met in Waco, October 9.

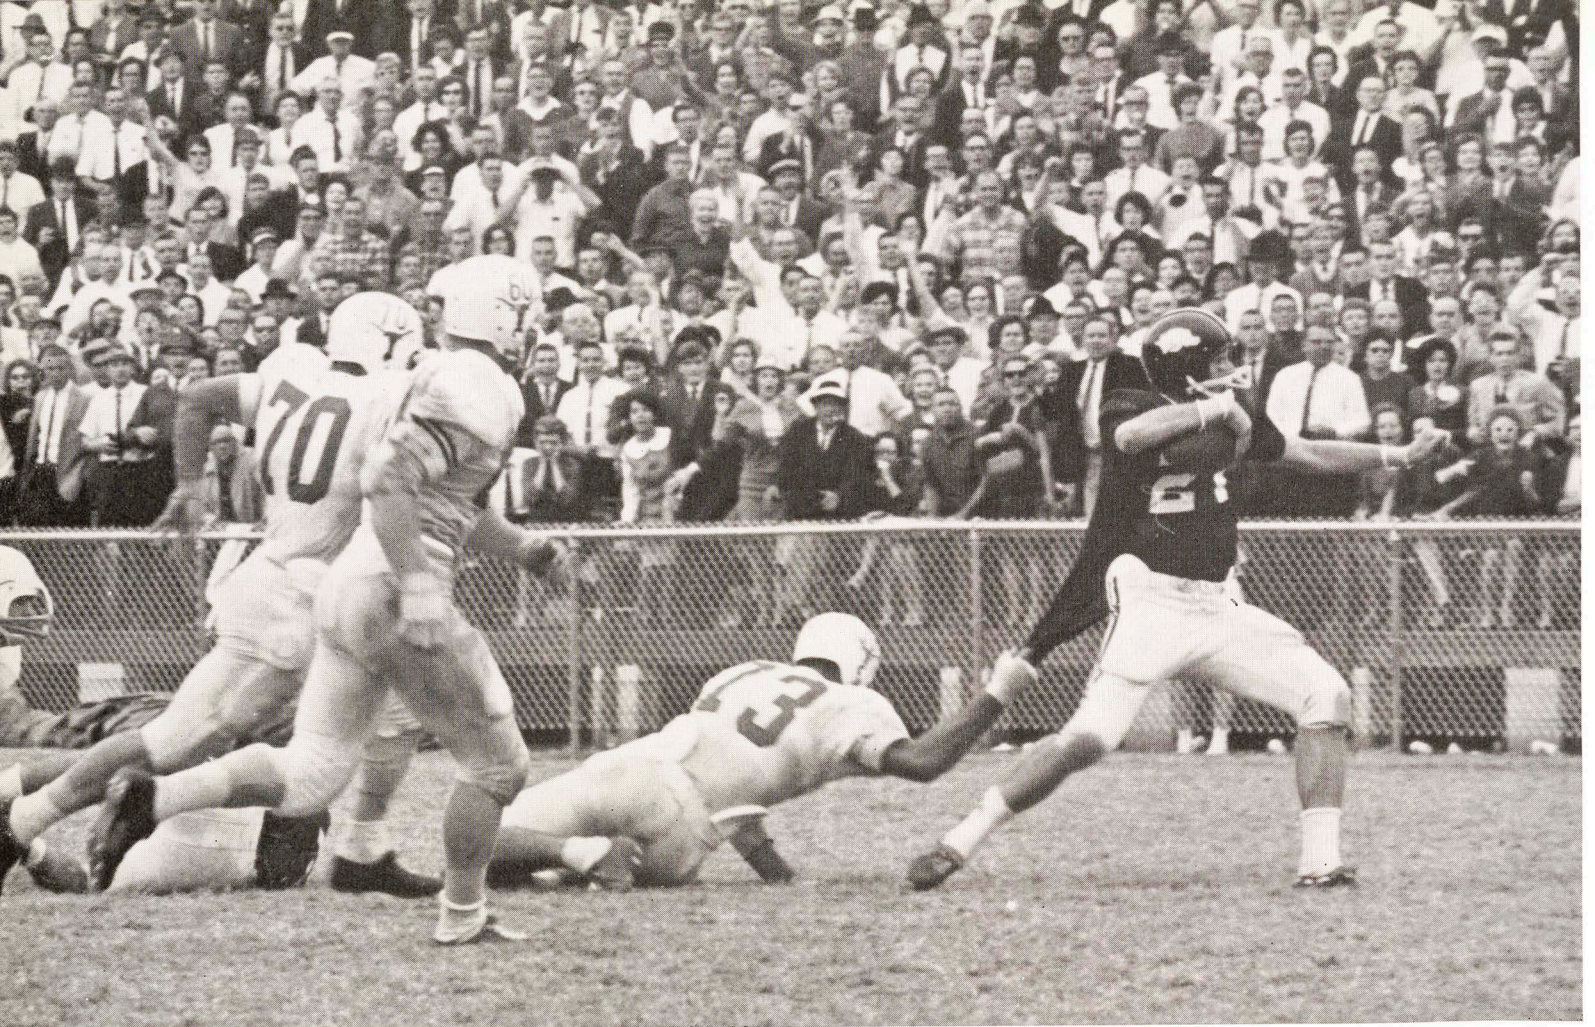

Baylor was hampered by the loss of ace passer Terry Southall, and the defensive backfield got the best of the Baylor subs with six interceptions. The Bears fumbled early, and on Arkansas' first offensive play Brittenum ducked his way 18 yards up the middle to the Baylor 26. Harry Jones scored four plays later. Baylor held the next Razorback drive at the 24, and South booted a three-pointer for a 10-0 lead. Then, with 25 seconds left in the half, Tommy Trantham picked off a Bear aerial and raced 69 yards to paydirt.

Jack Brasuell returned a Baylor punt to the four to start the third quarter, and Burnett scored on the next play. A high center to punter Bobby Nix gave Baylor the ball at the Hogs' 15, where Gene Cheshire caught the scoring pass — the first against Arkansas in six league games.

The Porkers finished with two fourth period scores.

Arkansas' blitz devastated Baylor's passing. Hartford Hamilton (88) vaults over his defender as the other Hogs swarm in for the kill.

With the Hogs 80 yards from victory, Jim Lindsey, dragging a Texan, fought his way for yardage. It sparked a desperation comeback.

Arkansas 27—Texas 24

An Arkansas-Texas game is exciting anywhere, even without national television coverage in color to spruce it up. But throw in a 16-0 Arkansas record, a 10-0 Texas record and the No. 1 national rating and the excitement boils.

First, Longhorn Phil Harris bobbled a punt on the five when hit by Richard Trail. Martine Bercher scrambled on it. Texas drove to the Arkansas 20 in retaliation, but Harris missed a handoff and defensive end Tommy Trantham caught the ball in mid-air and raced 77 yards for the second score. Arkansas led, 13-0. The Porkers drove to the Texas 15 early in the second period, where two plays later Bobby Crockett snagged an 11-yarder for the TD. Two TD's were called back. Texas surged back and led 24-21 with four minutes to go.

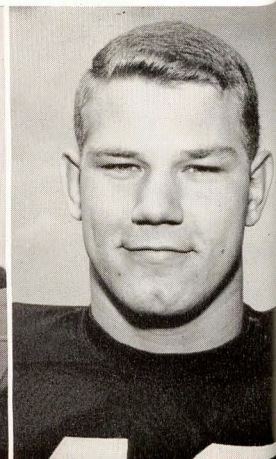

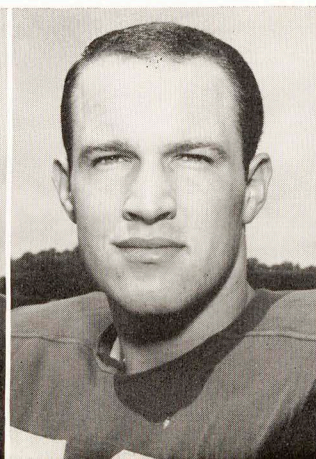

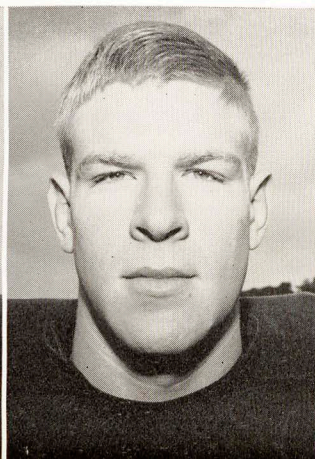

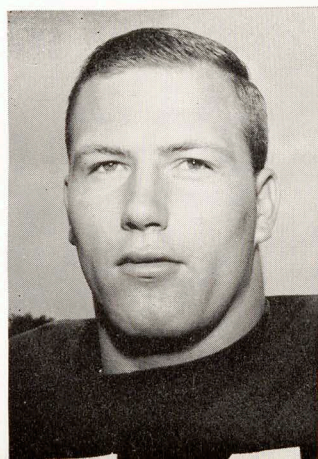

Brittenum and Crockett sparked the Arkansas offense with five passes for 68 yards in a last minute drive. The last snag was a diving catch for 14-yards at the Texas one. Brittenum dived over to send Razorback Stadium into pandemonium and the Hogs home with a 27-24 win and the No. 1 national rating.

Arkansas 55— North Texas 20

After the Arkansas-Texas game anything would look like an anti-climax. Most regarded the North Texas State game in Little Rock, October 23, as a breather.

But the Eagles proved that they were game for the No. 1 ranked Hogs and managed to push across three touchdowns, riddling Arkansas' young defensive secondary.

Arkansas scored twice early in the clash with a 58-yard scamper around end by Bobby Burnett to the two. Jon Brittenum kept from there for a 7-0 lead. Then Harry Jones topped that with an 83-yard sideline run.

But the Eagles' Gore Vidal hit James Bower with a short scoring pass. Then John Love got off a 67-yard punt return, and Arkansas led only 14-13.

Burnett made the third Arkansas score with a one-yard run, followed by a pass interception by Joe Black, which Burnett also turned into paydirt. Then Lindsey kept for ten yards, and minutes later, following another interception, he crossed from 15-yards out. In the final period, Jones took a pitchout to the one, where Burnett made it good, and Ronny South passed to Alvin Jones for the final score. Carlin passed for the game's final score late in the period.

Arkansas 31—Texas A&M 0

Going after win No. 19, the Razorbacks set out against the Texas A&M Aggies at Little Rock on October 30 with a ruthless defense and a powerful offense. The result, after a stalemate first period, was a 31-0 pasting of A&M at the hands of the Porkers, who found that they couldn't do anything wrong.

Arkansas put together a 77-yard drive early in the second period with Jim Lindsey, Harry Jones, Bobby Burnett and Bobby Crockett proving equally effective. Once inside the 20, Burnett hammered home with three successive carries. Burnett again ate up ground for the second score, plunging 29 yards in two carries before Jones brought down a 38-yard pass at the A&M seven. Then Burnett gave Arkansas a 14-0 lead. South added a 25-yard field goal to end the half, and the Hogs led 17-0.

Quarterback Jon Brittenum passed 12 yards to Lindsey early in the third quarter, and then Ronny South took over and engineered an 80-yard scoring drive that ended with South pitching a 39 yard pass to Crockett in the end zone. It was a flawless Arkansas performance.

Following a wall of blockers, Jim Lindsey sweeps around end for a large gain against the Aggies. The Porkers played errorless ball.

Arkansas 31—Rice 0

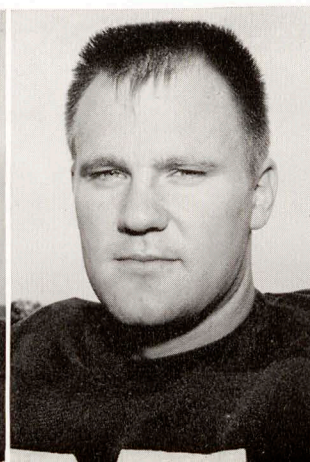

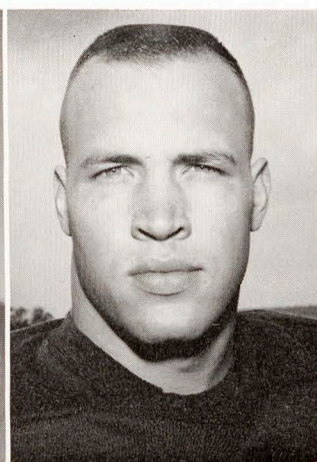

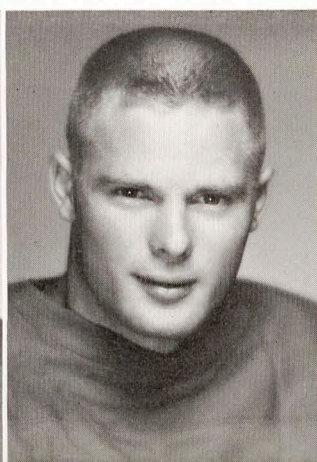

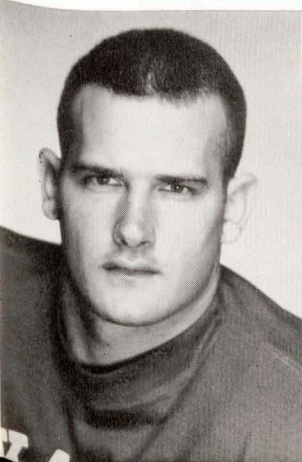

STATISTICS

The Texas win had been a psychological shot in the arm for the Razorbacks. Arkansas made it 20 in a row by downing the Rice Owls, who found themselves powerless to stop the Arkansas offense.

Brittenum took the Porkers 69-yards on the opening kick-off to pay dirt, scoring from five yards out on a run-pass option. Bobby Burnett was the big gun of the drive. Moments after the first score, Rice bobbled a hand-off, and Arkansas took charge, scoring with Ronny South booting a 37-yard field goal. Rice moved into scoring territory, but Bobby Roper picked off a Rice pass and was brought down at the Owl nine, where Burnett took only two carries to score. It stayed at 17-0 until the final period when Brittenum hit Crockett with a quick series of passes and then handed off to Burnett for the score.

Rice, continually in a hole, was forced to throw, and Lee Johnson picked off an Owl pass at the ten, where Jim Lindsey bruised over on the first play. It was Arkansas' second straight 31-0 shutout of a conference foe.

Arkansas 24—SMU 3

It was billed to be a meeting of the two best offenses in the conference, with Southern Methodist also a victor over once mighty Texas. And for about eight minutes, that's just the way SMU played it before 67,000 in the Cotton Bowl.

The Ponies drove quickly inside the Arkansas 20, where the Porker defense stiffened, and the Mustangs had to settle for a 33-yard field goal and an early 3-0 lead. But Arkansas hadn't had a chance with the ball yet. When the Hogs got a chance, they more than made up for it. Jon Brittenum hit Bob Crockett on the SMU 18, where Brittenum and Bobby Burnett moved the ball closer for Brittenum's go-ahead score. The Razorbacks got a 27-yard field goal in the second period out of Ronny South, and then Tommy Trantham intercepted a Mac White pass which set up the next TD. Harry Jones closed the half with a spectacular 25-yard pass play.

SMU managed only nine yards on the ground the second half. Burnett put the finishing touches on a Jon Brittenum-engineered drive with three plunges from nine yards out for the final score, 24-3.

Arkansas 42—Texas Tech 24

The Razorbacks knew that Texas Tech was the final stumbling block in the path of a second straight undefeated season, and with the Red Raiders breathing down Arkansas' neck for the conference title, it brought pressure to a peak. Tech was 8-1, and the winner of the Homecoming game would receive a Cotton Bowl bid.

It was Texas Tech all the way for the first eight minutes of the game. Booting a 29-yard field goal and recovering an Arkansas fumble, Tech was in the driver's seat.

Arkansas, shocked at being 10 points down, recovered on the next kick-off with Jon Brittenum hitting Bobby Burnett, Jim Lindsey and Richard Trail to give Arkansas the ball on the Tech 15. Burnett made it 10-7 with two plunges. But Tech couldn't be stopped. Wilson hit two quick passes and then sent Jeff White deep — he gathered in the ball in the end zone for a 17-7 Tech lead.

Before the half the Hogs put another score on the board with two long passes to Harry Jones, then a 13-yarder to Lindsey, who scored from the two on the next play. With Arkansas gaining momentum, the Red Raiders took a precarious 17-14 lead into halftime.

Jon Brittenum scampered in and around through the weak Texas Tech defense as the late-starting Porkers scored seven straight TD's in the romp.

Filling the air with footballs, Brittenum won the Back of the Week honors with passes to every available receiver — few missed.

Richard Trail caught one of the bombs on the two, put his head down and bowled through three Tech defenders to give the Hogs a 28-17 lead.

Wild, Wooly Second Half

Late in the second period, Tech held a 17-7 lead, but the next Arkansas score seconds before the half marked the beginning of a run of 35 straight points which finished off the Red Raiders.

Within two and a half minutes of the second half Arkansas had taken the lead. The key play was a 24-yard pass to Jim Lindsey, with Bobby Burnett gunning the final yardage from the 13.

Burnett, winner of the Crip Hall Award, was again the workhorse on a 73-yard drive which provided the insurance score. Once in striking range, Jon Brittenum hit Richard Trail first for 14-yards and then for ten, putting the Hogs ahead, 28-17.

The Red Raiders had bogged down, but Brittenum was just getting started. He hit Bobby Nix for 27-yards and two plays later found Tommy Burnett at the end line making it 35-17. Tech opened up aerially within its own territory, and Joe Black picked off a Tom Wilson pass and took it to the six. Burnett went over for the third time, breaking the school scoring record with 96 points and making it 42-17.

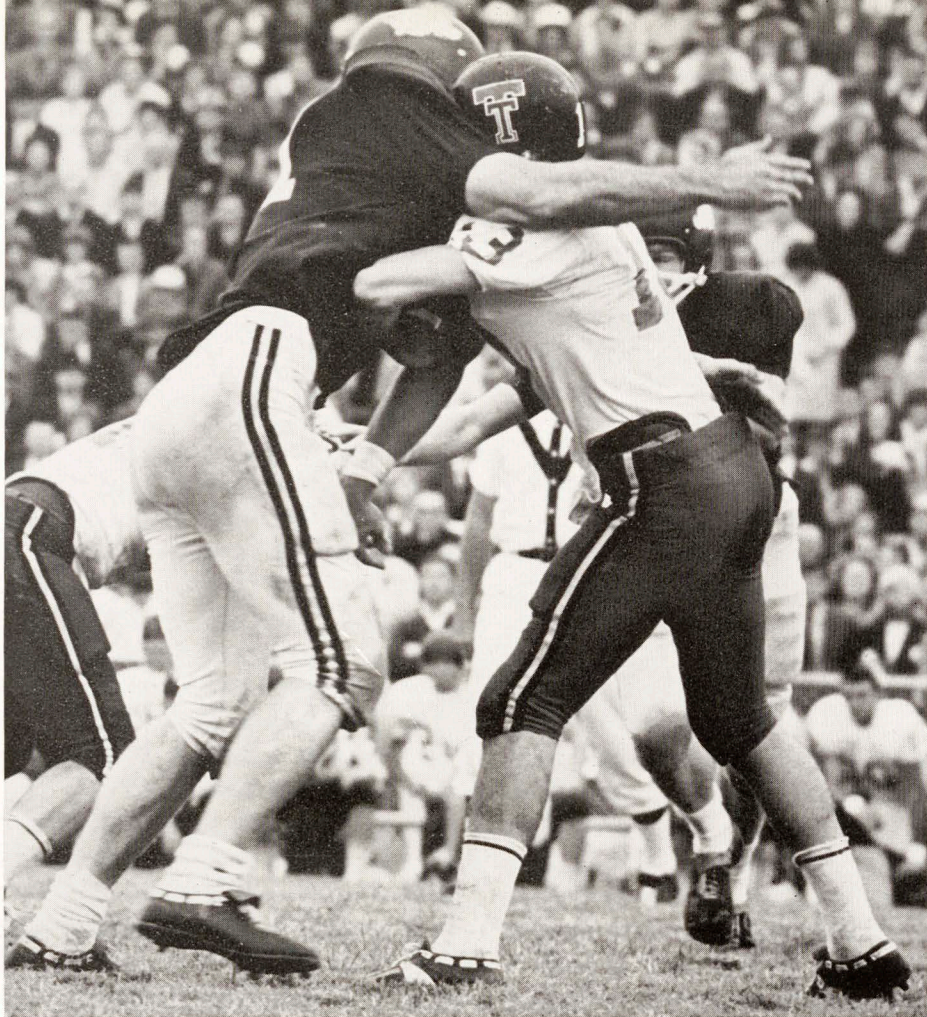

The Red Raiders put together one final drive, highlighted by a 44-yard pass to Anderson, who scored from the one. Arkansas was No. 2 nationally with a 22-0 winning streak and looking forward to the Cotton Bowl.

On plays such as this, Bounding Bobby rushed for over a hundred yards for the fifth straight time and set a school scoring record.

With Martine Bercher holding and Bobby Nix blocking, Ronny South was Mr. Reliable when called upon for a three-pointer or PAT.

The Porker defense stormed through to stop Tech during the crucial third period comeback.

Slashing and ripping his way through the Tech line and into the secondary, Burnett demolished Raider hopes for an upset victory.

The other Burnett, Tommy, hurtles through the end zone after making an unbelievable catch between the goal posts and a Texas Tech defender.

Porker Offense Shines

Wading through a bevy of big-shouldered but weak-kneed Red Raiders, Harry Jones scampers for extra-yardage.

Jon Brittenum is caught from behind after eluding a host of Tech players on a run-pass option. Brittenum romped all day long.

A complete picture of dejection — coach Frank Broyles mourns the loss of a winning streak that was being hailed as the next great dynasty.

Arkansas 7—LSU 14

There was a holiday mood in the air. Everywhere the game was being billed as a one-sided affair with most of the weight leaning toward the Razorbacks, and even the most calloused LSU fan professed his team with a trace of doubt in his voice.

On New Year's Day the stage was set, but somewhere along the line someone forgot to tell the Tigers that they were the underdogs.

Harry Jones put Arkansas on the Hog 41 with a 20-yard sweep around end, sparking the Porker's scoring drive. Jon Brittenum found Bobby Crockett eight yards out at the 49 and then let Bobby Burnett put it in LSU territory on the next two carries.

The Porkers struck to the LSU 19 where Brittenum rolled left and found Crockett again, at the twelve, and the slippery All-American cut down the sidelines for the first score.

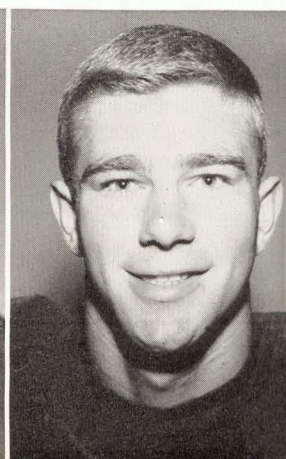

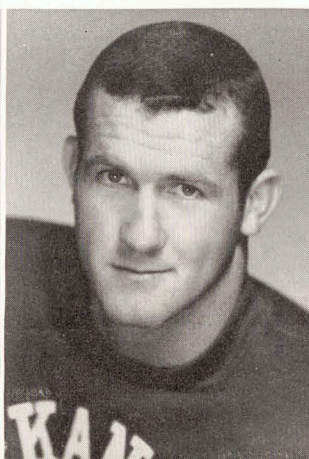

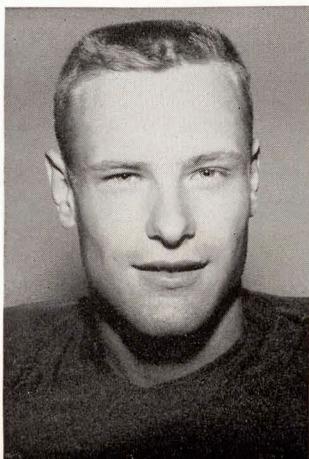

Stokley moved in at quarterback for LSU and moved the Tigers into Arkansas territory where Screen took over. Suddenly the Bengals were at the Arkansas 26. Masters and LaBruzzo combined to move the ball to the 19, where LaBruzzo decided he didn't need any more help and in four successive carries, the largest for seven yards, gave LSU the tying score.

Comedy Of Errors Puts LSU On Top

The Hogs stormed back with Jones taking a pitchout around left end and powering 15 yards to the Arkansas 34. Doom came to Hog country when Brittenum sustained a shoulder injury on the following play and Ronny South took over. His bobble of the pigskin on the first play began a series of errors which struck the whole Razorback camp.

The Tigers seemed to get all the breaks and that fumble recovery was probably the most important of all. Screen hit Moreau for 12, then gave it to LaBruzzo who pounded the left side of the line five straight times until he jumped across for the go-ahead score.

The second half was an all-out defensive battle for both squads, spiced by a comedy of errors. A heavy rain hampered the passing game, but Brittenum's injured arm was the biggest drawback.

Neither team challenged seriously in the third quarter. LSU got a big break when Nix' punt slithered off the side of his foot, and LSU got possession of the pigskin on its own 46. This time it was Dousay who was the workhorse of the drive. He galloped repeatedly until LSU was installed on the Arkansas three with a first and ten. The Razorbacks made the greatest defensive stand of the year, holding the Tigers four times inside the ten, and forcing a field goal try by Moreau. Hard-charging Porker defenders hurried the kick and it went wide from the 19.

Time was growing short for the Porkers.

But Brittenum began hitting Crockett in another Texas-type series with 8:27 showing. He found him for eight yards on the first try, then handed to Burnett who picked up the first down. Crockett snagged a 16-yarder along the sidelines, and then Burnett broke for 18 up the middle. And then it happened. Brittenum rolled right and tried for Crockett one more time, but an LSU defender was there and came up with the toss on the 20.

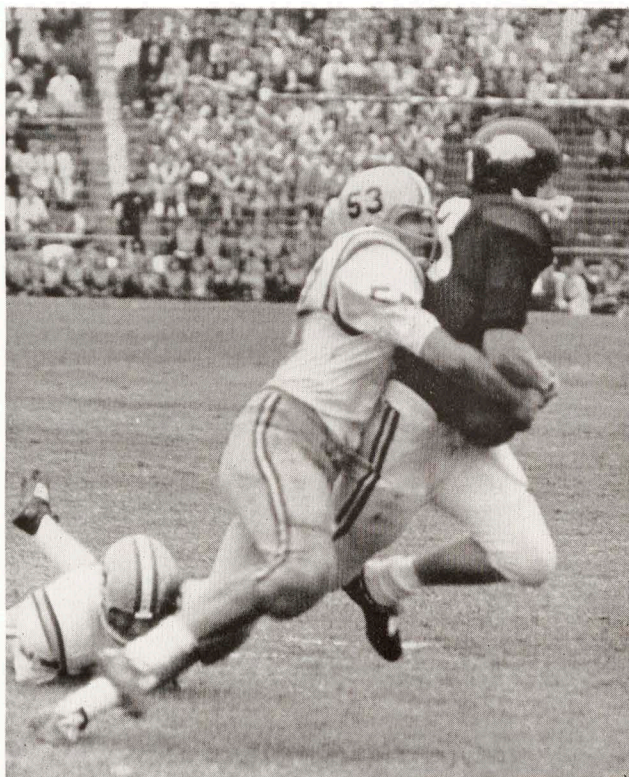

Forcing the Tigers to punt, the Hogs set up shop again on their own 11 — 89 yards from 23-0 and a second national championship. Things were desperate to say the least. And like a champion, the Hogs responded to the 60,000 Hog voices in the stands and began one last drive.

First, Brittenum hit Crockett for 23 yards on three passes; then to Jones for 12 more. The clock showed 1:05 left with the Porkers on the LSU 28. Jones lost 7 yards on the next play and only 32 seconds were left. Brittenum faded back and the Cotton Bowl held its breath. Crockett was all alone on the left sidelines at the 24. But the LSU defenders caught up with him and the clock ticked off the last seven seconds with the Porkers desperately trying to huddle.

All Arkansas cried.

Richard Trail waits for a Jon Brittenum pass for short yardage during the fourth quarter drive to catch the Bengal Tigers.

Amazing Bobby Crockett, Arkansas' All-American pass catcher, leaped, twisted and dived for passes throughout the game.

Another of Crockett's specialties, the diving, one-handed catch, moved the Razorbacks within scoring distance of the goal.

The straw that broke the camel's back, Joe LaBruzzo (22) follows his blocking over the right side of the Hog defensive line.

Razorbacks Finish High For Rose

The 1965-66 basketball season will probably rank as one of the most memorable campaigns in recent years. Some will remember it because of the many upsets which the Hogs pulled and some for the impressive 14-10 season. But above all that, it will be remembered as the year in which Glen Rose, the dean of Southwest Conference coaches, retired.

Picked as the probable cellar team in the league along with Rice, the Razorbacks didn't live up to that prediction, although the Owls did. Rose was quick to point out that the pre-season pollsters knew just about as much of what was going to happen as he did, but he was picking the Hogs for an upper-division finish.

The opener with Kansas, ranked eighth nationally, on December 1 almost cancelled the optimism which Rose had drummed up. The offensive-minded Jayhawks pasted the Hogs, 81-52.

Arkansas then put together a five game winning streak before going home for Christmas by downing Missouri, 75-62; Oklahoma St., 55-52; Centenary, 90-61; Phillips 66, 75-64 and Arlington St., 78-64. The highlight of those wins came in the Centenary game when Ricky Sugg broke a 25-year old scoring record of 36 points by scoring 42.

Over the holidays, the Porkers entered the Sun Bowl Classic only to find themselves paired with the nation's fourth-ranked team, Iowa. The Hogs put quite a scare into the taller Hawkeyes before falling on a tip-in at the gun 77-75. Arkansas won the second-place trophy with a 67-57 win over Loyola of New Orleans.

Hogs' Home Court Advantage Holds

Surprising the experts, the Razorbacks opened SWC play with a 6-2 record — best in the conference. However, TCU threw the monkey wrench into the works in the first game with an upset 88-85 victory.

The Porkers stormed back for an upset win of their own, 74-65 over Texas Tech, but again hit a blank wall by losing to Texas A&M, 75-72 at College Station. Rebounding back at home, the Porkers knocked Texas out of the SWC lead with a 93-82 win. Arkansas took a 7-4 overall record into the finals break and rested in third place in the conference.

Over the semester break Arkansas downed Mississippi St., 69-61, in Little Rock and lost to Georgia Tech in Atlanta, 88-75.

The second half of conference play began on a sour note as SMU nudged the Hogs, 75-74, in Fayetteville. But two straight wins, 78-59 over Baylor and 76-71 over Rice, moved the Hogs back into contention in a race that was steadily bunching-up at the top.

Baylor knocked the wind out of the Porkers again with a 82-71 victory in Waco only for the Hogs to bounce back against the hapless Rice Owls for a narrow 73-67 win.

With five games remaining in the season, the Razorbacks still had two home contests remaining, and Rose hoped the home court advantage would hold so that it would insure a high finish for the Hogs.

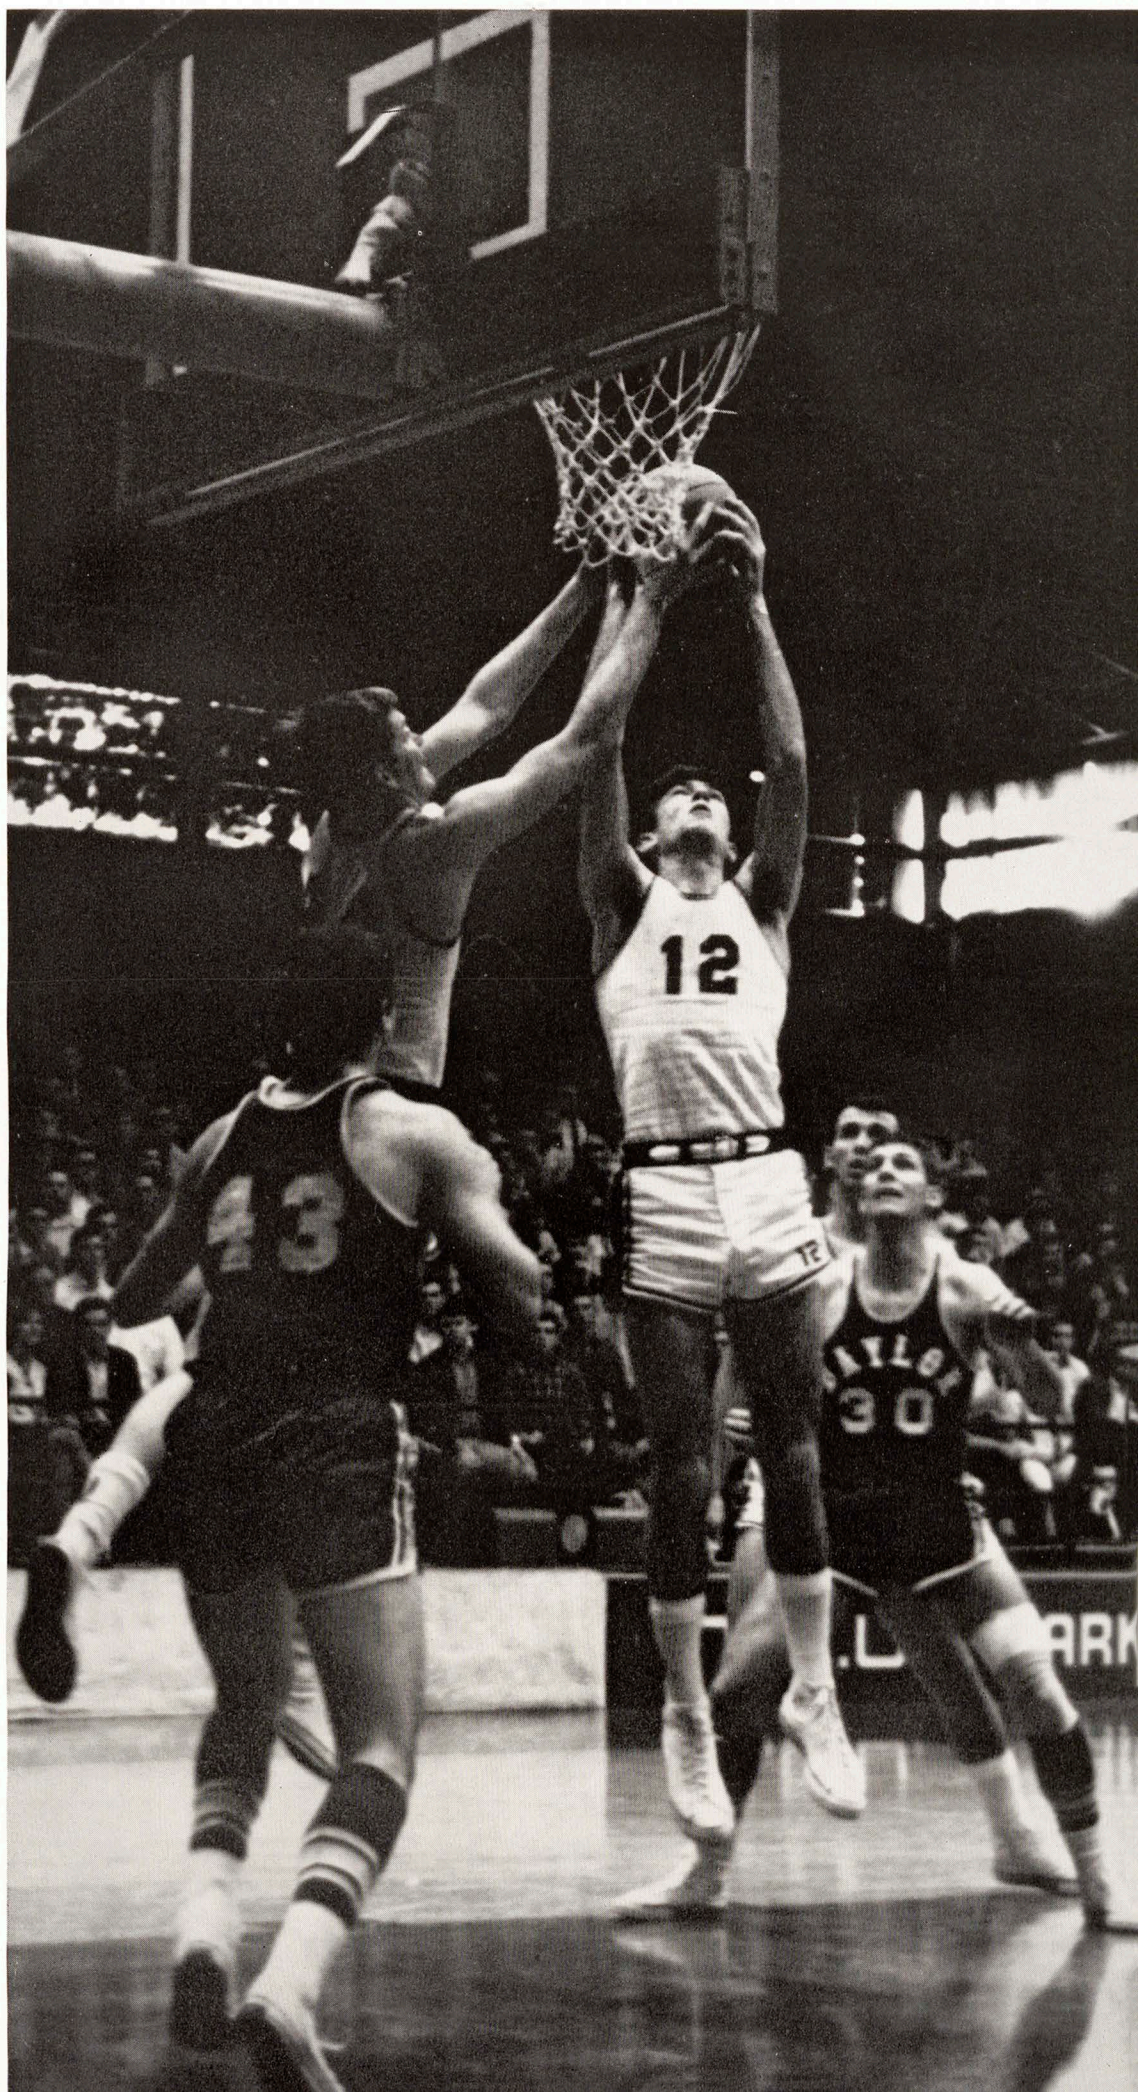

Sugg slid and dived after loose balls in leading the Porker defense, the conference's best, to many thefts from opponents.

The Razorbacks battled fiercely under the basket for rebounds against the much taller teams and sometimes came out on top.

Team work under the basket like that of Rowland and McConnell was responsible for many rebounds the Short Hogs got.

Porkers Knock A&M Out Of Title

The home court advantage did hold, not only for the Razorbacks, but for the opposition as well. SMU came back in the last minute with two great plays to squeeze by the Hogs, 67-66. Arkansas retaliated with a record shattering 65% field goal average and a 91-73 win over TCU at home.

Two successive road games put the Hogs completely out of the title picture. First, Texas Tech took a 74-70 win in Lubbock and then the Longhorns responded with a like win by the same score in Austin.

With a winning season in sight and the final contest set for six seniors, the Razorbacks came out ready to take on A&M when the teams met in Fayetteville for the season finale, March 2.

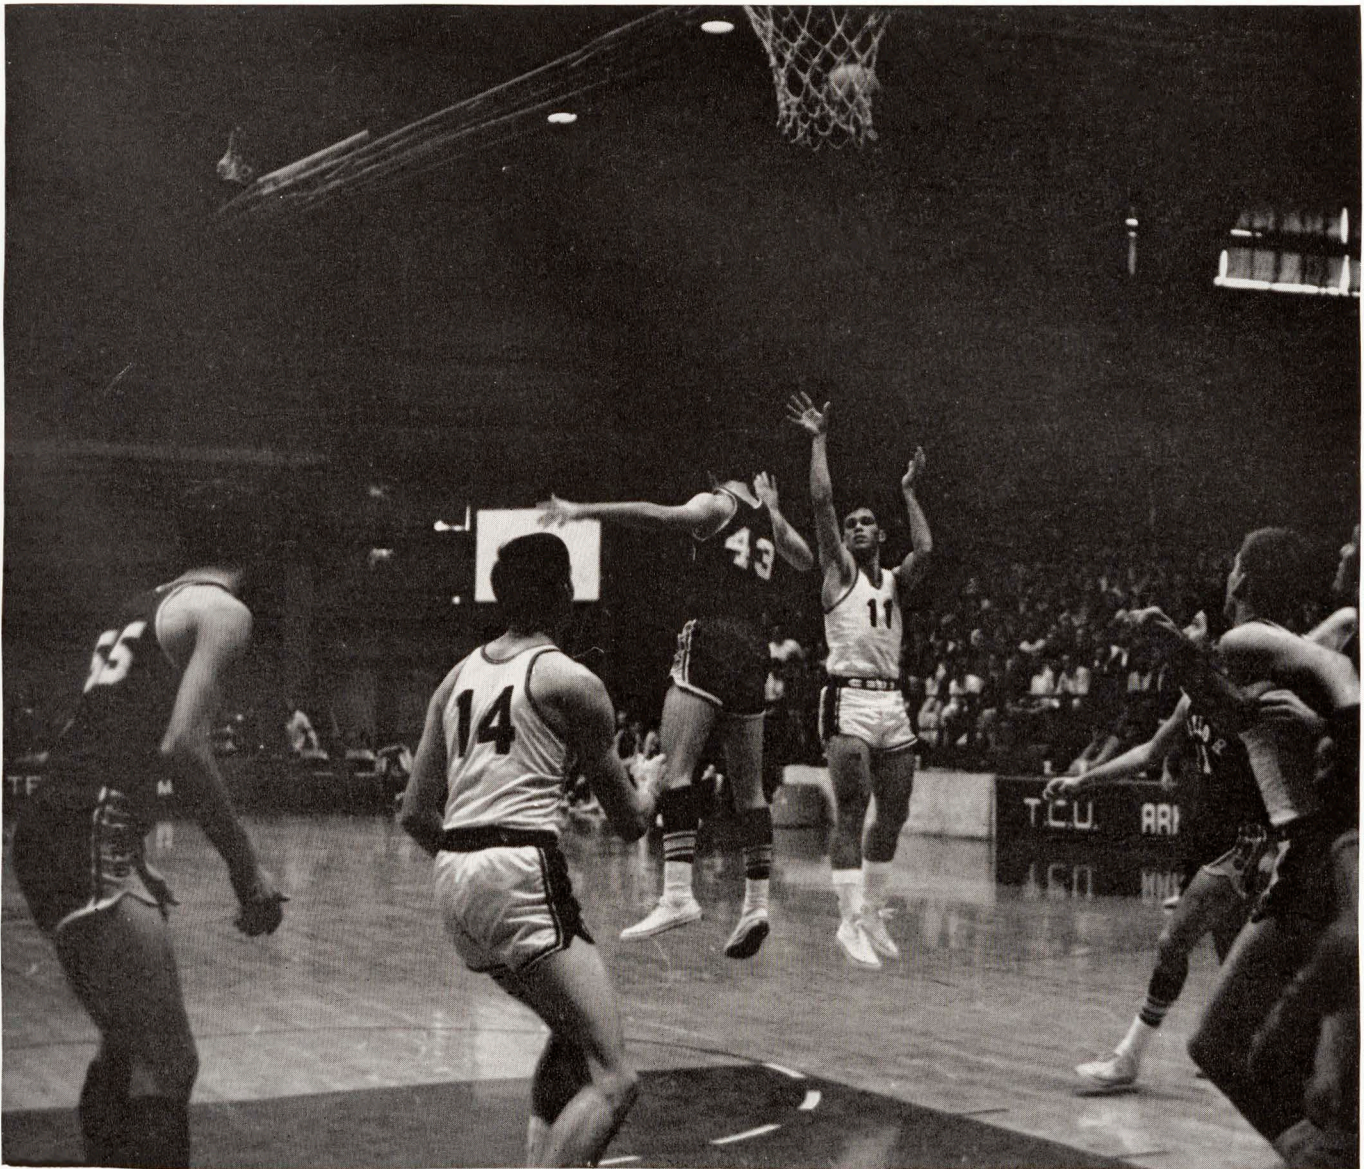

A special senior appreciation night was held, and the Razorbacks made the most of it, giving the fans a 43-33 half-time lead, and going on to win, 94-71.

By winning, Arkansas kept A&M out of a play-off with SMU. The Aggies had to beat Arkansas to win the title if SMU lost to Texas Tech, but SMU won and the Aggies lost.

Talkington scored a career high with 29 points, hitting from under the basket and outside as well.

Not many people realized it, but the Razorbacks had a 10-1 record at home, one of the best stands in recent years. Arkansas finished tied for fourth in the SWC, giving Rose the opportunity to bow out with an upper division finish and a winning 14-10 year.

Sugg finished as season scoring leader and McConnell took the rebounding title for conference play with 115. Talkington and McConnell tied for the overall rebounding mark with 196 apiece. The Razorbacks also finished with a 75.1 scoring average compared to a 71.0 output by opposition.

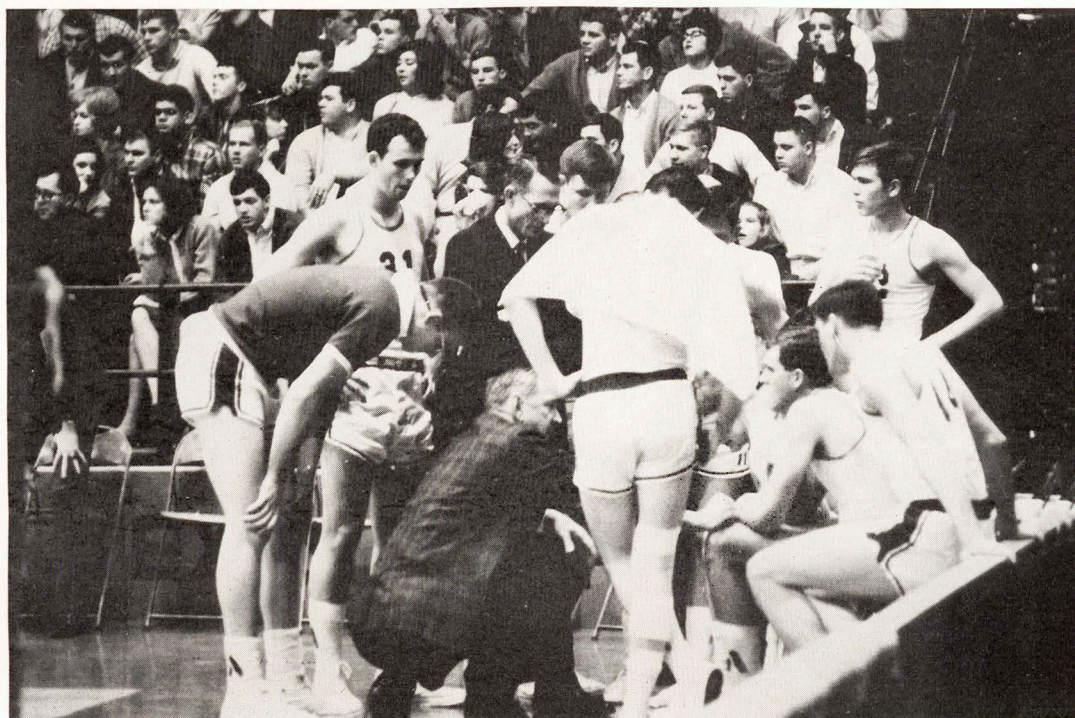

An unbeatable combination, Rousseau arches one up from the free throw line while Cook (14) and McConnell get position under the basket.

Rousseau, one of the co-captains, takes over from Glen Rose to explain a weakness during a time-out against A&M. Hogs stomped the Aggies.

Rose gets down on his knees in the huddle to explain to Talkington how to play big Randy Matson.

Glen Rose Bows Out A Legend

Glen Rose was more than an ordinary basketball coach at Arkansas. He was an institution.

He was the kind of coach who took each loss personally as he did each win, but he never let it show. Rose was practically a legend in his ability to sit impassionately through games no matter what the circumstances on the court.

For several years he pondered retirement, but it was always in the midst of a season, and afterwards, he later admitted, he would look back on the year, and it didn't seem so hard. By the time the spring semester was over, it was too late for him to retire, and besides, by then he had decided he didn't really want to in the first place.

Rose started thinking more seriously about retirement when the 1965-66 season rolled around. He would have six seniors for this team and his complete starting unit returning. When they graduated it would mean another re-building year and perhaps two more seasons before his work bore fruit. It was either retire after this season or remain for at least three more years, because Rose didn't believe in giving up on anything he started. The rumor quickly spread that this season would be his last. Rose wouldn't say yes, and he wouldn't say no. Instead, he adopted a type of quiet "wait and see".

For his last group of seniors he had great expectations, and they provided him with his final winning season. The year began with a loss to Kansas, but followed with a five-game streak that brought the team to life and a top-twenty national rating. In his final year, Arkansas lost only one game on its home court — and that to the SWC champ, SMU, by one point. The Razorbacks lost the SWC championship by 10 points. That was the total point spread in the crucial games that could have gone either way.

Rose, a native of North Little Rock, lettered and was an All-SWC performer in basketball three years on three consecutive conference championship teams.

He took over the head basketball position in 1933 and also served as line coach on the football team. In 1942, he left the position for the war, and when he returned, was named head football coach for 1944-45. The following year he assumed the University business manager post, and it took a toll in his health.

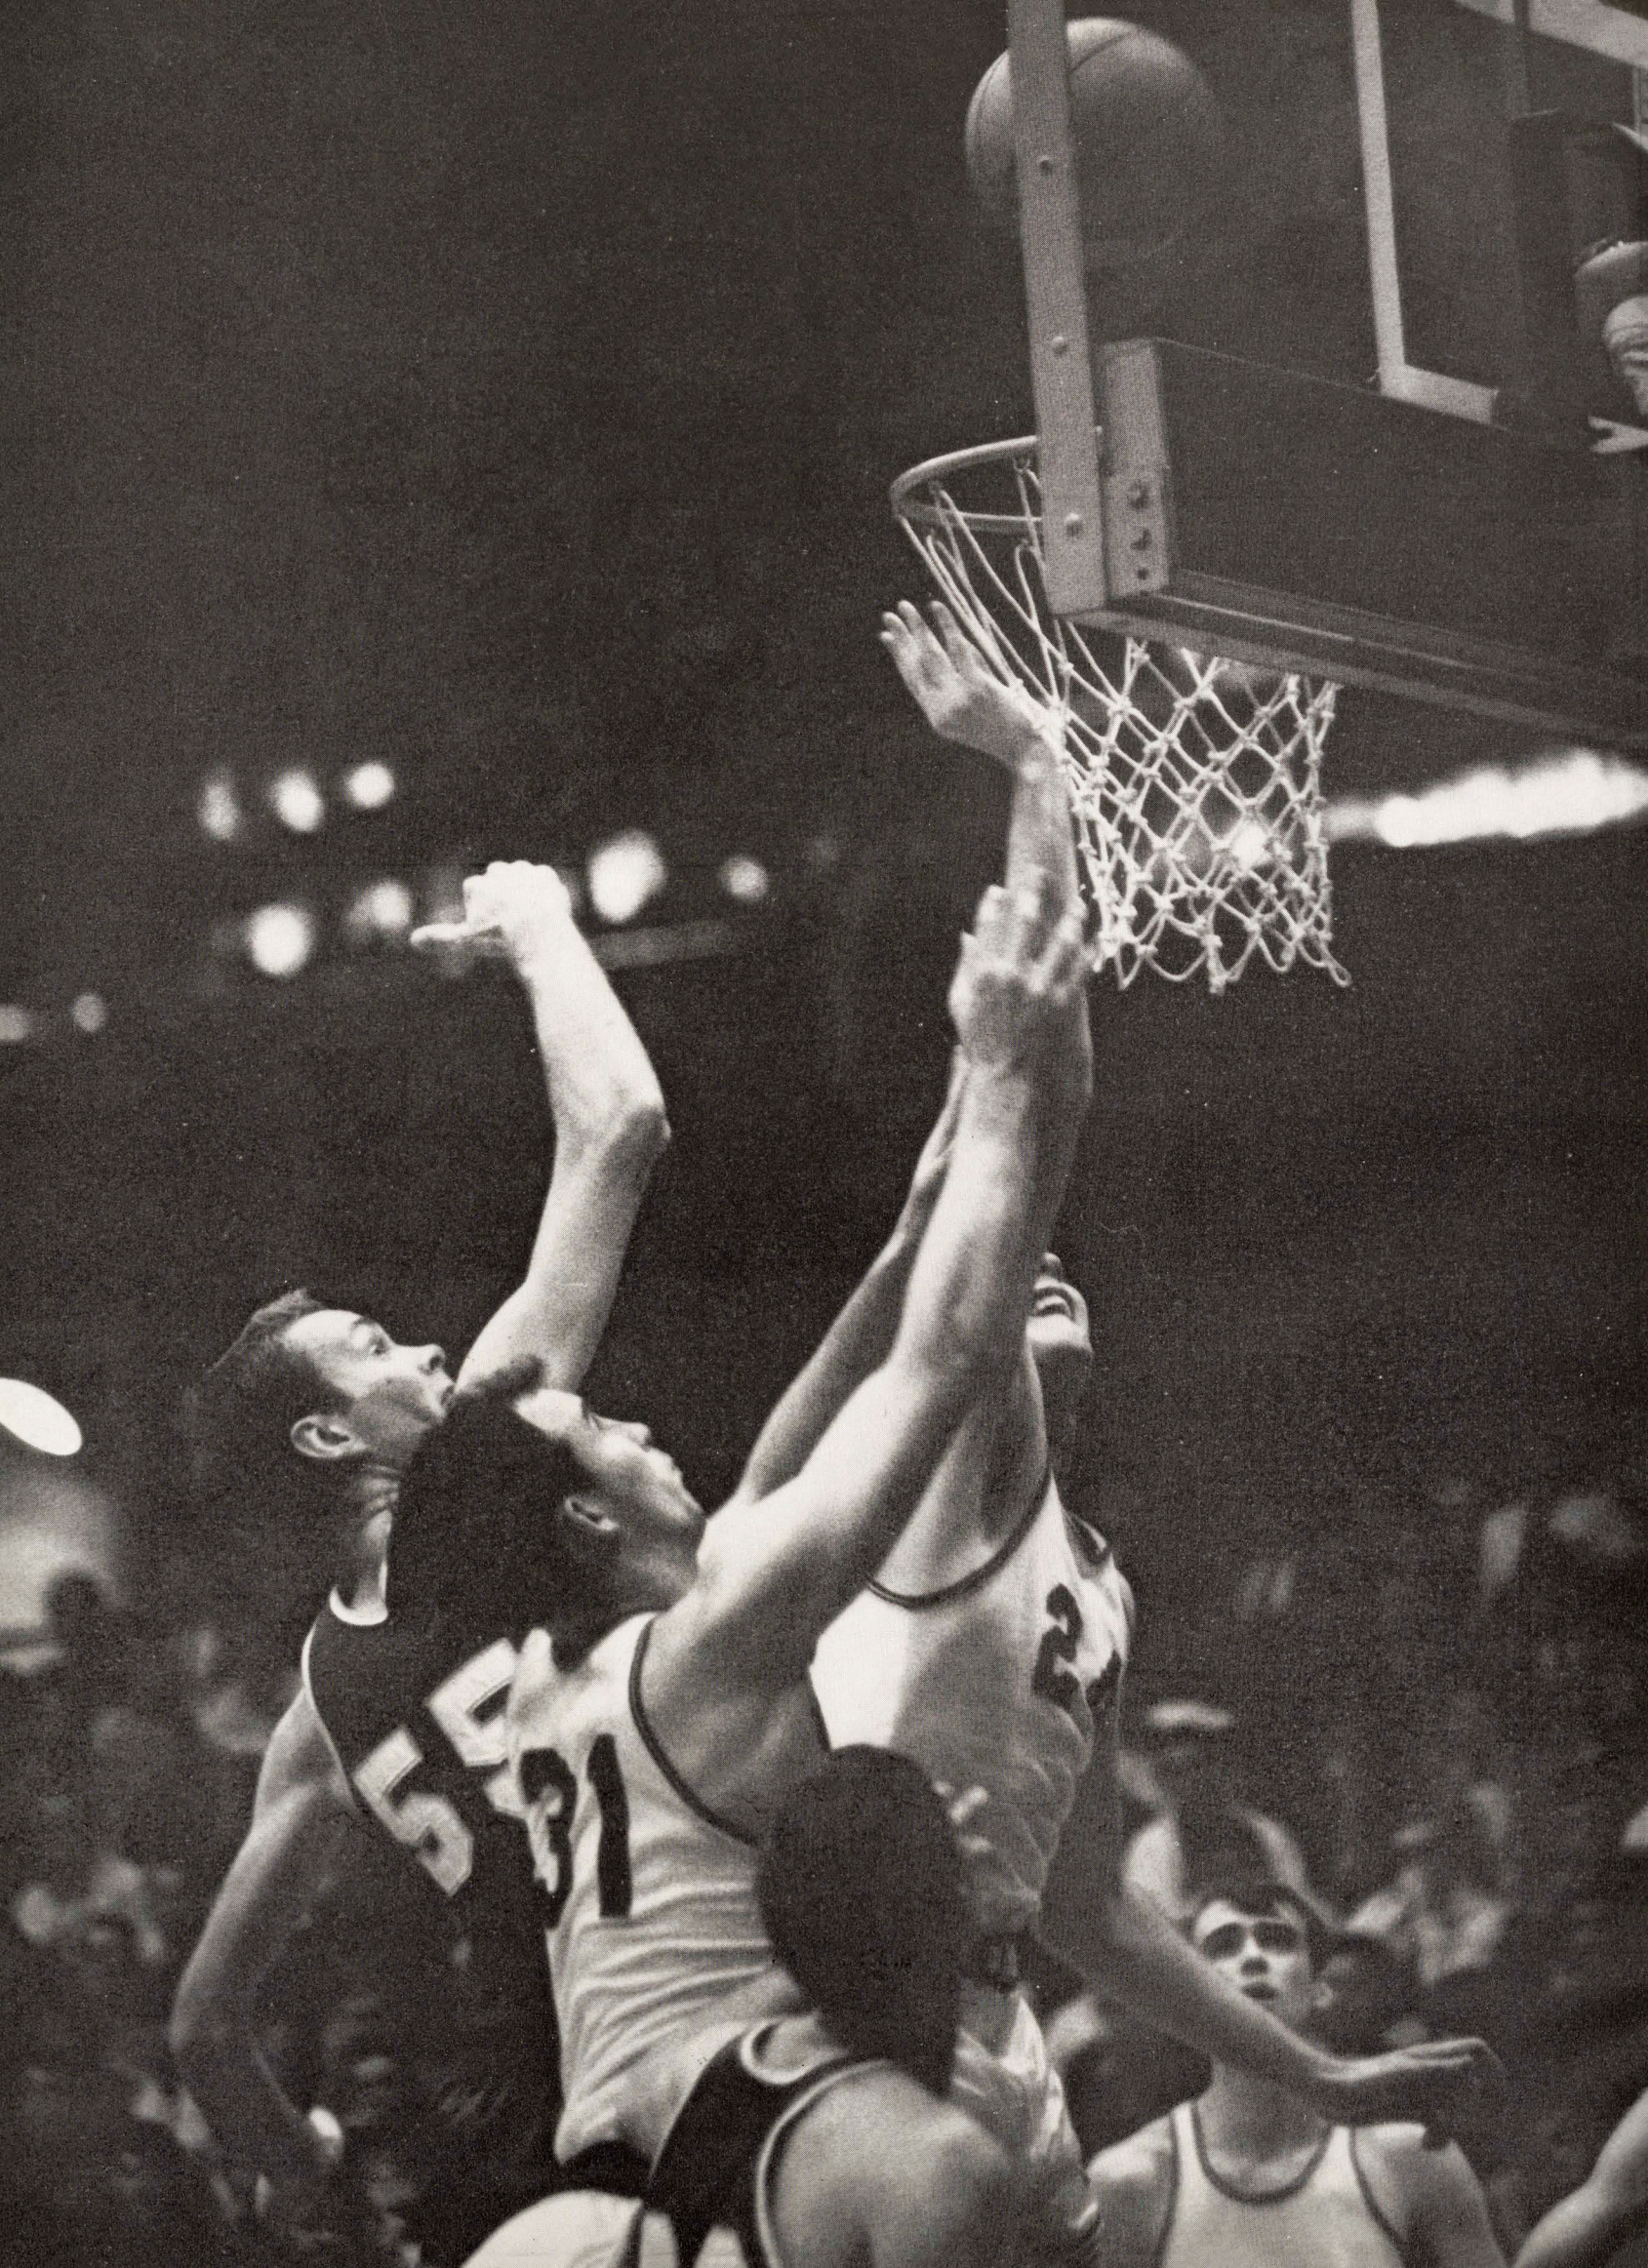

During his 23 coaching years at Arkansas, he produced six SWC titles, an Olympic tournament team, 22 All-SWC players, and the ninth best winning record in the nation, 328-202. He played on the 1927-28 team which was undefeated, and coached the 1940-41 unbeaten team.

Rose played basketball the defensive way, following along the line of Hank Iba's Oklahoma State team. He was one of the most successful coaches in the nation with his style, but when the accent switched to offense, Rose made the switch too.

With Rose's retirement comes the end of an era. He didn't say much about it, but that was just the plain old Glen manner. Deep down, Rose will miss the excitement which he directed for over two and a half decades, but the Arkansas fans will miss him too.

Rose-watchers among Razorback fans know that this is the typical pose, nervous and on edge, that he assumes for all games.

Chuck Hemingway, gasping for breath, leads the cross country team into the last leg in a tri-meet with Oklahoma and Oklahoma City.

Tracksters Put In Record Season

The Arkansas track team, under coach Ab Bidwell, put in another record season, setting five new varsity marks, four new freshman records and finishing second in the Southwest Conference cross country meet.

Bidwell, now in his twelfth year as the Arkansas head coach, has led his squad to four cross country championships as well as 18 SWC gold medals.

Varsity marks were established this year in the mile run, the two-mile relay, the distance medley, mile relay and pole vault. The two-mile relay team of Curt May, Ron Kolb, John Auffet and Bige Wray was ranked eighth in the nation.

Freshman marks were established in the 440-yard relay, the shot put, the discus throw and the high jump. The Arkansas distancemen placed runner-up behind Texas in the annual three-mile cross country meet.

The Razorbacks attended several national relays, including the Kansas State Invitational, the Kansas Relays, the Drake Relays and were host to the Arkansas Relays, in addition to competing in the SWC meet.

The Shoat high-jump record was broken because of championship form such as exhibited here in an afternoon practice session.

Hogs Break Nine Records In Meets

The trickiest part of the high jump is getting that last leg over the bar without tipping it — the slightest jar will knock it down.

Much of the track team's time is spent in running practice legs around the track in Razorback Stadium or on the city streets.

The hurdles event requires speed, agility and quick reflexes.

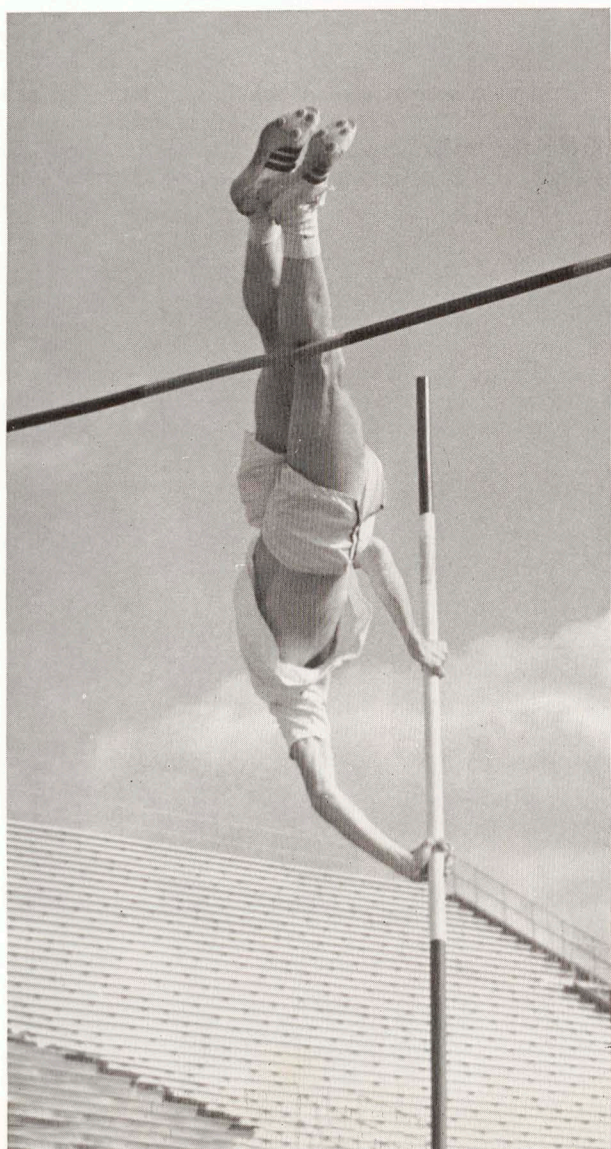

Barry Bearden has been Arkansas' top pole vaulter for several years because of his concentration.

The pole vault event has gained national recognition in the past few years because of the attempts to crack the 17-foot barrier.

Pushing the bar away and quickly withdrawing his arms, Ken Sharp exhibits the form that helped him crack the UA pole vault record.

Fiber glass poles have made it possible for trackmen to soar higher and at an extreme vertical angle.

The bat cracks, and the ball soars upward, but the batter only moans because it is only a pop-up and a sure out for the baseball Hogs.

Porkers May Join SWC Baseball

Head coach Wayne Robbins' main problem at the first of the year was a weak defense, but plays like this strengthened it at the end.

This past season was a rebuilding year for new head baseball coach Wayne Robbins. When he accepted the post he found himself without a solid nucleus for the team, and with only a fairly complete pitching staff.

So he began recruiting and came up with a core of junior college transfers to help fill the gaps this season, as well as several promising freshmen with which to build his program.

Robbins, a former All-Southeast Conference pitcher, has plans for the Razorbacks to begin competition in the Southwest Conference loop. The team opened with two games against Baylor and Texas Christian, marking the first time that the Razorbacks have competed against conference foes.

With only three seniors and the remainder sophomores and juniors, Robbins put the Washington County Fairgrounds to good use. He outlined an active schedule with seven doubleheaders, and top baseball competition from about the South.

Although the defense was faring poorly at the beginning of the season, it rounded into form in later contests and Robbins feels his big drawback next year will be power at the plate.

He plans another extensive recruiting program this summer. Last year he obtained players from seven states.

Golfers Second In SWC

It was a surprise season for the UofA golfers, as well as golf coach Duddy Waller. The Razorbacks finished second in the final SWC standings, and lost the crown by only one-half a point.

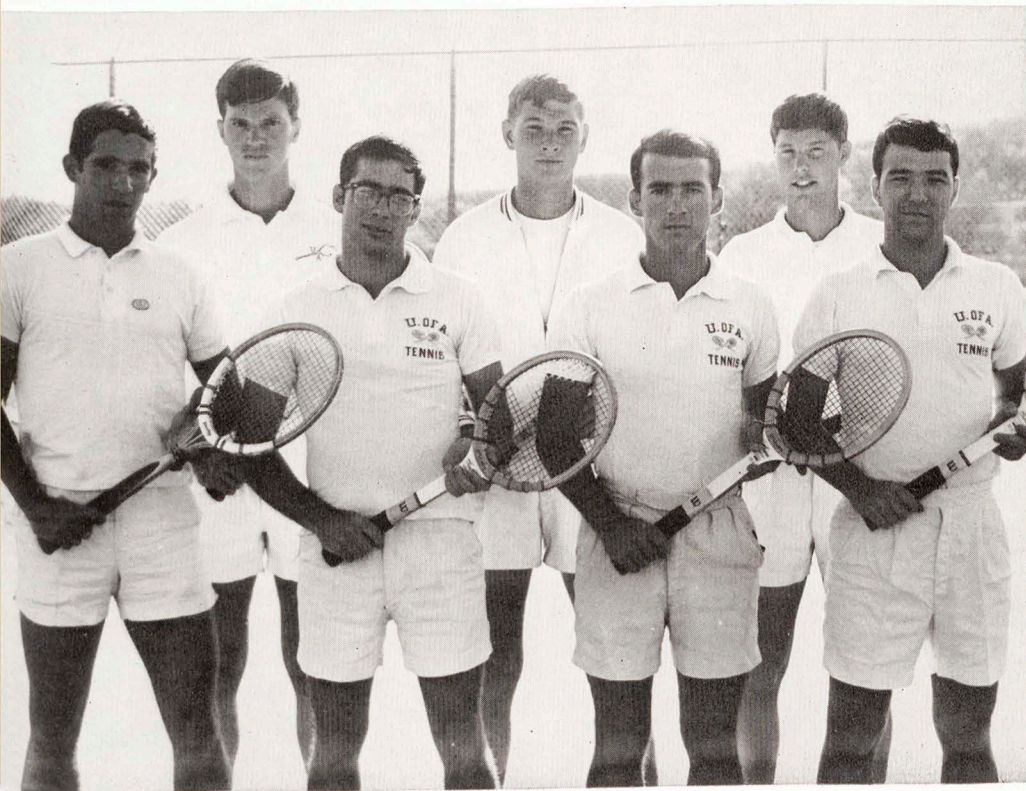

The golfers competed in 15 matches during the season, including seven conference matches. Baylor won the crown with 25 points, Arkansas had 24½ and Texas trailed with 24.

None of the team members are seniors and Waller is looking for an even stronger team next year with the help of top-flight freshmen moving up.

Netmen Gain Experience

The Porker tennis squad, under the direction of new coach Dr. Dale Robey, was faced with the problem of too little experience and an ambitious schedule this season.

A highlight of the season was a four-match win streak late in the year against several top opponents including nationally ranked Wichita State. The netman also played such prominent teams as North Texas St., East Texas St., Southern Illinois and Washington University. The complete squad returns next season and gives coach Robey both depth and experience.

First Row: Barry, Chaney, Setliff, Long. Second Row: Reding, Harding, Buell.

Shoats Gather Game Experience

A tenacious defense characterized the '65 frosh as they harass the OSU quarterback into a quick pass that was intercepted.

It was a big year for the football and basketball Shoats. Both teams finished their respective seasons on the winning side. The freshmen football team went 3-2, bringing their five-year record to 22-2-1, with three undefeated seasons.

The Shoat basketballers also did well, finishing 10-2, losing once to Bacone Junior College and once to Crowder Junior College.

The Shoat football team opened with SMU, losing 14-10 to the Ponies. But in the next outing against Texas Tech, the freshmen downed the Picadors, 23-19.

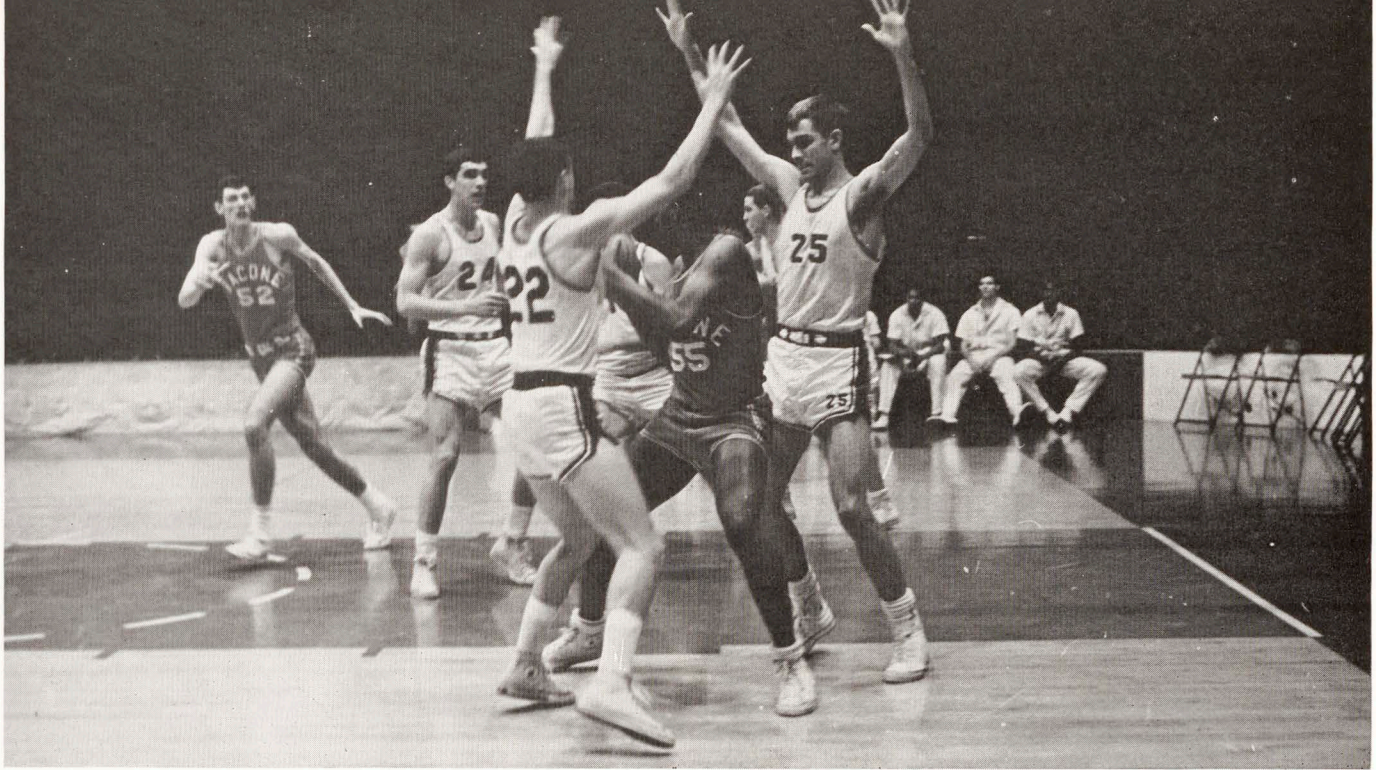

Oklahoma State's frosh came to Fayetteville for the Shoats' only home game of the year, and the Arkansas frosh won 17-0. In a game in which all field goals were scored, North Texas State handed the Shoats their second loss, 6-3. A 35-24 win over the Tulsa Gales capped the season.

Fullback Glen Hockersmith was the leading ground gainer for the season, picking up 246 yards on 56 carries. He was followed by Mickey Smith with 131 yards.

Noel Dempsey was the leading passer with 18 of 35 complete for 286 yards. Gary Adams was second in that category with 15 of 33 for 194 yards. David Cox was the leading receiver, snagging 14 passes for 270 yards. Bruce Maxwell trailed him with 14 for 124. Cox and Adams were the leading scorers with 18 points apiece.

The Shoat offense gained experience in the Broyles-brand of the I formation, and by the OSU game they were able to turn on steam.

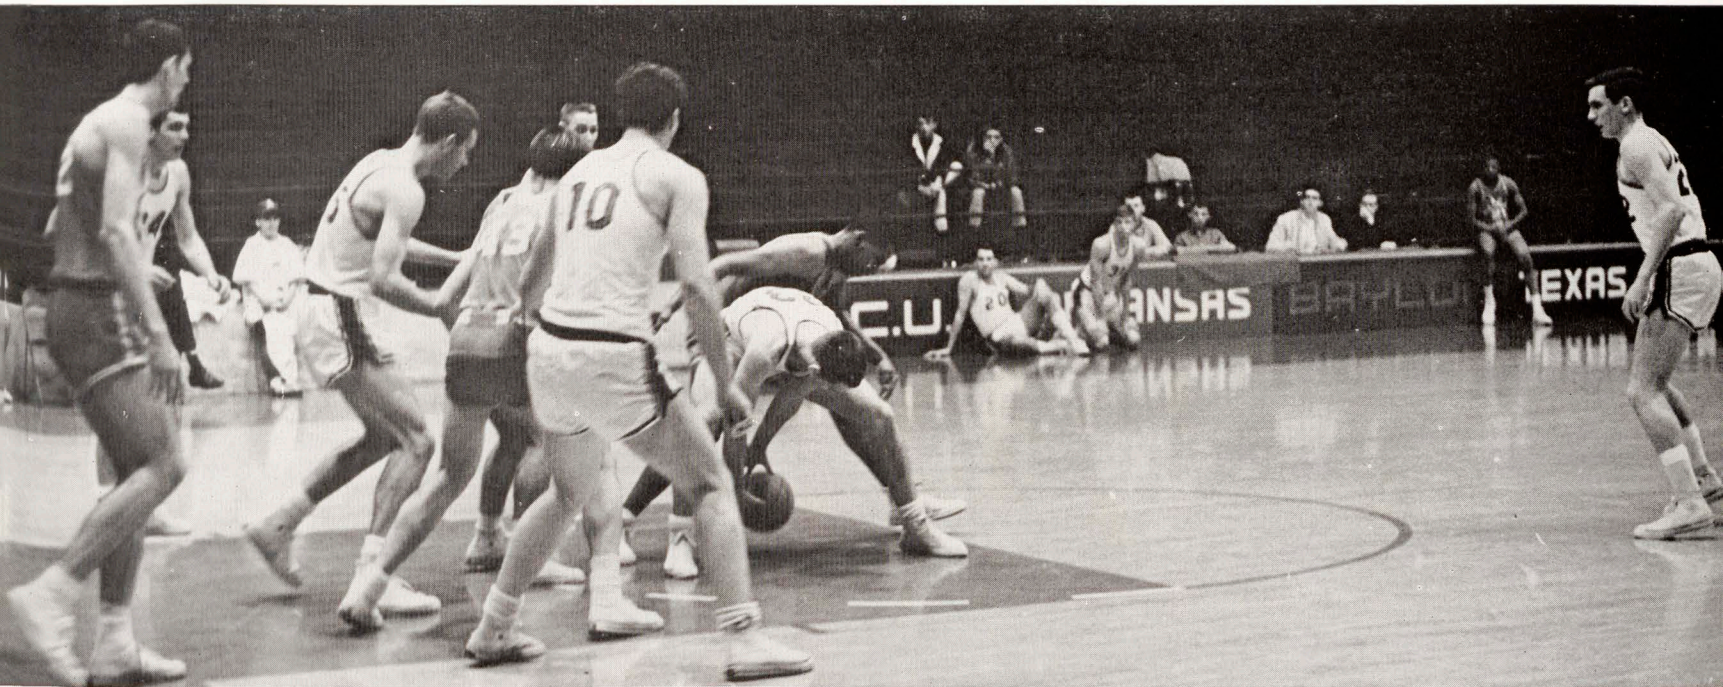

The Shoats practiced a tenacious defense in forcing the other team into numerous errors which complemented their high-scoring offense.

The freshmen were undefeated in 1961, 1963 and in 1964. In five years they have lost only two games.

The Shoat basketball team combined speed with talent and came up with their best season in several years. Under the leadership of coach Duddy Waller, the Shoats played primarily a junior college schedule. The frosh opened with two straight wins before dropping a game to Bacone. After two more wins, the Shoats sustained their second loss, this time to Crowder. After that, it was all victory as the Shoats put together a six-game winning streak to close out the season. The final two wins avenged their only defeats. They downed Crowder in the next-to-the-last game 73-67, then came back with a narrow 66-65 win over Bacone. The highlights of the year were two wins over Beebe J. C., 90-49 and 89-69.

Four Shoats finished the season in double figures. Gary Stephens dominated both scoring and rebounding with a 15.2 scoring average and 118 rebounds. He hit 81% of his shots. Darrell Paul followed with a 12.5 average; Kenny Bailey scored 10.8 and Jackie Kimbrough hit 10.4. Bailey was second in rebounding with 77, followed by Paul with 73.

Battling for a loose ball, the Shoats out-man Bacone Junior College on their way to a six-game winning streak and vengeance for an earlier loss.

Men's Intramurals draws 3000 men into the hot competition for sweepstakes points. Basketball is one of the two major point sports.

'Murals Draw 3000 Men

The Intramural Department, under the direction of Dr. Rodney Ryan, plays an important part in campus life.

First semester alone, over 3,000 participated in the intramural program which spans over 15 separate activities.

With Sigma Chi defending the annual sweepstakes trophy for men in the AAA Division, the Sigma Pis swept touch football, while Phi Delta Theta won the basketball crown. In the running for the sweepstakes trophy this season were the Phi Deltas, the Sigma Nu's and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Because of the growth of the program this year over last year, the intramural office was hard-pressed at the start of the year to find enough football teams for all those which entered the four divisions set up. Part of the Washington County Fairgrounds was set aside.

The intramural department is designed to fill the need in student life for a well-rounded sports program.

Men's intramurals are divided into four divisions: AAA for fraternities and the Law School; AA, also for fraternities; Dorm League for freshmen and upper-classmen independents living on campus and Independent for any other participating groups.

WRA's version of speed-ball is a wild affair which has been known to come to a close in the infirmary.

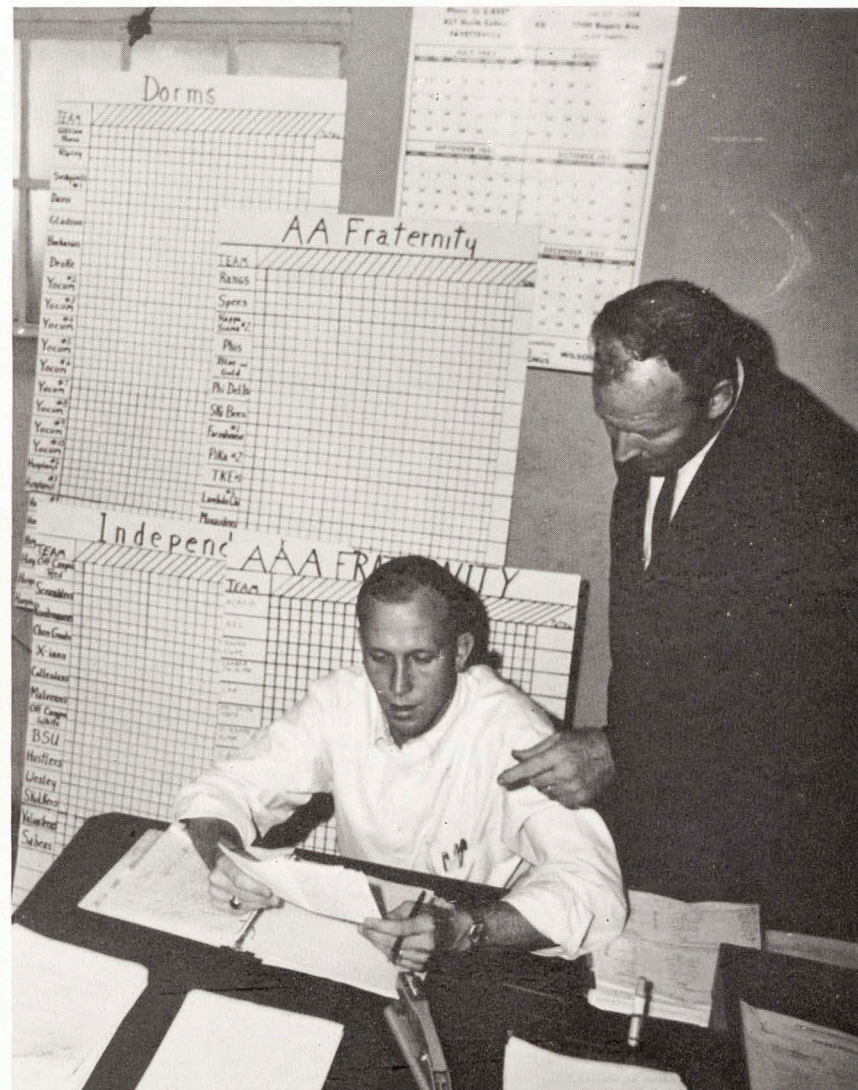

DG Wins WRA Award

Delta Gamma won the Women's Recreation Association sweepstakes award, barely nudging Futrall Hall by two points this year. The sweepstakes competition came down to the final event of the season — archery — and Delta Gamma scored a second place to win the title.

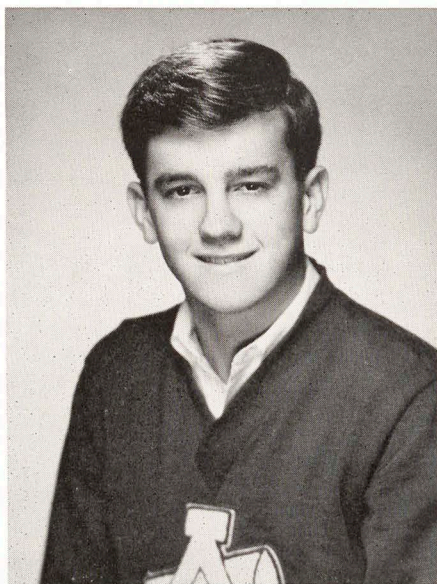

The WRA, headed by Mrs. Billie Jean Little, associate professor of physical education, is designed to fulfill a need for organized sports activities among the women's living groups.

This year over 15 teams competed with 300 girls participating for the sweepstakes award. Activities included speed-ball, basketball, volleyball, archery, swimming, diving, dance, badminton, softball and table tennis.

The men's intramural office is a hectic place all year long supervising the competition in four different leagues at UofA.

The Marching Razorbacks again set their traditional excellent standard of maintaining the backbone of Razorback spirit under the qualified direction of Dr. Richard Worthington. They attended every home game and Little Rock game and sent a pep band to every out-of-town game plus the full band to the SMU game in Dallas. They were televised on national TV twice and once on regional TV. They held pep rallies not only in Fayetteville but also in Little Rock and Dallas.

The band continued its short order drill style with over 140 band members.

The band used two featured twirlers this year, and for first time, boy and girl — Judy Dupree and Johnny Helms.

PUBLICATIONS

Staff Works Year Round On Book

The RAZORBACK staff was a hodge-podge to a great extent this year, but an editor could hope for no better. Of course, the editor himself was completely new to the staff, having been appointed on Sept. 1, to fill the vacancy created when Sam Yager was removed from the position late in the summer.

The greatest asset was a knowing business manager, and Hank Weaver was just that and more. He organized a business venture of over $55,000 into a smooth running machine. But more than that, he was willing to work for the new editor and supplied that much-needed ingredient of support.

Missy Alford, busy as she was, found time to stop in and do some of the jobs that are normally below the dignity of an associate editor. She never complained or pulled rank. She was around especially during the last do or die months.

Jean Dodd, the organization section editor, did the herculean task of putting together that section of the RAZORBACK. She had to whine, wheedle, apologize and cajole the presidents and members to get their pictures taken and identify the people in them. To her goes the award as the most diligent worker.

Burke Johnston pulled through the huge classes section and also furnished a lot of fun with her roving camp of Kappas.

Many people were drafted as typists for the 1966 RAZORBACK; some were pledges, some were members and some just wandered in and were put to work. Typical of these are the three shown below: Susie Dodd, Kathy Walton and Suzanne Musgrave.

Valita Goza

Jan Bryant
Division Chief

One of the main faults of past RAZORBACKS, according to the people who rate them, has been the copy errors. Ginger Shiras and her staff worked diligently to correct these errors both before and after the copy went to the printers.

Chuck Hemingway captured the mood of a second straight unbeaten season in his accounts of the football games.

Sylvia Spencer, in spite of her job on the TRAVELER, wrote the publications section and filled in a few of the other holes. She also gave up her spring vacation to help the editor over a hump.

Carol Lynn Taylor was one of the most responsible people on the staff. When she made picture appointments for the photographer, she went along to make sure the people showed up.

Don Henry was one of the few men on the staff and therefore was called on to do many odd jobs where AWS rules conflicted. He and Jan Bryant, division chiefs, were responsible for filling in when one of their section editors failed to produce.

Karen Hudson did a good job with the fine arts section. She gave up a week of her Christmas vacation to help get the classes section to the engravers.

Carol Holt operated as secretary for the RAZORBACK. She adequately handled the editor's correspondence. Added to that, she worked night and day during the Christmas vacation on the classes section.

In the early days, when the editor knew practically nothing, Jim Williams came through with the needed advice.

Valita Goza got more publicity than anyone else on the staff while doing the beauties section. She was called upon by the TRAVELER for fuel during the "John Shockey! where are you?" campaign.

Sandra Moore was one of the busier staff members. However, she didn't need too much time to do the Greek section — she's an old hand at putting together a section. Carolyn Hall was in the same position, and with some help from Clia Doty, she got the dorms section into shape. Jane Ware finished up the index in a very professional manner in only a week's time.

Throughout the year there were many people who came over to do the little "dirty" jobs. Suzanne Stobaugh, Susie Dodd, Mary Buie, Kathy Walton,

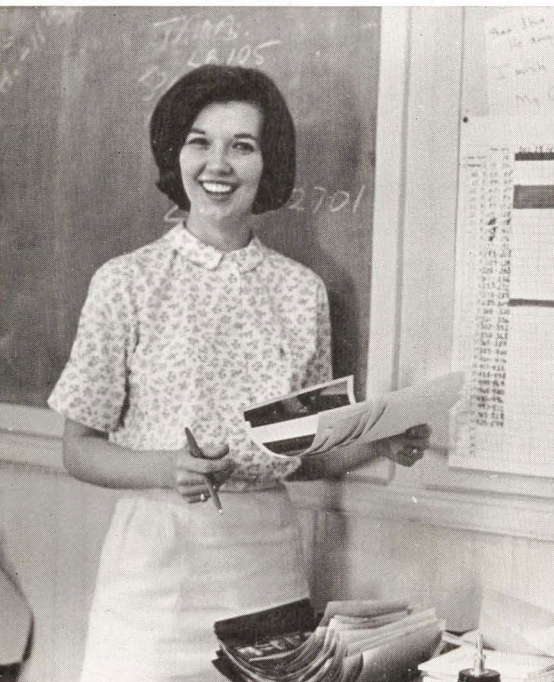

Jean Dodd
Organizations Editor

Shari Shively, Suzanne Musgrave, Johnny Jenkins, Rosmary Todd and several others filled in on the typewriters and other places.

When you look through this book you will notice, first of all, the beautiful photography. The RAZORBACK has never had a better photographer than Mike Barkley. His pictures are great — they're alive; they show imagination and many are pure works of art. Add to this the fact that he was extremely responsible.

From a shaky beginning a real staff emerged to put out the largest RAZORBACK ever.

Paper Covers Controversial Year

For one whole year, darkness hid the hippopotamus. Quietly they stood in awe on that first day of the year, and looked. And it said: "Journalism is literature in a hurry." And the American Flag was gone.

Was it some vandal? No it was the personality. The TRAVELER staff.

This was the year of personalities on the staff. Probably foremost in the minds of thousands was Sam Hugh Park, the professional college student, famous for his devilish advocates and his homespun humor.

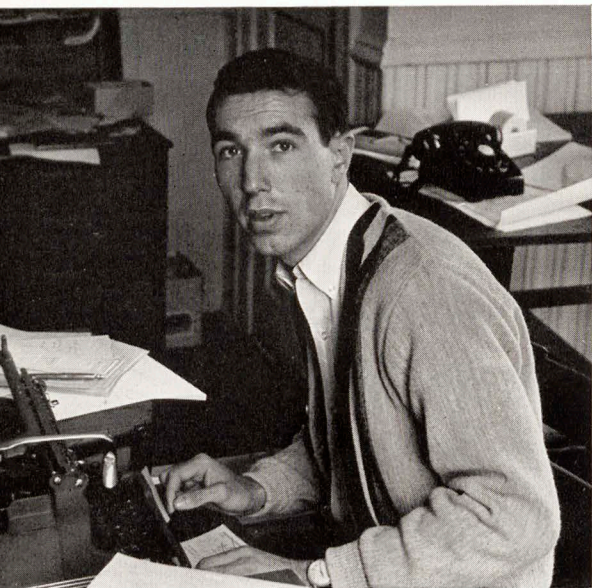

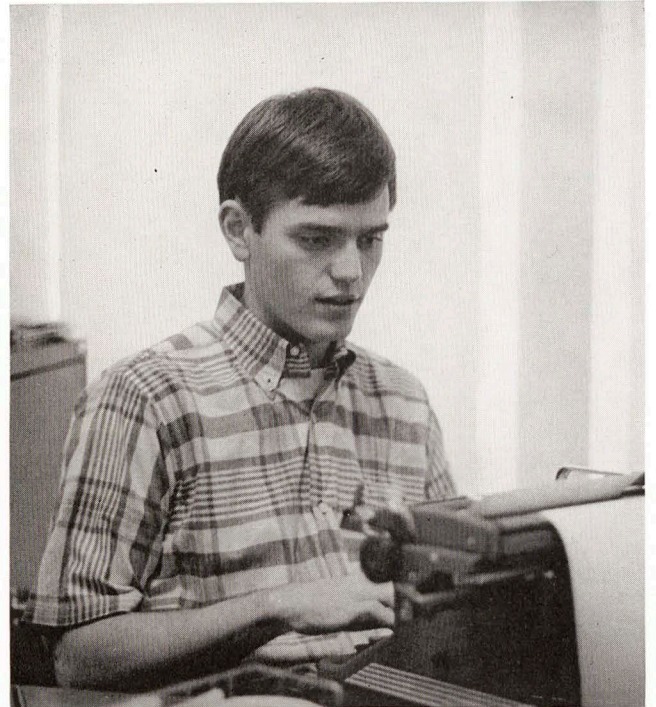

Sam worked as assistant editor for the year and gave his best effort to a new idea — the literary supplement called affectionately, B.S. The supplement only ran once, but plans are to run it more often next year.

Fiery and interpretive was Associate Editor Sylvia Spencer's style. Sylvia, next year's TRAVELER editor, maintained that plucky grasp of the news that makes for great reporting.

Her editorials were oftentimes superb to the point of enraging those who she criticized. But after all, if she helped get those who would be lazy or incompetent move to more efficiency, the editorials served their purposes well.

Smooth, slick and professional was Tom Cardin, managing editor first semester. Tom had that knack for knowing just how far along each story was progressing and kept us alive with an abundance of ideas.

Competent Jackye Shipley, managing editor second semester, showed that flair for enjoying the rest of our sarcasms and witticisms. Always there, she was an inspiration to dedication.

Far and away the biggest news story to the TRAVELER staff, and the one that got the smallest play in the paper, was the running fight with certain campus "leaders" who would use the Traveler for their own purposes under the guise of "fairness to all."

In one attempt the board of publications was actually given the unreal choice of whether or not to restrict fair comment and criticism of a candidate.

It was an unusual battle which was fought in the name of freedom of the press by the editor and staff. And it is one which has made more secure a free student newspaper.

There were others on the staff who made it fun and exciting: Sue Brown with her occasional visits to the office, Libby Ingrum who gave us plenty to feature, Dwain Cromwell, who could never decide whether he was a politician or a journalist, Russell Williams who watched our moral codes. Carol Watson with her talk of DG cookie shines, Richard Alan Young with his bewitching column, and of course Chuck Hemingway our faithful sports editor.

We even had campus politicians writing for us: Mac Glover, Jim Lee Morgan and the irrepressible Jack Coleman.

And there were more: Ellen Ann Ragsdale, back from Europe served as our editorial assistant giving us insights on Jerusalem and Spain; Mike Barkley, the most dependable photographer ever, had a job that is bigger than we all imagine.

Then there were the others: pledges for pledge points, interested budding writers, ambitious journalism majors and those who just honestly wanted to help.

All in all darkness did hide the hippopotamus. But we loved it, every shadowy corner of Hill Hall.

Agri Magazine Gets Face-Lifting

Bill O'Bar
Co-Editor

The AGRICULTURIST is published twice yearly — once during the fall semester and again during the spring semester. The entire staff is from the College of Agriculture and Home Economics. Any Agri or Home Ec major who is interested in journalism is given an opportunity to write for the AGRICULTURIST.

The publication of the fall edition was an experience not to be forgotten! Although we started planning early, time always seemed to be at a premium. With help from Beth Bryson and Connie Carnes, we were able to come up with stories when we needed them most. Tim Woody, Anabel Boyd and Janet Nickerson also did excellent jobs on tough assignments. Our feature editor, Carol Bunge, was by the office often with ideas and suggestions. And there was Mike Barkley, the photographer. Between RAZORBACK and TRAVELER assignments, Mike managed to find time to do our photography.

At the start of the second semester, we had several new people join our staff. Louise Campbell, Gaye Karnes, Jane Wickard and Len Cotton helped to get our picture-filled Agri Day edition to press.

This year, the AGRICULTURIST received a face-lifting. The joke page, with its not-so-funny jokes was removed, and the stories became more student oriented.

ENGINEER Features Department

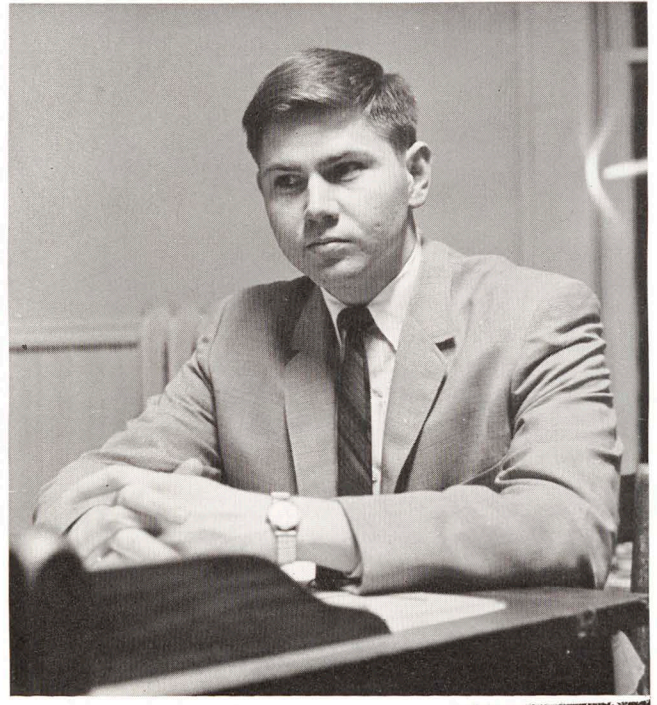

The ARKANSAS ENGINEER is the official publication of the College of Engineering. The magazine is published to bring a closer tie between alumni, professors and students. This year's publication tried to show the broadening field of engineering by having topics from each of the Engineering departments. In one form or another, each cover represented the idea of a featured article or an important event such as St. Pat's Week.

Although the ARKANSAS ENGINEER is devoted to articles of a technical nature, the ENGINEER maintained a lighter effect by having a joke page. There was, of course, the Dean's Page, Engine House News and an editorial to add to its flavor.

The St. Patricia pictures were once more given the "OK"; so each candidate was allotted two pages for her pictures and a short resume. The race was off with each engineer using the girls' pictures as pin-ups.

The magazine is sent to the high schools around the state to promote enrollment in the College of Engineering.

Jim Lee Morgan and Gail Bigge preside over Board of Publications.

Senate Sponsors Two Publications

The Student Senate sponsors two publications, the "A" BOOK and the STUDENT DIRECTORY. John Harmon edited the "A" BOOK for the second year in a row. Bill Ebbert edited the STUDENT DIRECTORY.

The "A" BOOK is the official handbook of student information for the University. It is published in the spring and distributed to incoming freshmen in the fall, during the orientation program.

This year's "A" BOOK was just like last year's except it had a different cover. It contained features concerning activities at the University as well as information about rules and regulations.

The STUDENT DIRECTORY set a new record for early distribution. It beat John Harmon's record by three days. There were more pages, more copies, more color and more advertising in this year's DIRECTORY.

For the first time in the history of publications at the UofA, a journalistic endeavor was self-supporting. In fact, the DIRECTORY was not only self-supporting, it made a profit. With the profits, a color television set was bought for the Student Union lounge.

Less Castleberry served as co-ordinating editor of the DIRECTORY. The rest of the staff included Bonnie Hunkapiller, Joanne Mailer, Lynda Lewis, Tommie Kay Ebbert and Mike Barkley.

Bill Ebbert — DIRECTORY Editor

The Board of Publications: Dean Whitney Halladay, Jan Turner, Jim Lee Morgan, Dr. Jess Covington, Russell Black, Carolyn Hall, Bill Hughes.

Senate Board Directs Publications

Thanks mainly to Jim Lee Morgan, chairman of the Board of Publications, it can't be said that the Board's business was as slow and obscure as usual. The campus in general and the TRAVELER staff in particular was made more aware of the Board's presence.

An attempt, which originated in Hill Hall and died in the Senate, was made to change the structure of the board. Presently, student membership rotates among the presidents of MIHC, WIHC, Pan-hellenic and IFC. Permanent members include the chairman of the Journalism Department, the president of AWS, the Director of Information and an appointee of the Faculty Senate Committee on Publications, who in the past has always been the Dean of Students.

A more journalistic board was recommended by the Constitutional Revisions Committee, but vetoed in the Senate. The Dean of Students was added as an ex-officio, non-voting member of the Board, however.

The Board has the ambiguous responsibility for seeing that journalistic ethics are adhered to in all publications. This is a sore point between publications personnel, since the non-journalistic board and the journalism students don't always agree on what constitutes responsible journalistic ethics.

The Board elects the editors of the TRAVELER, RAZORBACK, "A" BOOK and STUDENT DIRECTORY.

Sylvia Spencer hugs Mike Snipes in jubilation after being named editor for the 1966-67 TRAVELER in a March meeting at UofA.

Air Force ROTC Trains Cadets

Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps prepares cadets for an active role in today's Air Force. In the basic course this year cadets were instructed in the principles of flight, the various roles of the Air Force, its systems, tactics and first aid.

After two years of basic instruction, qualified cadets are given an opportunity to join the advanced program. They are selected for leadership ability, academic standing, character and desire to be an Air Force Officer. In the two years of the advanced program, cadets are introduced to navigation, military law, meteorology and the many facets of the space program. Air Force advanced cadets must attend a summer camp where they receive first hand instruction in the workings of the Air Force and their role in it. Upon graduation, cadets are commissioned second lieutenants in the Air Force, and if qualified, are given an opportunity to receive pilot or navigator training.

Angel Flight Represents AFROTC

Angel Flight, or the Air Force's answer to co-educational ROTC, is a national organization of women who are selected to represent the AFROTC. It is sponsored by the Arnold Air Society, but was initiated at the University of Arkansas by Col. Bryden Moon and Capt. Carl Rose.

The main function of Angel Flight is representation of the AFROTC as a service organization. They act as hostesses and co-sponsors of many Air Force, Arnold Air Society and University functions.

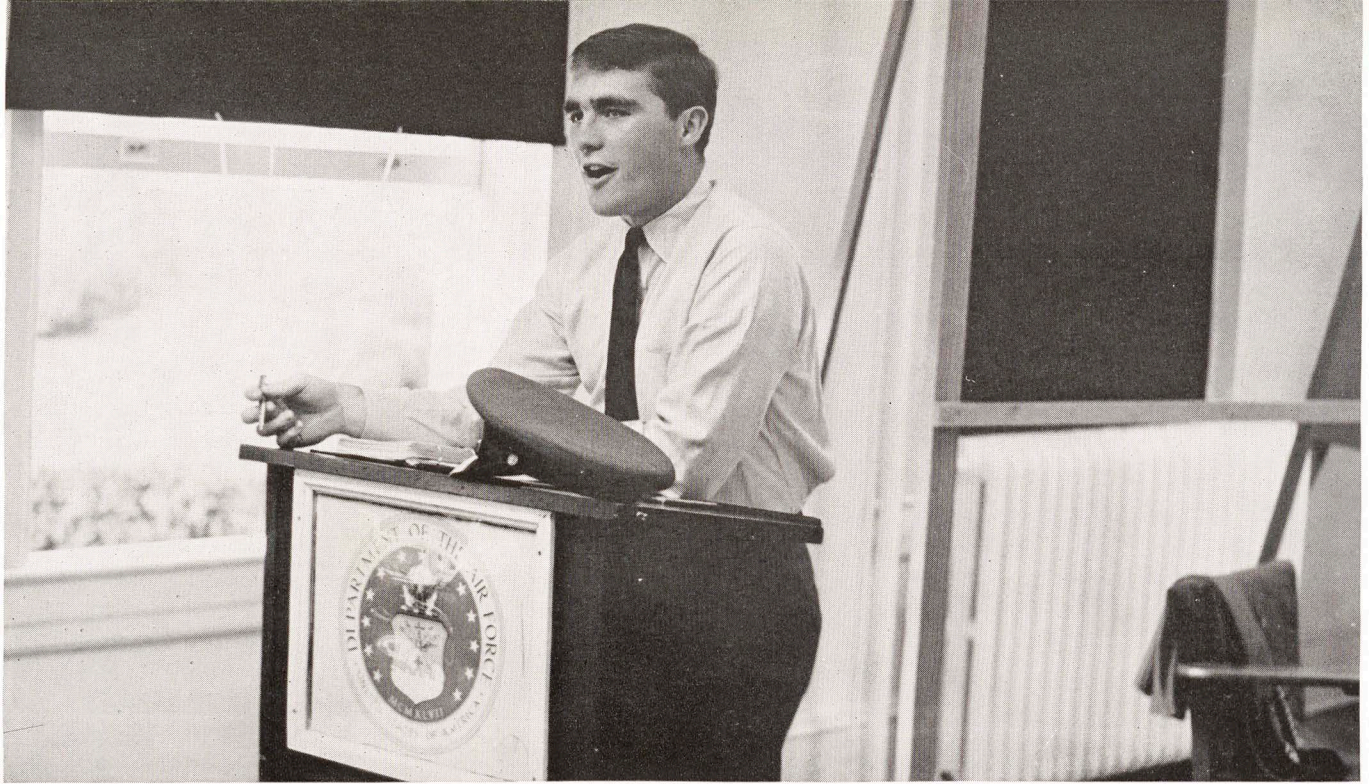

This year their activities included acting as hostesses for the Air Force art exhibit, Operation Warm-Heart, helping with the blood drive, acting as coordinators and supporters for the Crippled Children and Adult Centers of Arkansas, and sending delegates to the national convention of Angel Flight.

The Angels were represented by six members in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, a Phi Beta Kappa member, sorority presidents and many other honors both for scholarship and beauty.

Arnold Air Acts As Service Group

The Arnold Air Society is a national honorary society of advanced Air Force cadets. It was named after Gen. "Hap" Arnold, the first Army Air Force Chief of Staff. Members are chosen from Advanced Air Force cadets who must have a 3.00 accumulative in Air Science and a 2.5 overall grade point.

The Arnold Air Society sponsors the wing drill team and air police units. It is active in the Toys for Tots campaign each year at Christmas and serves the University and the city of Fayetteville in many other ways.

Scabbard & Blade Unites ROTC

Sheri Savage
Sponsor

Scabbard and Blade is an honorary organization of advanced cadets from both the Army and the Air Force ROTC. It attempts to raise ROTC standards in all colleges, unite the two ROTC departments, promote friendship among cadets and, most important, to stimulate the desire to gain military proficiency.

Pledges are chosen by the members and are tapped in an impressive tapping ceremony which takes place on the drill field. After being tapped, inductives are given a trial period and are finally formally inducted into the society.

Each week the society meets to discuss and find solutions to problems concerning the ROTC organization. By this method suggestions from both organizations are heard.

Sheri Savage was selected as this year's sponsor.

Army ROTC Gains In Importance

The Army Reserve Officer Training Corps, or ROTC as it is better known to most students, has become a daily part of the student's life. In the past ROTC has been thought of as something to be tolerated, but with the increased draft quota, it has assumed new importance on our campus.

Established in 1873 through the Morrill Act, ROTC has grown until it is now established on almost every college campus in the United States. The course of instruction is divided into two years of basic ROTC and, if accepted, two years of advanced study. The basic purpose of the course is to introduce students to the role of the modern Army and prepare him for an active role in that organization, if he so desires.

During the basic course, cadets are introduced to the role, organization and structure of the Army, small bore marksmanship, map reading and the tradition and history of the Army. If qualified, the cadet is then offered the opportunity to enter the advanced course. This will qualify him for commission upon graduation.

The opportunity to enroll in the advanced course is based on several qualifications. Among these are leadership ability, academic standing, character and the desire to be an Army officer.

The advanced course consists of study in tactics, administration, law and radio. Along with this study in basic Army skills, the cadet receives leadership training. Upon graduation, cadets are commissioned as second lieutenants and become officers in the regular Army.

ORGANIZATIONS

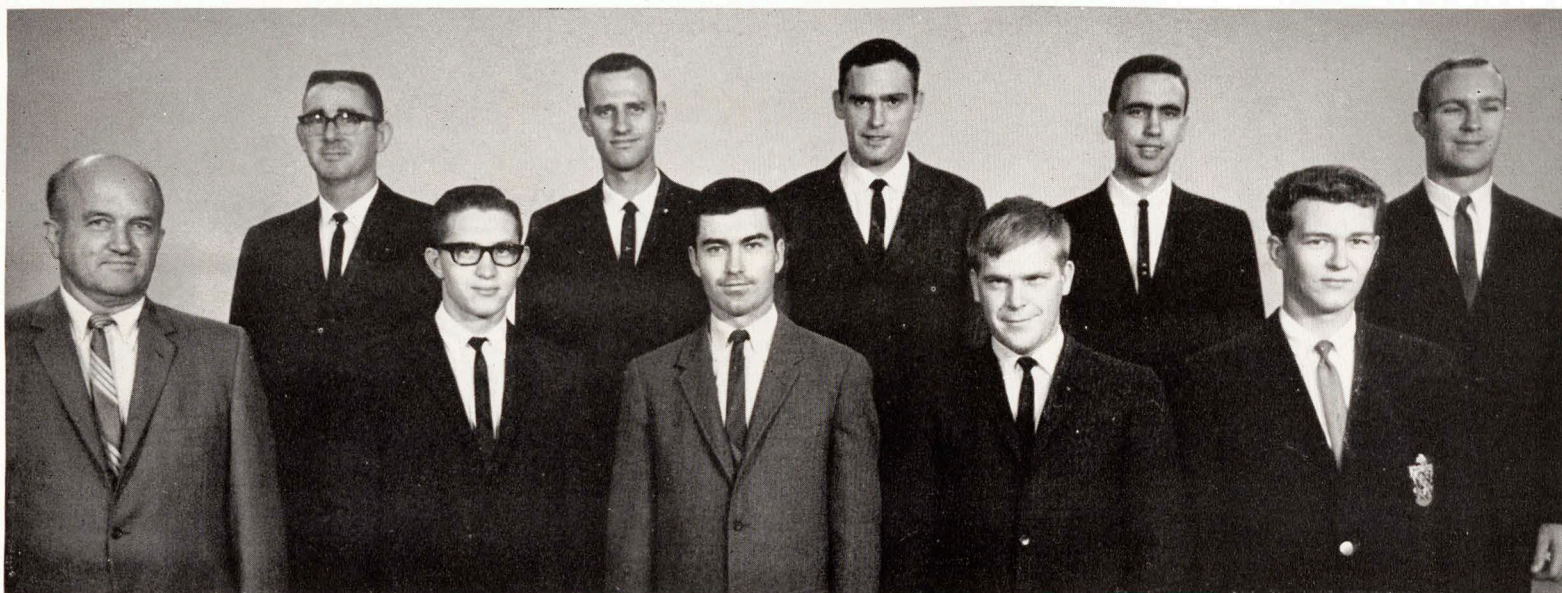

Agri Association

All students in the College of Agriculture and Home Economics may be members of the Agri Students Association. ASA meets twice monthly, and its biggest project is Agri Day, a yearly event. Agri Day includes a rodeo, banquet, tours and the selection of an Agri Queen.

Accounting Association

The Arkansas Accounting Association is open to any student with one semester of accounting. Its purpose is to better relationships between students and faculty and acquaint students with how accounting principles are applied in actual practice. Each year, the Association has a banquet with corporate and tax accountants as speakers on practical application of accounting. They have monthly meetings and play host to any company which comes on campus to interview students. They have an outing and a smoker each semester.

First Row: McClain, Edwards, Trammell, Walker, Moles.
Second Row: Fitzgerald, McNulty, Matthews, Halford, Nowlin.

OFFICERS: Allen Fitzgerald, treasurer; Ken Matthews, president; Milton Halford, secretary; Joe Edwards, vice-president.

Agronomy Club

The Agronomy Club, which is composed mainly of agronomy majors, strives to enrich and entertain its members by having speakers from various fields at the meetings. The club works together to select speakers of general interest. Other activities include outings, contests and sending delegates to the national convention.

OFFICERS: Herbert Keith, vice-president; Terry Keisling, treasurer. Second Row: John McDaniel, corresponding secretary; Glen Laurent, secretary; Walter Crandall, president.

Alpha Chi Sigma

Alpha Chi Sigma, a national professional chemistry and chemical engineering fraternity, was founded on this campus in 1928. Membership is taken from students from all classes in chemistry. They work toward the advancement of the chemical profession. Functions include the yearly Science Fair and tutoring in chemistry.

Alpha Kappa Psi

Alpha Kappa Psi, the professional business fraternity, is composed of men who are candidates for a degree in business administration. The UofA chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi is the largest in the nation. During the year field trips are taken and guest speakers, are invited to meetings.

First Row: Blankenship, McLarty, Adair, Berry, Wilson, Marino, Stokes. Second Row: Fikes, Lewis, Ball, Walker, Dunn, Kyzer, Sheddy. Third Row: Nowlin, Henderson, Robinson, Hayes, Risener, England.

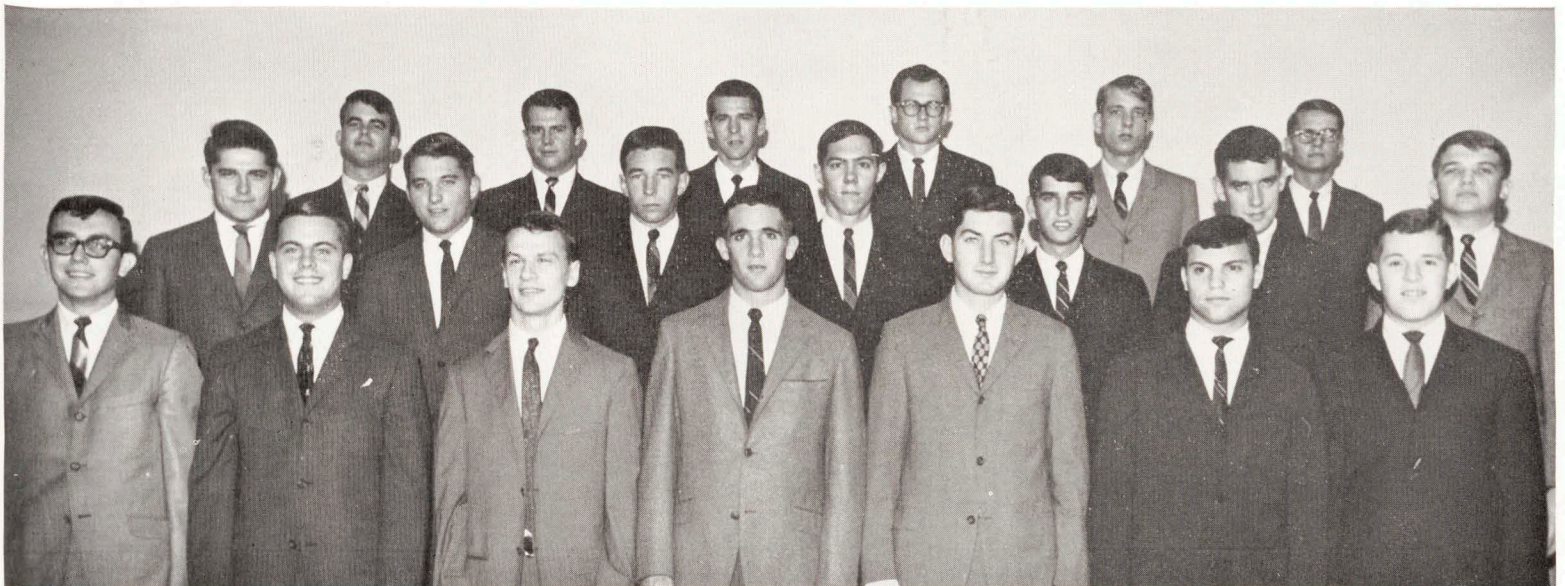

Alpha Epsilon Delta

Alpha Epsilon Delta is the international pre-medical society, and it was founded on this campus in 1938. Membership in Alpha Epsilon Delta is based primarily on scholarship. The meetings during the year provide an opportunity for the members to hear and become acquainted with outstanding guest speakers.

First Row: Lee, Davis, Rouse, Thomas, Elliot, Pugh, Sparrow. Second Row: Jepson, McNair, Garner, Grubbs, McKay, Worrell, Smead. Third Row: May, Embry, Harowitz, Thain, Emert, Sacks, Thurlby.

Alpha Phi Omega

Alpha Phi Omega is the largest national service organization, with over 400 chapters which serve campus, community and country. Its members help with registration, campus tours, March of Dimes drive and various special projects such as their road rally. The national service is the Peace Corps. All members must have a 2.0 and must have been associated with Scouting.

Alpha Lambda Delta

An honorary organization for freshmen women, Alpha Lambda Delta helps in tutoring, registration and other activities during the year. The members must have a 3.5 grade point, and they serve during the second semester of their freshman year and the whole sophomore year. They present an award to the senior woman with the highest grade point per semester and a certificate to all women above a 3.5.

Alpha Pi Mu

Alpha Pi Mu is the honorary industrial engineering fraternity, with a membership selected from the top fifth of the junior class and the top third of the senior class. Their purpose is to forward interest in the fields of industrial engineering. This year, the national convention was held here on campus with Dr. Lillian Gilbreath as principal speaker.

Alpha Zeta

Alpha Zeta is an honorary service organization for the College of Agriculture. Membership is drawn from the upper two-fifths of the University enrollment from the College. They must be at least a second semester freshman. Functions of the club are services given to the College of Agriculture. Their big project of the year is their tutoring service.

OFFICERS: Jimmy Young, chancellor; Doelas Landes, censor. Second Row: Quinton Cooper, Scribe; Ronnie Barnett, treasurer; Bill O'Bar, chronicler.

OFFICERS: David Joe Brown, president; Eric Thompson, vice-president; Nan Ellen Jackson, secretary; Dick Savage, treasurer.

Institute Of Architecture

The local chapter of the American Institute of Architecture acts on behalf of the architecture students in helping them learn more about their role in the national group. The national organization is the professional group for the nation's architects, and it is the voice and governing body of the architects.

Home Economics

Any student in the College of Agriculture and Home Economics can be a member of the American Home Economics Association. AHEA promotes interest in careers in Home Economics at their monthly meetings. They have various service projects through the year. Kathy Kneu, a member of the local chapter, is historian of the state association.

First Row: Call, Drennan, Nash, Fox, Hersey, Ross, Hornsby, Carnes, Formby. Second Row: Bratton, Sisson, Pettus, Parsons, Richter, Hogue, Nickerson, Bradley. Third Row: Bennett, Turner, Starling, Jenkins, Roberts, Rinie, Grannan, Smith.

OFFICERS: Christy Jenkins, president; Diane Formby, secretary; Carolyn Hornsby, treasurer; Bonnie Fox, historian; Evelyn Sisson, reporter.

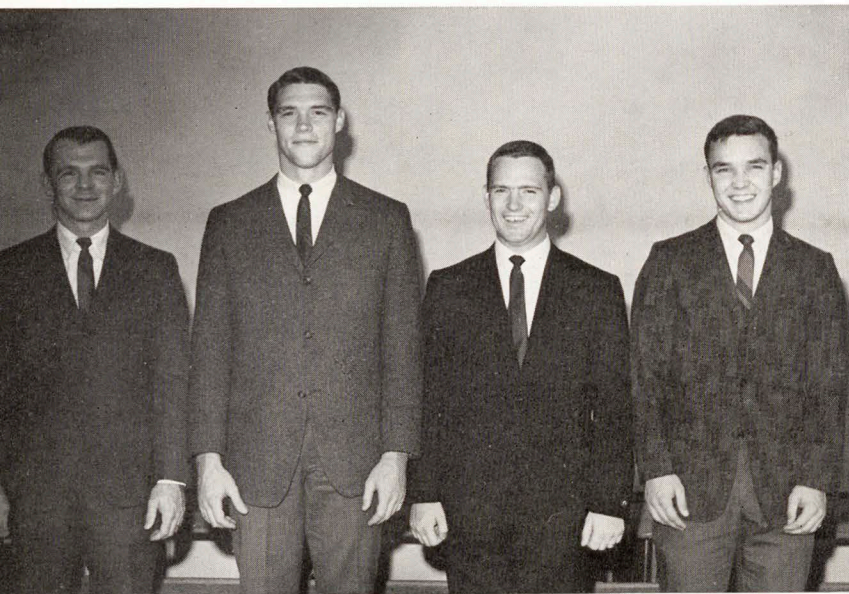

Industrial Engineers

The American Institute of Industrial Engineers is an organization for all industrial engineers. It forms a link between student and professional industrial engineers, develops interest in industrial engineering and works for the betterment of student-faculty relations. It is a service organization that helps with the Engineering Open House, and it is sponsored by the Little Rock and Tulsa senior chapters of AIIE.

First Row: Hart, Jordan, Palmer, Cole, Root, Hairston, Liberto, Kirk, Ollor, Sellick. Second Row: Imhoff, Wells, Kellogg, Jennings, Duke, Etien, Beall, Cochran, Bearden, Sellick. Third Row: Helm, Yates, Searcy, Cowan, Zarnitz, Whitson, Hale, Thomas, J. Thomas, Bean.

Chemical Engineers

The local chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers was founded on this campus in 1935, with the purpose of encouraging interest in the field of chemical engineering. Several meetings are held each year so the members can hear guest speakers on the problems and achievements of chemical engineers.

ASAE—Agri Engineers

All agricultural engineers are eligible for membership in the American Society of Agricultural Engineers. The chapter meets twice monthly and has speakers and programs to familiarize its members with agricultural engineering careers and problems. The ASAE participates in the Engineer's Week Open House and has a fall and spring outing each year.

OFFICERS: Gus M. Vratsinas, president; Clyde F. Stewart, vice-president.

ASCE—Civil Engineers

The American Society of Civil Engineers is composed of students majoring in civil engineering and serves to set up professional contacts and provide speakers from the varied fields of civil engineering. Activities of ASCE include taking field trips, projects for Engineer's Week Open House and a spring banquet or outing.

First Row: Stewart, Schroeder, Stuart, Harriell, Dockery, Ryles, Belcher. Second Row: Tanner, Hirsch, Hamilton, Martin, Grounds, Lukso, Chaffin, Holder. Third Row: Vratsinas, Malone, Brown, Woods, Martin, Patterson, Murphy, Flowers.

OFFICERS: Jerry Canant; Frank Phelps; Steve Hull. Second Row: Wayne Bell; Dr. K. W. Scott.

Animal Industry

The Animal Industry Club is an animal husbandry group which is open to students in the fields of animal and poultry husbandry. The group is primarily involved in sponsoring judging teams in intercollegiate contests.

Mechanical Engineers

The American Society for Mechanical Engineers was founded in 1880 as a national organization for professional engineers. ASME has the purpose of broadening familiarity between students and the practical side of mechanical engineering. It makes its library facilities available to interested persons and keeps students informed about engineering progress.

First Row: Pile, Herrington, Jaycox, Hamilton, Clemens, Freeman. Second Row: Taylor, Adcox, May, Stiff, Willis, Parker. Third Row: Wagner, Brown, Cook, Precure, Owen.

OFFICERS: David Laney, president; Preston Adcox, vice-president; Charles Morgan, secretary; Martin Michael May, treasurer.

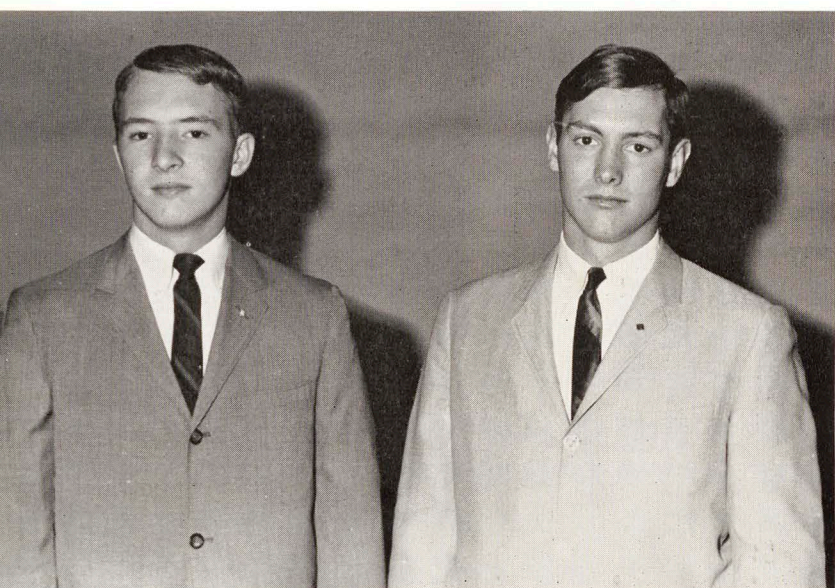

ABC Pledge Class

The ABC pledge class is made up of representatives from each living group on campus. They boost spirit by sending telegrams to the team at out of town games, decorating goal posts, selling streamers, making torches for torchlight parades and other projects. They also attend as many sports events as possible.

OFFICERS: Don Walker, president; Whit Hall, treasurer.

Arkansas Booster Club

The Arkansas Booster Club was organized to support athletic teams, boost spirit and provide organized pep activities. Membership is composed of all former ABC pledges. ABC sponsors the pep rallies, Homecoming Activities and Dad's Day every year; sit in a group at games and lead campus spirit.

First Row: Bowen, Jackson, Thomas, Erwin, Terrell. Second Row: Rice, Biggers, Cohen, Woodson, Robason, Rivers. Third Row: Porter, Woolly, Moore, Rownak, White.

AWS Legislative Board

AWS Legislative Board is to give women students a representative form of government and a voice with the administration. It is made up of the chairmen of various standing boards, elected representatives from each women's living groups on campus and the chairman is the vice-president of AWS.

OFFICERS: Beth Yancey, president; Phyllis Scroggin, vice-president; Carolyn Hall, secretary, Robin Cash, treasurer.

Baptist Student Union

The Baptist Student Union is the campus ministry of the Southern Baptist Convention. It emphasizes active church membership, evangelism, missions, study, worship, service and recreation. All students are welcome to participate in its program and to use the facilities provided in the Baptist Student Center.

OFFICERS: Rodger Kline, president; Bud Storey, vice-president; Davidson H. Humphreys, secretary; Carl Gibbons, alumni secretary.

Blue Key

Blue Key is a national honorary leadership fraternity for juniors and seniors with a 2.5 accumulative and leadership qualities. It sponsors Arkansas Career Day on campus and Razorback Day on the weekend of the first home football game of the season. The Blue Key Alumni Banquet is held at Homecoming.

Beta Alpha Psi

Beta Alpha Psi is the national accounting fraternity. It is an honorary scholastic and professional organization whose goal is that of strengthening the accounting profession. Scholarship and leadership qualities are the qualifications looked for in selecting members of this fraternity. At the monthly meetings, programs include guest speakers outstanding in the accounting profession and speaking on problems and accomplishments in the accounting field.

Chi Epsilon

Chi Epsilon is the honorary civil engineering fraternity. Its membership is drawn from the top third of the junior and senior classes. Its purpose is to recognize and aid outstanding students in their pursuit of an engineering career. Chi Epsilon participates in Engineer's Week and joint-sponsors speakers with ASCE.

Cardinal XX

Cardinal XX is a service organization of sophomores composed of outstanding freshmen from the previous year. They work during registration, fall orientation and with other service organizations. The sponsor is ODK. As the name indicates, it is composed of the twenty outstanding freshman men, and membership is based on leadership, scholarship, personality and campus activities.

Chi Theta

Chi Theta is an honorary organization to promote the women's role in business. Their members are drawn from sophomores, juniors and seniors with a 2.5 accumulative grade average in the College of Business Administration. Their functions are to decorate the BA building for Christmas, give a party for freshmen women in business, publish a BA Organizations book and assist with Commerce Day. The sponsor of this organization is Mrs. Lee.

First Row: McCulloch, Pemberton, Robinson, Dudney, Cochran, Brazil. Second Row: Phillips, Law, Young, Ward, Caughron, Fuller. Third Row: Drake, Crain, Eskue, Leysath, Templeton, Hodges, Nelson.

Chimes

Chimes is an honorary service organization for girls chosen during the second semester of their freshman year. They are active during their sophomore year. Chimes conduct guided tours, help with registration, Career Day, and Razorback Day and publish "On The Hill". Their sponsor is Mortar Board.

OFFICERS: Sharon Tatman, president; Suzanne Musgrave, vice-president; Susan Irby, historian; Sue Elliott, secretary.

Civic Club

The Civic Club, whose members are drawn from each living group, is representative of the entire student body. Representatives are elected for one year. In the fall, the Civic Club sponsors Singfony, and in the spring they sponsor the Campus Chest drive. All proceeds from both go to charity. Mr. Neil Harmon is the faculty advisor.

First Row: Erickson, Todd, Hammontree, Bowers, Jackson, Oakley, Henley, Finney. Second Row: Trowbridge, Mondstock, McHaney, Graybill, Coffield, Lessemann, Banks, Greer, Jeffery, Ligon. Third Row: Pollard, Gigneur, Bell, Taylor, Wuest, Jones, Hartley, McClaron, Hornick, Watson.

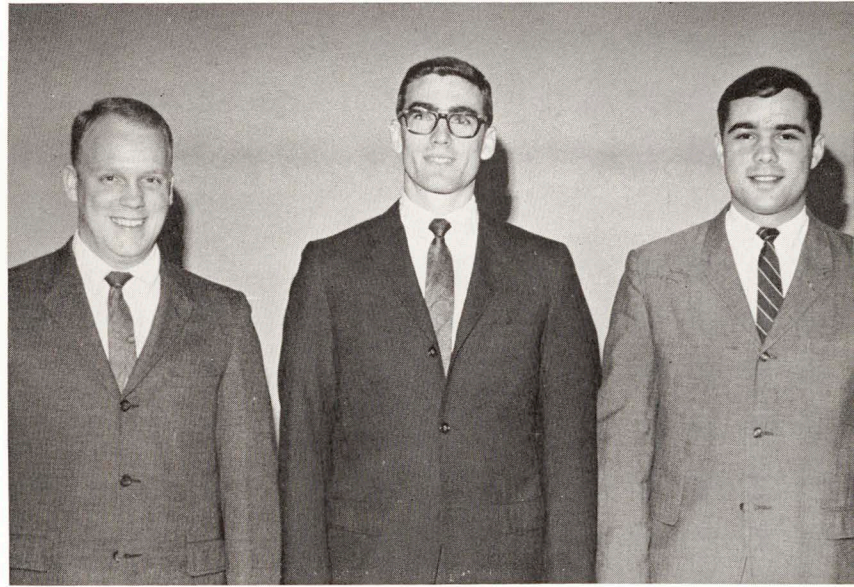

OFFICERS: Steve Harper, president.

Circle K

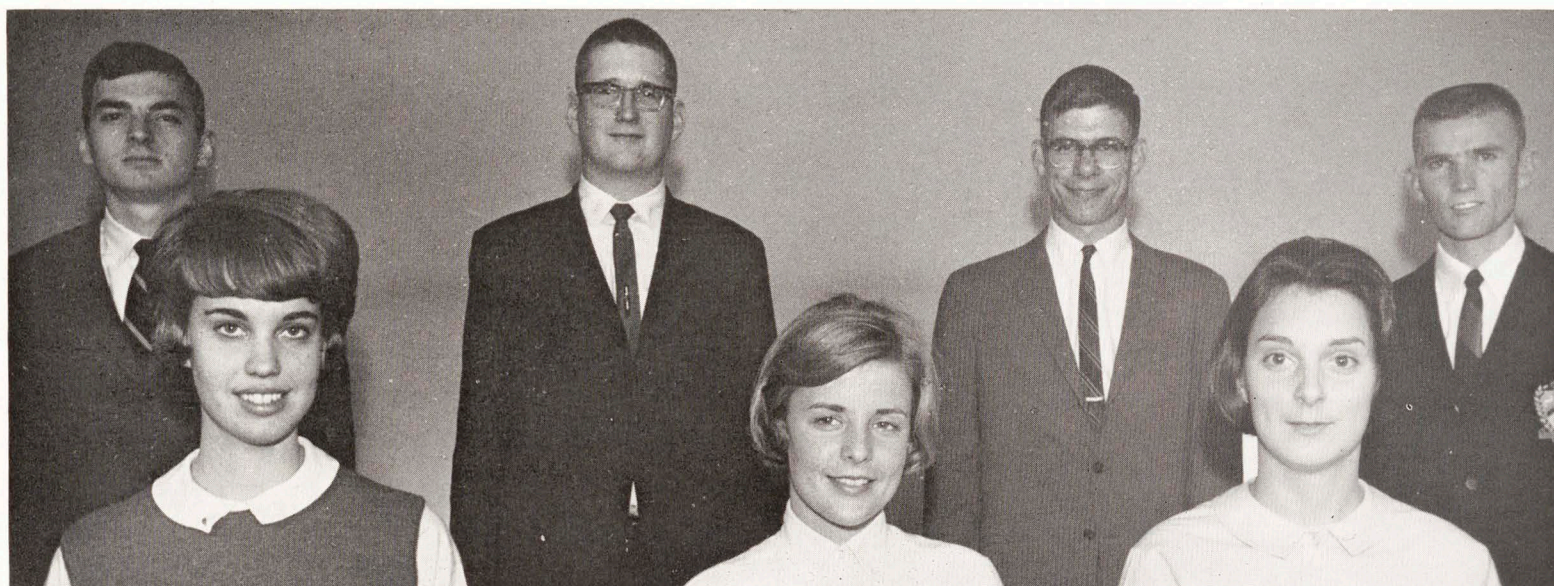

Circle K is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and is made up of undergraduate men, most of which were in Key Club International in high school. It sponsors the Red Cross Bloodmobile and its members usher at football games and have weekly programs and dinner meetings. They assist the local Kiwanis Club with projects.

OFFICERS: Claud Prewitt, president; Hugh Bass, treasurer; Bart Lindsey, social chairman.

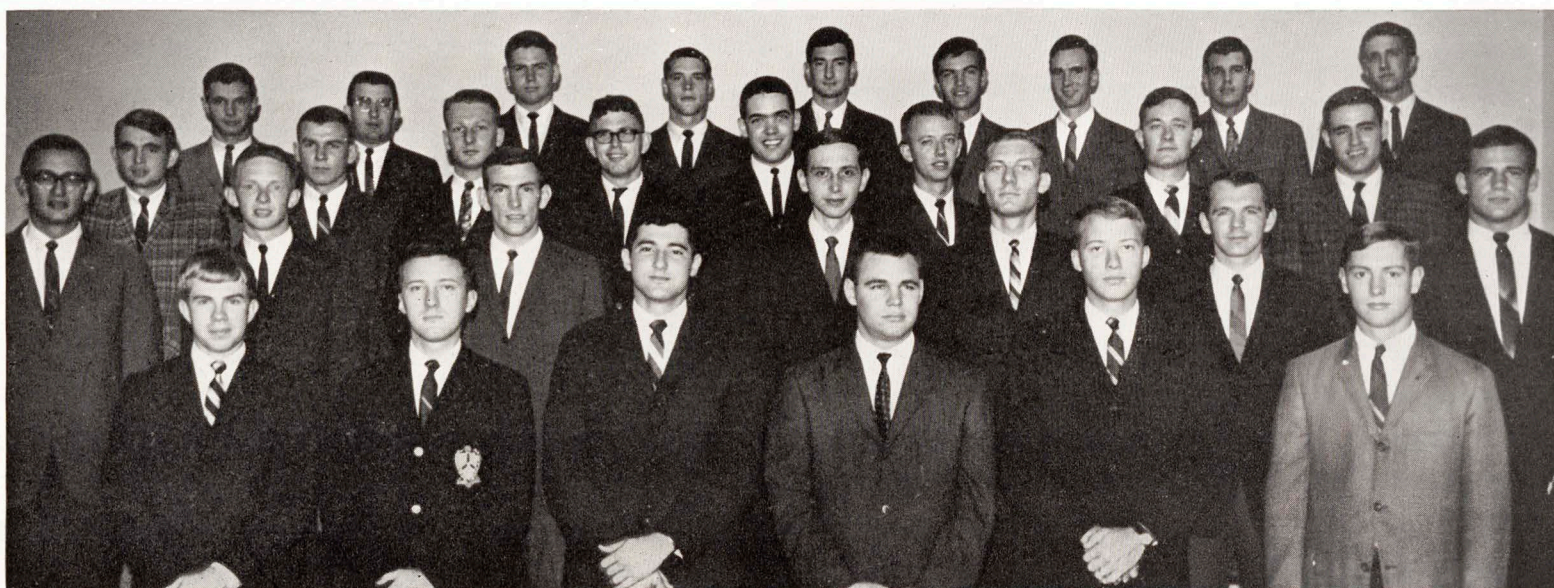

OFFICERS: Collie Walker, president; Jim Coffield; Tom Lea.

Commerce Guild

The Commerce Guild is composed of all the members of the College of Business Administration. By working to unite the faculty and students of the College and by bringing in outside speakers, they promote and advertise the aims of business in the life of the campus.

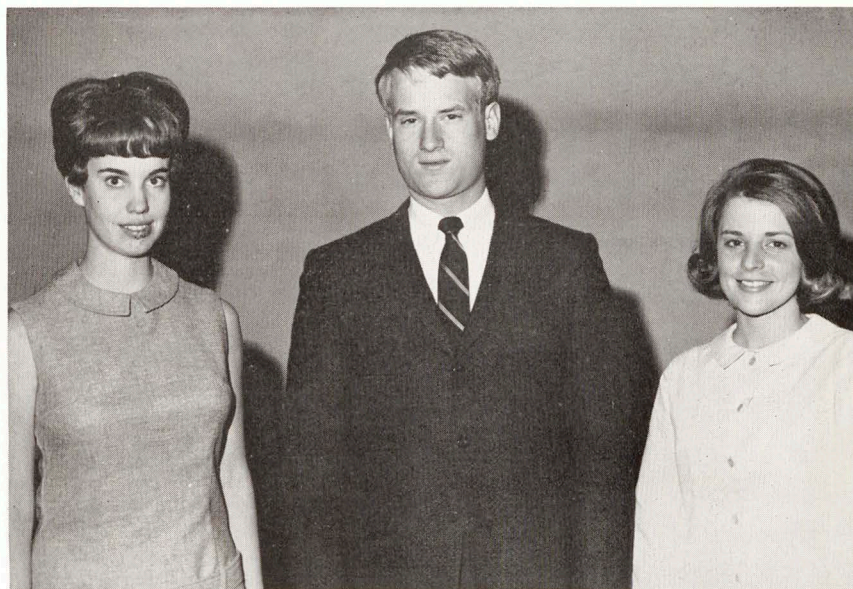

First Row: Campbell, Daugherty, Stobaugh, Eskue, Templeton, Sullins. Second Row: Shetty, Nowlin, Henderson, McKuin. Third Row: Walker, Lea, Maurras, Coffield, Van Dalsem.

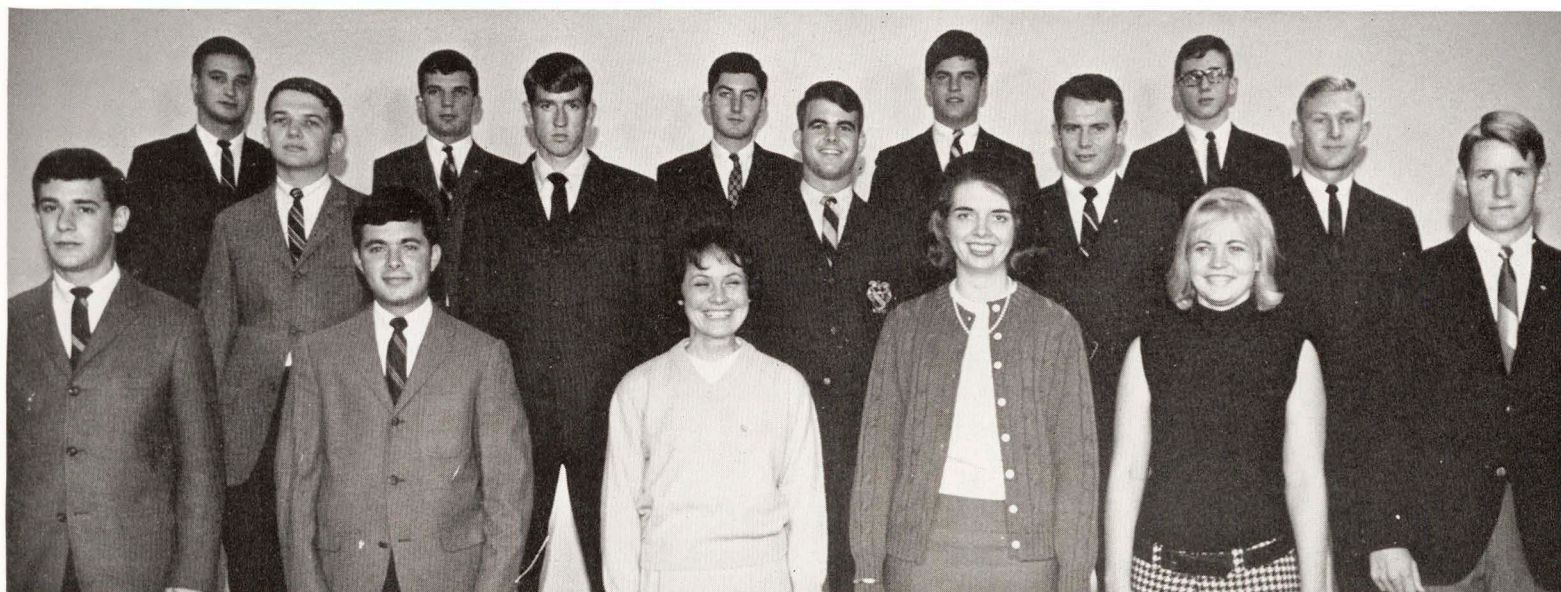

Academy Of Science

The Collegiate Academy of Science is designed to promote an interest in science and scientific research on campus. Membership is limited to undergraduate science majors of sophomore standing or above, having a satisfactory scholastic record. The Academy sponsors monthly lectures by outstanding faculty members and encourages undergraduate research.

First Row: Flowers, Ellis, Brambl. Second Row: Ross, Barton, Lovell, Clahoun.

OFFICERS: Kay Flowers, secretary; Bill Smead, president; Leslie Ellis, treasurer.

Engineering Council

The Engineering Council, whose function is to govern and carry on the activities of engineering students, is composed of elected representatives from each of the engineering and technical organizations, along with the editor and business manager of the ARKANSAS ENGINEER. The big activity of the year is the sponsoring of Engineers Week. Membership is drawn from all classes. The sponsor is Dean Branigan.

OFFICERS: Rodger Kline, president; Gus Vratsinas, vice-president; Bill Jennings, secretary; Ray Owens, Jr, treasurer.

Eta Kappa Nu

Eta Kappa Nu is the honorary fraternity for junior and senior electrical engineers. Its membership is drawn from the top students in each class. The members aid in an open house for engineers, help with the state science fair and have monthly meetings to learn more about the electrical engineering field.

IFPC

The Interfraternity Pledge Council is a directive and administrative body to encourage cooperation between all pledge classes. The members are two representatives from each fraternity and sorority. Early in the spring semester, it sponsors the IFPC dance. This year IFPC raised money for two $100 scholarships by selling streamers and selected Ideal Pledges, one sorority pledge and one fraternity pledge.

Electrical Engineers

The Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers, Inc., is the largest professional engineering society in the world. Student branches of the IEEE are established in more than 200 approved colleges, universities and schools throughout the country. The Institute provides students with an unusual opportunity to associate educationally and socially with fellow engineering students through professional talks, group discussions and projects. IEEE participates in the Engineer's Week Open House and the Rally.

OFFICERS: Noel Nash, vice-president; Kent Burnett, Engineering Council representative; Bill Miller, president; Paul Clampitt, treasurer.

Kappa Kappa Psi

Kappa Kappa Psi is an honorary band fraternity and is composed of outstanding male bandmen. Music is the common tie that brings these exceptional musicians together. The group holds regular meetings and sponsors several social events during the year. The mutual interests and abilities of the members furnish a strong bond of fellowship and enthusiasm.

International Club

The international students themselves sponsor the International Club, and all students and faculty of the university are welcome to meetings. At their meetings there are speeches, panel discussions and other social functions. Their purpose is to promote international peace and understanding. There is a yearly International Night sponsored by the club.

Zetas Rank High In Honors

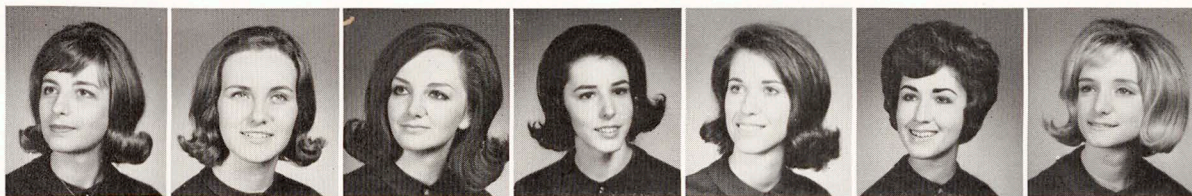

Epsilon chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha continued its tradition of leadership this year. Peggy Schell was elected vice-president of AWS and served as chairman of the Roles of Women Committee. Missy Alford was chosen for Who's Who and served as secretary of the Senior Class, Associate Editor of the RAZORBACK and vice-president of YDC.

In Angel Flight were Brenda Ziegler; Pam Simons, executive and administrative officer and Valita Goza, historian. Beauty honors were taken by Donna Cozort, Razorback beauty and Suzy Johnson, Agri Maid. Eighteen Zetas served as sophomore counselors, and they were well-represented in Chimes, Alpha Lambda Delta and Mortar Board, with Sue McFadden serving as secretary. Robin Cash and Missy Alford were Razorback cheerleaders. Robin also served as treasurer of AWS.

Serving in the Senate were Anne Allen and Jo Lynn Randle. In publications, Valita Goza was Beauties Editor for the RAZORBACK, Jan Bryant, Division Chief and Sandra Moore, Greeks Editor. Libby Ingram was feature editor for the TRAVELER and Kathy Walton was co-editor of the Panhellenic Rush Book. Evelyn Bowen was elected Miss YDC; Ramona Kozel was secretary of YRC and Valita Goza was treasurer of SNEA. At the end of the year Zeta won Sigma Chi Derby Day, and Susan Chase was Derby Darling.

Missy Alford served as president for the fall semester along with Gayle Edmondson, vice-president; Sue McFadden, secretary and Jannette Rose, treasurer. For the spring, Valita Goza was elected president; Betty Harris, vice-president; Lesley Ellis, secretary and Jan Bryant, treasurer.

Panhellenic Enforces Rush Rules

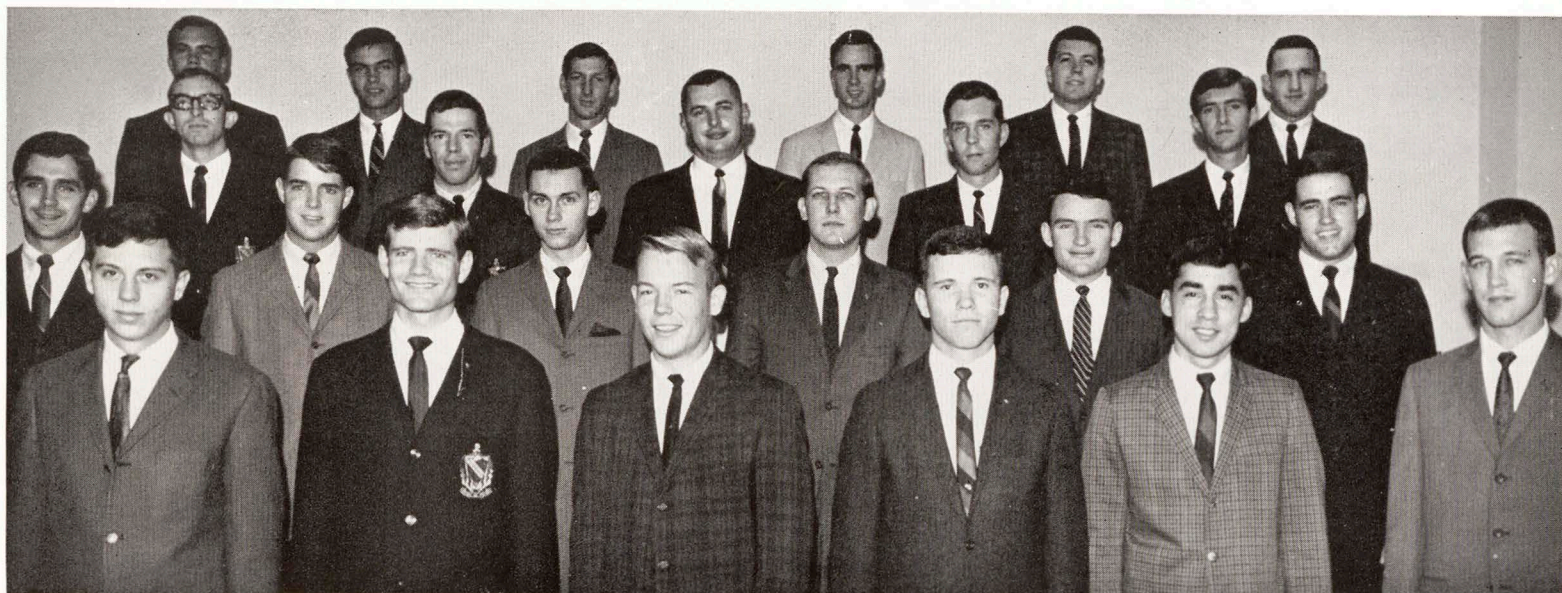

The UofA Panhellenic Council strives to maintain harmonious greek life and inter-sorority relationships among the sororities on campus. Major emphasis is placed on cooperation with the administration in their efforts to maintain high social and scholastic standards.

Activities of the council are to make and enforce all rules that govern rush and pledging. A scholarship cup is given each year for the highest grade point average. Each spring the council gives a coke party for all freshmen girls interested in participation in fall rush. Panhellenic also awards two scholarships annually at the AWS Spring Festival.

This year, in cooperation with Greek Week, Panhellenic sponsored the Pan-Olympic games in which all fraternities participated.

IFC Strives For Strong System

The organization designed to regulate and govern the activities of all social fraternities for the University campus is the Interfraternity Council. The primary function of IFC is to serve as the governing body for all fourteen fraternities, their relations with each other and the rest of the campus. It is composed of the Dean of Men and two representatives, the president and one elected member, from each fraternity and is governed by four officers elected from the membership of the Council.

The Council meets bi-monthly to discuss the mutual problems of the fraternity system and hosts special meetings during the year to work out these problems. It also enforces all rules concerning fraternity rush and social activities. Through the coordination of activities, IFC attempts to unite the fraternities in a spirit of brotherhood and mutual self-help, to promote scholarship, to encourage new fraternities to come on the campus and to develop existing chapters to a higher level.

Acacia—'Typical Fraternity Year'

Acacians found 1966 another fast-paced fraternity year. Summer and fall rush activities had just ended when the football season brought the usual string of dinners and dances honoring guests, alumni, and pledges. Acacia repeated its "End-of-the-World" party this fall, and ended the semester with the annual Holiday Formal.

Murals remained a constant activity for the fraternity, and Acacia placed third in fraternity football, with Jim Sikes named to the All-Mural squad.

Spring saw the return of the Sack Dance and Sweetheart Formal, and emphasis on campus activity. Cal Biggers ended his term as ABC president and was elected co-director of Gaebale. Charles Stubblefield returned unopposed to the Student Senate and coached a field of other fraternity candidates. Members of the fraternity remained active in various campus clubs and honoraries, and graduating Danny Cox served as vice-president of IFC with seniors John Bilheimer and Sam Park also active in several campus positions.

For the house, the year's story was one of growth and activity crowded in between the constant press of grades — a typical fraternity year.

Acacia officers for the fall were John Bilheimer, president; Jim Sikes, vice-president; Walter Lehle, secretary and Richard Reynolds, treasurer. For the spring, Dave Ouelette served as president; Richard Reynolds, vice-president; Jim White, secretary and Neil Modinger, treasurer.

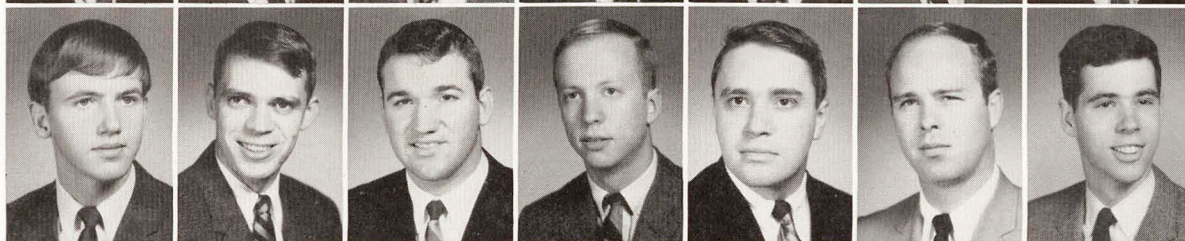

Acacia practices tennis in the courtyard for spring intramurals as part of Sam Park's program to make Acacia one of the top fraternities.

AGR's main concern this year has been the completion of their new house which rivals the Washington Pentagon and World's Fair in size.

AGR Set To Move To New House

The highlight of the year for the men of Alpha Gamma Rho was the start of construction on their new house, the first fraternity house to be built on Razorback Road. Scheduled for completion in mid-August, 1966, the house will hold living facilities for fifty men.

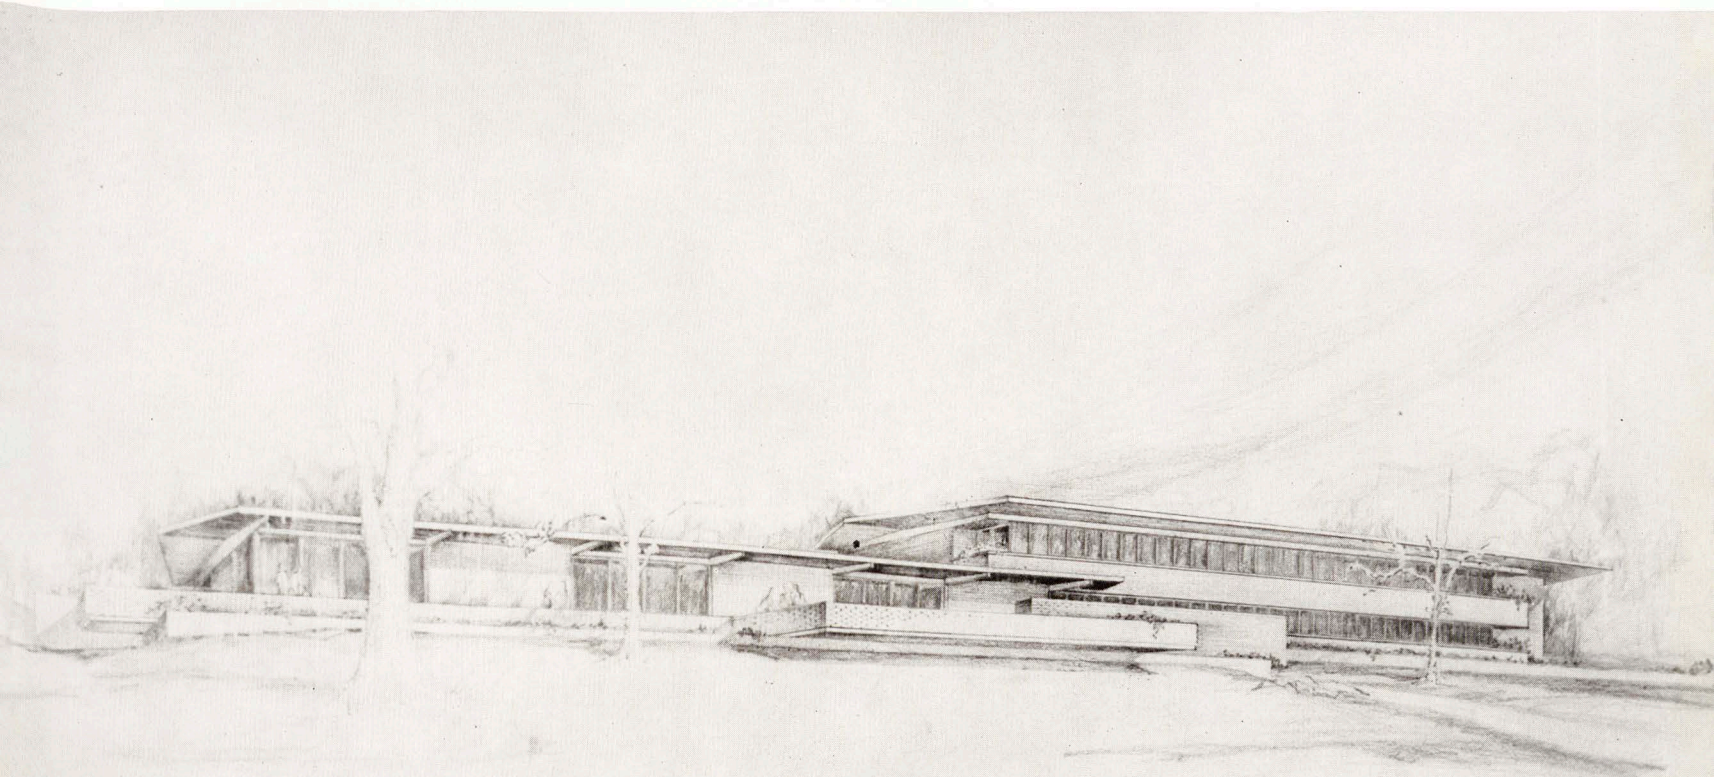

AGR's rose to new prominence on the University campus this year with Russell Black serving as president of IFC, president pro tempore of the Student Senate and senator from the College of Agriculture and Home Economics. Black was also selected for Who's Who. Three AGRs served in Blue Key, Black, Bill O'Bar and Mickey Wilber. Other campus leaders were Alan Moore, Razorback cheerleader; Roy Runyan, BSU president; Bob Johnson, commander of the Army ROTC Rifle Team and Bill O'Bar and Sam Kerr, co-editors of the AGRICULTURALIST.

In the College of Agriculture, Roy Runyan was chancellor of Alpha Zeta, Bill O'Bar chronicler and Quinton Cooper scribe; Mickey Wilber was president of Agri Students Association, Bill Green vice-president and Stanley Wingert, treasurer; Wayland Holloway was vice-president of Alpha Tau Alpha, Irvin Ashley treasurer and Sam Kerr secretary; David McNeal was treasurer of the Entomology Club and Dan Kennett was vice-president of the Agri Economics Club.

Social events of the year included the Pink Rose Formal, an annual fall party and parties after each football game.

Officers for the fall were Russell Black, president; Bob Rhodes, vice-president; Johnny Gossage, secretary and Roy Runyan, treasurer. For the spring, Ralph May was elected president; Mickey Wilber, vice-president; Phil Pile, secretary and Roy Runyan, treasurer.

An artist's drawing shows the new AGR house being built on Razorback Road across from the stadium to be finished this summer.

AKL, Faubus Dedicate New House

Alpha Kappa Lambda, the newest fraternity on the University campus, moved into its new house overlooking Stadium Drive this past fall. Ceremonies were held in which Governor Orval Faubus participated and was made an honorary member of the fraternity. An open house was held afterward.

Social events of the year included the first annual pledge dance, a Homecoming dance, the Yellow Rose Ball, the Spring formal and a 'Go To Hell With AKL' dance.

Two AKL's served in Blue Key, Bob Harriel and Henry Rowe. Several lived as counselors in the freshmen men's dorms. Conley Meredith served as vice-president for the YDC.

Officers for the fall were Sonny Tucker, president; Ronnie Hicks, vice-president; Walter Craig, treasurer and Ted Nakamura, secretary. For the spring, Henry Rowe was elected president; Ollie Campbell, vice-president; Walter Craig, treasurer and Malcolm Ritchie, secretary.

Moving into their new house, AKLs had to wire up the stereos and other equipment. Their biggest problem was planting grass.

Farmhouse qualifies as a fraternity and to prove it they threw their big chicken Plucking wing-ding party in the fall.

Farmhouse Gets Scholarship Cup

Farmhouse won the award for scholarship this past year and received the Phi Beta Kappa cup, the highest scholarship achievement of any living group on the U of A campus.

Individual honors received during the past year: Bob Bridges was selected for Who's Who and is a member of ODK; Jim Young and C. A. Ivy are also ODK members; Mickey Sweeney, Terry Keisling, Johnny Gillum and Gary Keathley were initiated into Alpha Zeta, and Farmhouse men held offices in various clubs including the Animal Industry Club, Agronomy Club, Agri Students Association, Alpha Zeta and Alpha Tau Alpha.

In addition to individual and scholarship honors, a full social calendar rounded out the group's activities with the spring and fall parties and drop-ins after ball games. Dances consisted of Valentines, Christmas and the Fall formal.

Farmhouse officers for the year were Bob Bridges, president; Carl Ragland, vice-president; Jim Edwards, secretary and Mickey Sweeney, treasurer.

A trophy case gleaming with trophies for scholarship can only be found in one house on campus—Farm house—who has led that for years.

Kappa Sigs reported their lawn chairs stolen this year and the city panicked — who would watch the stop light?

Kappa Sigs Observe 75th Year

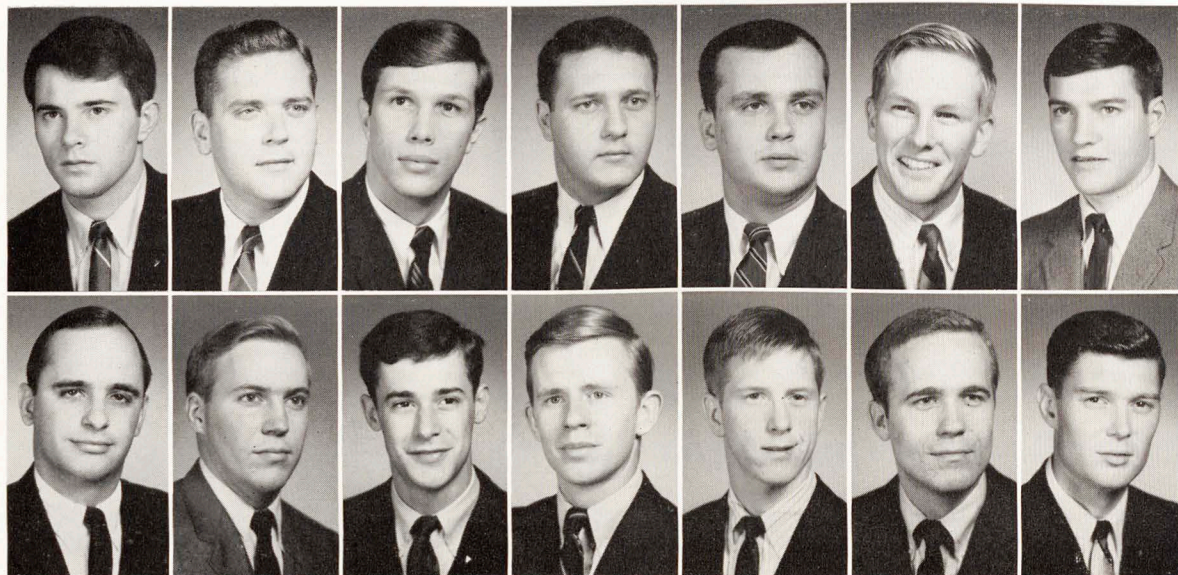

Xi chapter of Kappa Sigma, with seventy-five years to its credit in 1965, added to its list of honors this year. Donny Wineland and Bill Keadle represented Xi in Blue Key, and Jim Lindsey was a member of ODK and was selected to Who's Who.

Kappa Sigs on the football field gained a lot of prominence: Loyd Phillips was chosen All-American by all but one poll; Guy Jones, Richard Trail, Travis Mauldin and Richard Cunningham were Porker stand-outs and Jim Lindsey was selected to play in the Senior Bowl game.

Kappa Sig's social season reached a new high with dances after each football game, the Christmas formal, the Toilet Bowl and numerous drop-ins.

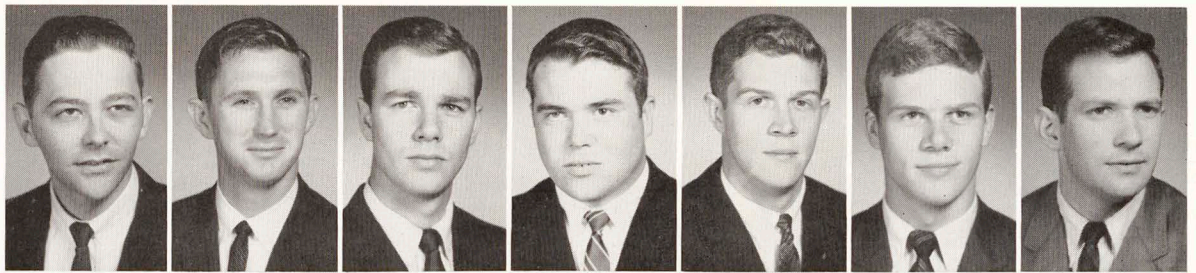

Officers for the fall were Eddie Parlin, president; Bob Tucker, vice-president; Tommy Vassar, treasurer and Jerry Clem, secretary. For the spring, Chuck Hayden was elected president; Happy Kitchens, vice-president, Bill Keadle, treasurer and Jerry Clem, secretary.

LCA Active In Campus Affairs

Lambda Chi Alpha saw 1965-66 as one of its most outstanding years on the UofA Campus. Bill Ross and Richard Remke were selected for Who's Who; Tom Cardin served as president of ODK, president of the Southwestern Press Club and managing editor of the TRAVELER; Gearld Don Emmert served as a member of the Student Senate; Larry Wallace, John Harmon, Dave Gardner, Bill Ross, Ray Owen and Robert Shedly were members of Blue Key and Rob Walton was a member of ODK. Lambda Chi also was active in intramural sports.

The social activities of the Lambda Chi's included

Homecoming, Dad's Day Celebration, Founders Day, Purple Id Party, Western Party, Crescent Girl Formal, Spring Outing and the Playboy Party.

Lambda Chis participating in varsity athletics were Glen Ray Hines and Max Peacock, football; Wally Freeman, basketball and baseball and Scott Buell, tennis.

Officers for the fall semester included Jerry Vervack, president; Wayne Coates, vice-president; Frank Emmert, secretary and Robert Shedly, treasurer. Second semester officers were Wayne Coates, president; Frank Emmert, vice-president; Woody Kinsey, secretary and Robert Shedly, treasurer.

The Lambda Chi 'Purple Id' party gained a new distinction for a fraternity — it grossed out more people than any other party.

PDT Wins Best Chapter Award

The year 1965-66 was an especially memorable one for Phi Delta Theta at the UofA. After only seventeen years as a Phi chapter, the University chapter received the Founder's Day trophy for being the best Phi Delt chapter in the country. Helping win this honor for the chapter were leaders on campus in each of four fields: scholarship, leadership, athletics and social endeavor.

In leadership, Mac Glover served as president of Associated Students; Al Bell served as Alpha Kappa Psi president, Joe Carruth was IFC secretary and Marketing Club president; Pat Mayo, ABC treasurer, was selected as regional conclave chairman for Arnold Air Society and Jim Trieschmann served as treasurer for three of the six Greek letter societies to which he belongs.

Phis were once again active in athletics with Bobby Burnett, Tommy Burnett, Bobby Roper, Ronnie South, Tommy Trantham and Robert Trammel all doing an excellent job on the championship Razorback team.

Socially, the year was highlighted by many fall and spring outings and drop-ins. Dad's Day, Homecoming, Founder's Day, and the Viking Party were highly successful.

Bill Miller served as first semester president along with Milton Leuken, vice-president; Mike Miller, secretary and Jim Trieschmann, treasurer. For the second semester, Al Bell was president, Milton Leuken vice-president, Mike Miller secretary and Jim Trieschmann treasurer.

Phi Delts begin building setting for their big social event of the year, the Viking party, which is held every April.

PiKA One Of Oldest Fraternities

Pi Kappa Alpha enjoyed continued success consistent with its more than sixty-year history at the UofA. Outstanding representatives of PiKA were Jim Wellons, Blue Key and Cardinal XX; David Fitton, Cardinal XX and president of the Pre-Law Club; Don Walker, president of ABC pledge class; Paul Rogers, treasurer of the Pre-Law Club and member of the executive committee of YDC and Scott Stafford, who maintained a 4.00 scholastic record. Pikes were also found on the Razorback athletic teams. Harry Jones, Hartford Hamilton, Jack Brasuell, Stu Berryhill and Don Richardson helped lead the Porkers to a second straight undefeated football season. John Talkington was a starter on the basketball team, and Bob Brandon was on the UofA track team.

Scholarship was of primary concern with PiKA as they ranked third out of fourteen fraternities.

Pike social activities included the Roaring 20's party, the Christmas Brunch, the Dream Girl formal, the Gaebale barbeque and an annual spring outing.

First semester officers were David Fitton, president; Don Cassil, vice-president; Rusty Rogers, secretary and Bob Magness, treasurer. Rusty Rogers was elected second semester president along with Fred Warren, vice-president; Jim England, secretary and Bob Magness, treasurer.

Pike members decided all was not lost and pledged sharp pup, but the pledge class was wiped out again when IFC saw the pledge.

SAE Wins First In Float Design

Sigma Alpha Epsilon was the first southern fraternity, being founded in 1856 at the University of Alabama. Alpha Upsilon chapter came to the University in 1894.

Four Alphas are student body officers: treasurer, Bill Dillard; senators, Barry McKuin and Harold Sudbury and senior class president, J. J. Scroggin. SAE's serving in honor organizations include eleven members of Blue Key, two members of ODK and four members of Cardinal XX. Paul Ray served as co-director of Gaebale and Larry James was selected as Brigade Commander of Army ROTC. Organization officers include: Rodger Kline, president of Blue Key; Bart Lindsey, president of Circle K; Garvis Pollard, president of Scabbard and Blade; Larry James, vice-president of Scabbard and Blade and Rodger Kline, president of the Engineering Council. Paul Ray, Bill Dillard and Rodger Kline were selected for Who's Who.

The social side was equally eventful for the Alphas. Events included the Christmas formal, Pledge party and annual Spring Costume party. SAE placed first in the homecoming float competition.

Officers for the year were (first semester) Ed McCorkle, president; Garvis Pollard, vice-president; Mark Nason, secretary and Barry McKuin, treasurer. Second semester officers were Garvis Pollard, president; Mickey Reilly, vice-president; Sandy Ladage, secretary and Tim Davis, treasurer.

Members of SAE tuned up their voices for the annual Singfony competition but were judged ineligible because of their unusually high voices.

Sigma Chis can usually be found behind the house playing a round of garbage ball, a game they invented.

Skis Hold Second Derby Day

The Omega Omega Chapter of Sigma Chi celebrated another year of achievement in scholarship and continued to accumulate honors in campus activities and organizations. Doug Hurley was selected for Who's Who. Many other individuals showed their leadership abilities through individual achievements: Mack McLarty was elected president of Cardinal XX; Jim King, Larry Moffett and Bill Vowell were tapped for membership in Blue Key; Bruce Switzer served as president of YDC; Dick Wyatt and Joe Klein were tapped for ODK and Mack McLarty served as IFC Rush Chairman.

Along with parties after the football games and numerous fall and spring outings, the social activities of Sigma Chi included Ski Lodge Party and their Second Annual Derby Day.

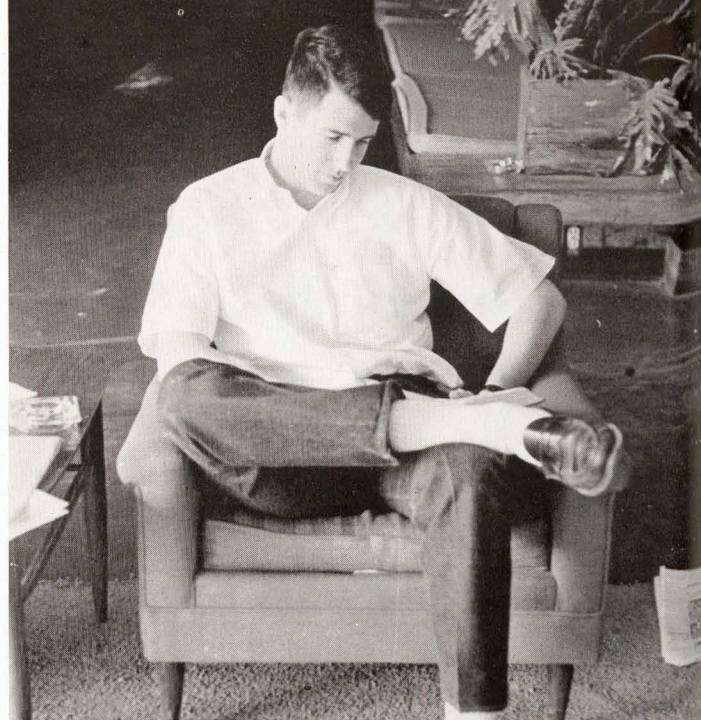

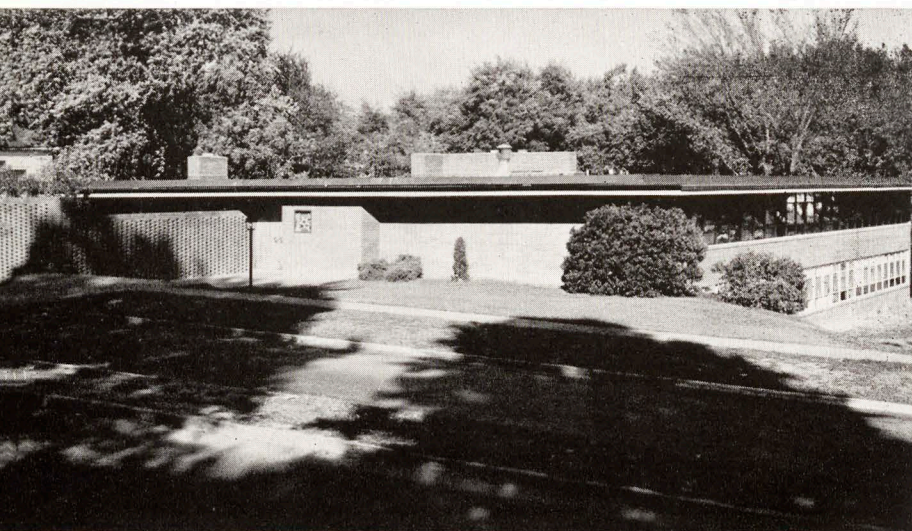

Doug Hurley served as president of the chapter during the fall along with Fred Davis, vice-president; Jim May, secretary and Jim Hydes, treasurer. Spring officers were Jim King, president; Bill Vowell, vice-president; John Stickman, secretary and Jim Hyden, treasurer.

There was very little time for studies in the Snake house in the spring semester with a candidate for president.

Sigma Nu's Lea Wins Presidency

Gamma Upsilon chapter of Sigma Nu continued its tradition of leadership and honors on the UofA campus. Highlighting the year were the election of Tom Lea as president of Associated Students for 1966-'67 and the Sigma Nu Relays.

Individual achievements in the academic and extra-curricular world highlighted a cooperative effort. Joe Henderson, Bill Smead, Pat Shannon, Jerry Sparrow and Tom Butt were tapped for membership in ODK. Tapped for Blue Key were Tom Lea, David Harper and Vince Long. J. D. McConnell and Sherman Johnson were selected to Who's Who. In publications, Don Henry was selected as business manager for the TRAVELER and Kent Rubens was named editor of the "A" Book.

Offices held by Sigma Nu's included Jim Williams, vice-president of Blue Key and chairman of Razorback

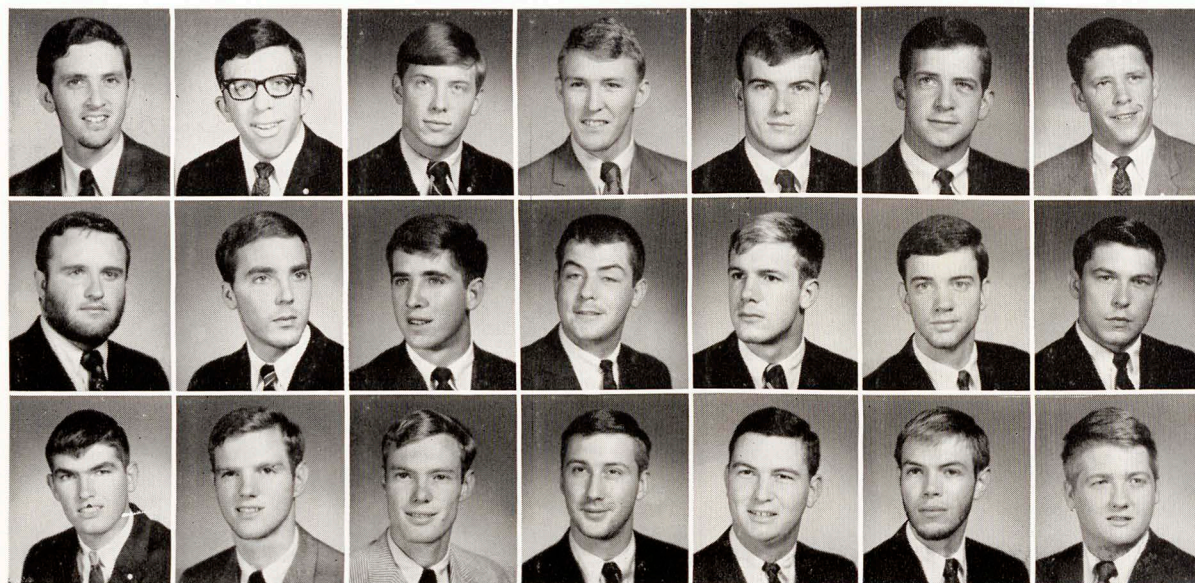

Day; Tom Lea, justice on the Student Court; Kent Rubens, president of Phi Eta Sigma and Steve Rousseau, president of the Honors Council.

Joe Henderson served in the Student Senate and John Simpson and Kent Rubens were in Cardinal XX.

Social events were highlighted by the annual Sadie Hawkins weekend and the White Rose formal.

Sigma Nu Pledges were represented at Greek Week when Kent Rubens was selected IFC Outstanding Pledge.

Officers for the fall were Sherman Johnson, president; Steve Zaccardi, vice-president; Dick McDougal, secretary and Pat Shannon, treasurer. For the spring, Tom Feilke was elected president; John Bale, vice-president; John Thane, secretary and Joe Henderson, treasurer.

Sig Eps Hold Annual Luau

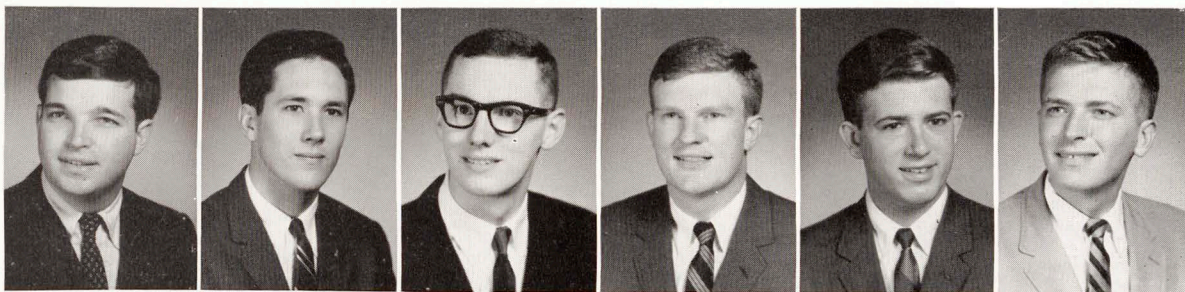

In another year of achievement, the men of Sigma Phi Epsilon were well-represented in all phases of campus activity. Bill Stoll was elected to Who's Who and tapped for membership in ODK. Fred Chandler was secretary of ODK, and Mart Vehik and Steve Reasoner were members. Clyde Rodgers, Jim Johnson and Mike Fitzhugh were members of Circle K; Sikes Harris, Bob McDaniel and Ron Blankenship were in Alpha Kappa Psi; McDaniel and Neil Snyder were Cardinal XX and Chuck Hemingway was sports editor of the TRAVELER.

Outstanding Sig Ep social functions of the year included the Golden Heart Ball and numerous drop-ins and parties. The Sig Ep Luau, the highlight of the year, was held in the spring.

SPE was well represented on the athletic field by All-Southwest Conference choices Jim Williams and Jon Brittenum and by Paul Ramey, Jim Wiesenhunt, David Spatz and Richard Coleman.

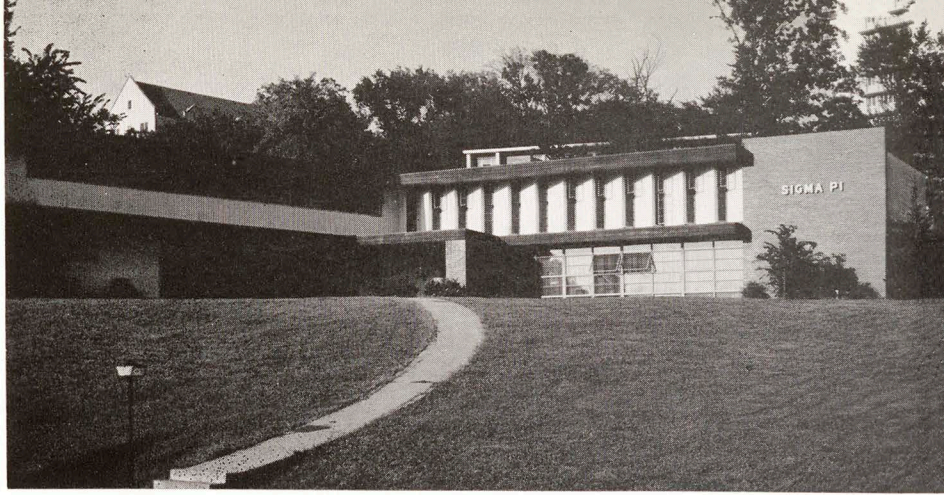

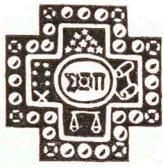

Officers for the year were Steve Reasoner, president; Randy Coleman, vice-president; Neil Snyder, secretary and Fred Chandler, controller.

Sigma Pi Ends Year With Party

Alpha Sigma chapter of Sigma Pi fraternity achieved outstanding honors and activities through another school year. Kent Burnett was selected to Blue Key, Theta Tau, AIIE, the Student Senate, Engineering Council, Pi Mu Epsilon, Phi Eta Sigma and IFC. Jon Keel was a member of Arnold Air Society, Theta Tau, Alpha Phi Omega, Phi Eta Sigma, AIChE and one of the two Sigma Pi's on the 1965 Razorback Cheerleader Squad. Buzz Arnold was a past member of Who's Who, Theta Tau, ODK, Student Senate, Engineering Council, Phi Eta Sigma, Pi Mu Epsilon and past Vice-President of IFC.

In publications John Pemberton and Ray Vester served as Business Manager and Assistant Business Manager of the TRAVELER.

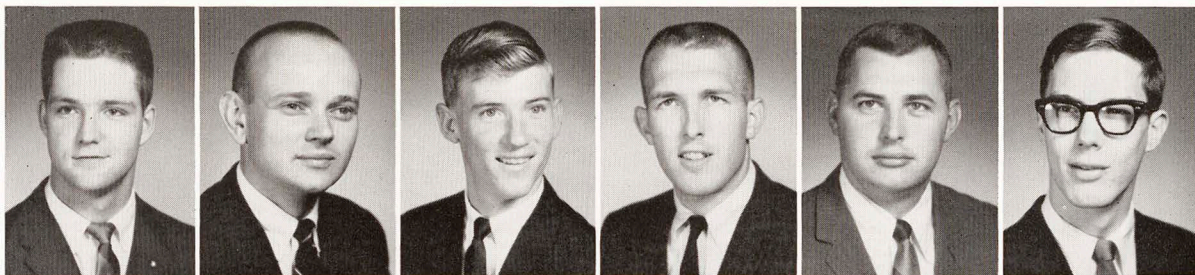

Sigma Pi had many varied social activities this year. These included house parties after Dad's Day and Homecoming, two formals and a Founder's Day Banquet. The highlight this spring was the annual Singapore Sling where the "Uniques" entertained.

Kent Burnett added the biggest crown to Sigma Pi's achievements by being elected vice-president of Associated Students for 1966-'67.

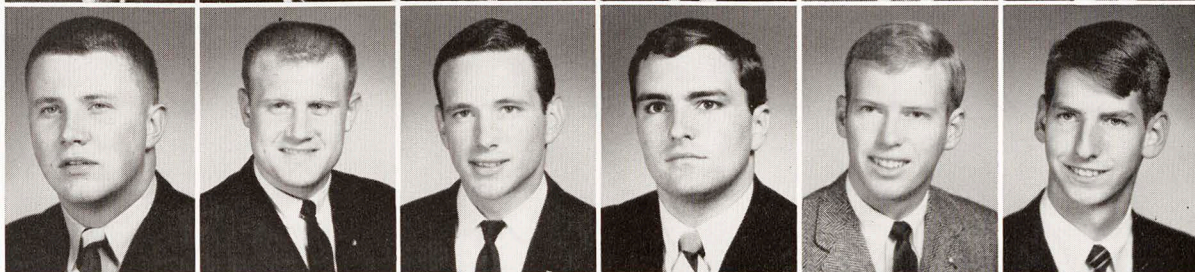

Sigma Pi officers were, for the first semester, John Burns, president; Kent Burnett, vice-president; Joe Sing, secretary and Ray Vester, treasurer. For the second semester, Kent Burnett served as president; Ray Vester, vice-president; Jim Vawter, secretary and Dick Chapman, treasurer.

Tekes helped clean up the Fayetteville city park as part of their activities during Greek Week.

Tekes gather outside their house to show their pledge strength (40) to neighboring fraternities on Arkansas.

Teke Gains Most Pledges

Tau Kappa Epsilon, now in its fifth year at the University of Arkansas, maintained during the fall semester a 40-man pledge class, largest on campus. Tekes took first place in the Homecoming house decoration contest.

Tekes were once again among the top contenders in AA intramural competition this year. Campus leaders included, Cid Sutoris, editor of the TRAVELER, John Sullivan, co-chairman of Greek Week and John Graves, student senator in charge of the student forum.

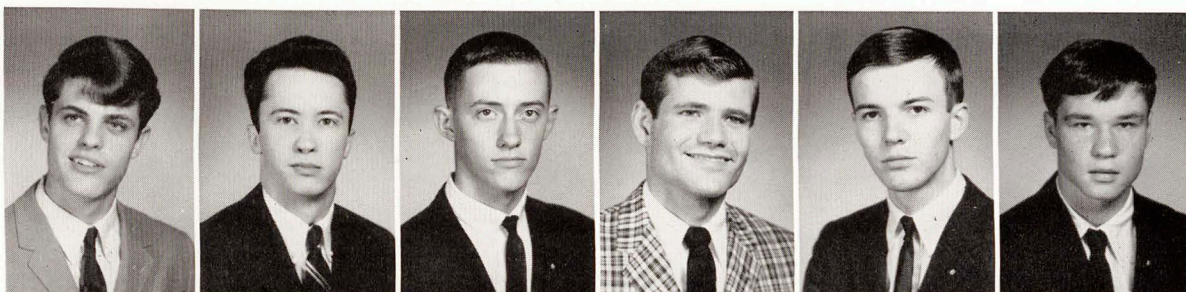

Social activities were highlighted by the traditional Old South Ball, complete with Confederate uniforms. Other activities included Scholarship Awards Day, Founders' Day, the Blazer Party, the annual Texas Victory Dance and social events with all eight sororities.

Tau Kappa Epsilon was founded internationally in 1899 and has now grown to the nation's largest social fraternity with over 215 chapters; the UofA chapter was the 188th chartered.

Theta Tau Stresses Grades

Although Theta Tau is primarily concerned with scholastic achievements, its social calendar is not lacking. Early in the year, the Founders Day Banquet was held, followed by the fall and spring outing and the St. Patricia Banquet. On April 7, Theta Taus celebrated the thirty-eighth anniversary of the founding of Theta Tau at the UofA.

Along with an outstanding scholastic record, members of Theta Tau continued to show leadership ability in many phases of campus life and were especially outstanding in the various engineering organizations. Jim Womble, Randy Stewart and Rodger Kline were selected for Who's Who, and Rodger Kline was president of Blue Key.

Officers for the first semester were Jim Womble, president; Gus Vratsinas, vice-president; Bill Jennings, secretary and Bill McMoran, treasurer. Second semester officers were Gus Vratsinas, president; Bill McMoran, vice-president and Jim Walker, secretary.

Razorback Hall Active On Campus

This year the women of Razorback Hall established themselves in all phases of campus activity. During the fall semester, Barrie Jo Price served as president; Judy Russell, secretary and Sharon Luckes, treasurer. Spring semester officers were Carol Cravens, president; Judy Russell, secretary and Norma Westfall, treasurer.

Several Razorback residents brought special recognition to the dorm. Marilynda Green was ROTC Honorary Brigade Colonel. The Hall won fourth place in Singfony under the direction of Judy Safely. Elected to serve as WIHC officers were Mary Gatlin, vice-president; Rosemary Hoag, secretary and Ginger Shiras, treasurer. Judy Safely and Sheryl Bryant showed their dramatic ability in several of the University Theatre productions, with Sheryl holding the lead in "Stop The World" and "The Rivals". Ginger Shiras was chairman of the AWS Communications Committee, and Sheryl Bryant was a finalist in the Best-Dressed Coed contest.

The entire hall sent Christmas packages to the Razorback helicopter squadron in Viet Nam.

WIHC Studies Honorary Fraternity

Jan Turner
President

Women's Inter Hall Council is composed of representatives of all women's residence halls and 4-H House. First semester, the group co-sponsored the annual Casino Carnival. Second semester's activities included sponsoring three health films of special interest to women and co-sponsoring an all-residence halls dance.

Officers for the year were: Jan Turner, president; Mary Gatlin, vice president; Rosemary Hoag, secretary and Ginger Shiras, treasurer. Sue Elliot served as publicity chairman, and Nancy Wood was MACURH contact.

Rosemary Hoag also served as secretary of the multi-state Midwest Association of College and University Residence Halls. The University of Arkansas WIHC sends a delegation to the annual MACURH convention which was held last summer at Kansas State University. This summer the convention will be held at Oklahoma State University. Delegates bring back reports on what other colleges' residence halls are doing. One of the ideas being considered is forming a chapter of a national honorary fraternity for residence hall members.

MIHC Records Year Of Progress

Lamar Pettus
President

Progress was the byword in MIHC activities this year. Lamar Pettus served as president, Judon Fambrough, vice-president; Dean Papp, secretary; Curtis Barton, treasurer and Ivan King, social chairman.

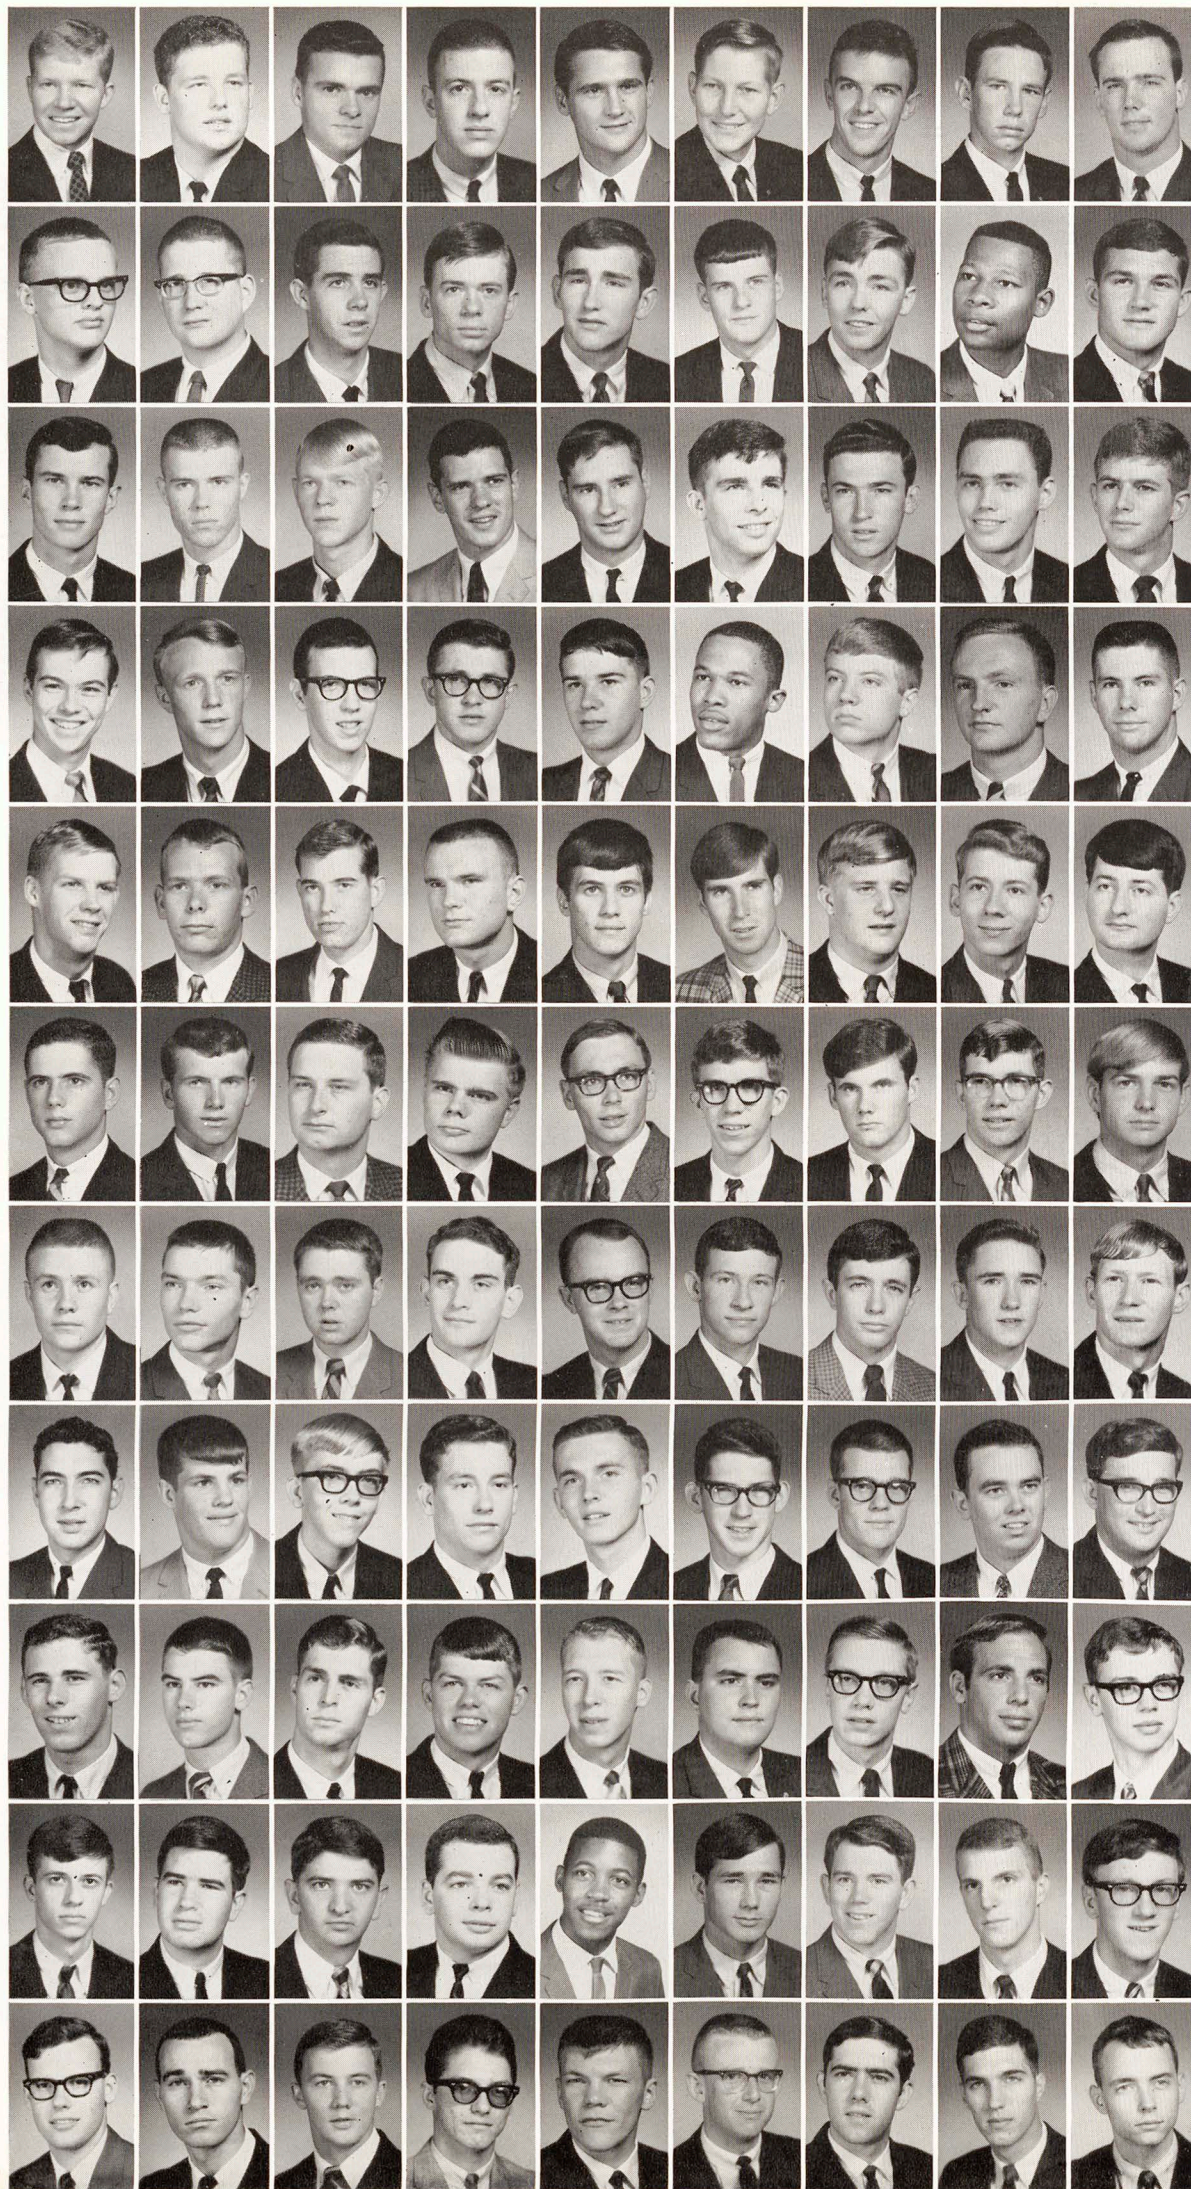

In the field of scholarship, MIHC offered awards to residents of men's halls for academic excellence. Savings bonds and plaques were given to both freshmen and upperclassmen. MIHC also sponsored free tutoring to residence hall students.

MIHC provided, for the first time, intramural jerseys for the dorms, in addition to purchasing athletic equipment.

In the social program, MIHC sponsored its annual Casino Carnival and an additional feature, a spring Residence Hall Dance, which will be expanded into a Residence Hall Week in 1967. MIHC sponsors three entertainment films a semester, which are presented free of charge to residence hall men.

MIHC has established a political forum committee to arrange speaking engagements for independent candidates. The Council sends delegates to national conventions, such as MACURH, and presently has two officers, president, Keith Rutledge and vice-president, Lamar Pettus.

Humphreys Men Stress Activities

The men of Humphreys Hall completed another successful year with participation in all areas of campus life. Scholastically, Humphreys excelled with nearly one fourth of all residents compiling a 3.0 grade average.

Enthusiastic promotion of athletic events was highlighted by excellent representation at pep rallies and building a Homecoming float. Intramurals dominated the extracurricular activities of the residents, but Humphreys men also captured second place in the annual Singfony. Three hall dances were prominent events of a social calendar that also included many exchange dances and a Christmas party for underprivileged children.

The men of Humphreys were represented in the Student Senate first semester by Scott Covington. Tom Kresse took this position second semester. Members of Humphreys Senate formulated a new constitution for the hall. Officers for the first semester were John Quinn, president; Tom Kresse, vice president; David Davies, secretary-treasurer; and Chad Gilbert social chairman. Officers elected for the spring semester were Stan Eden, president; Ed Ellis, vice president; David Davies, secretary-treasurer; and Nelson Johnson, social chairman.

Wilson Sharp House

Wilson Sharp is the home of the Razorback athletes of all sports. It houses over one hundred varsity and freshman athletes who have brought much recognition to the University campus during the year. Darby Hall, the eating and recreation facility, was completed several years ago to make the athletic dorm a complete housing and living unit for the athletes.

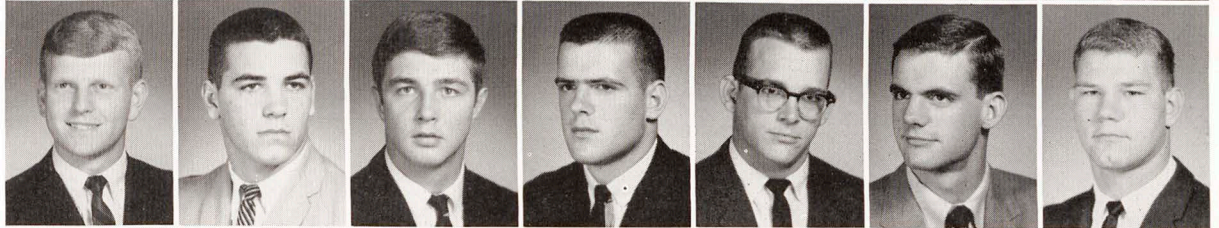

Wilson Sharp has also taken a large part in the UofA social whirl. Drop-ins for the fans at home football games were held after each home game. Two major social events were a Christmas dance and a Spring formal. During the fall, the members of the football team were entertained by each sorority with a banquet and skit. Jim Lindsey served the year as president.

The windows of Yocum Hall offer an interesting pattern and an interesting view of the Ozarks.

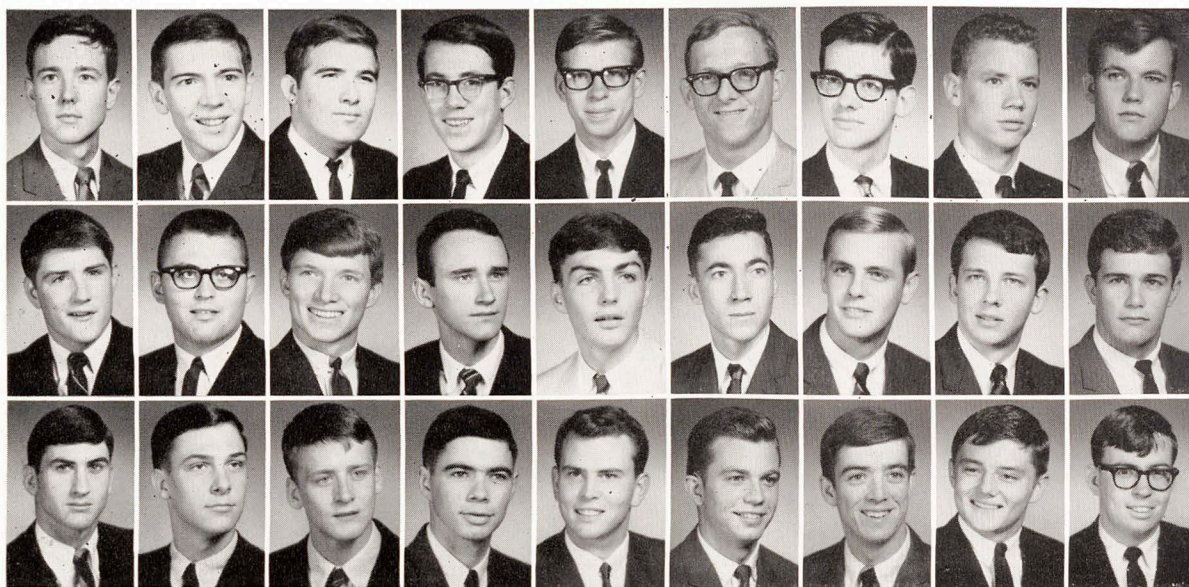

Yocum Largest Dorm On Campus

Yocum Hall's officers, Jim Nobles, president; Lowell Clifton, vice-president and Steve Stevens, secretary-treasurer, led their dorm through an active year. Rick Jay represented Yocum freshmen in the Student Senate.

Intramural participation resulted in high rankings in the dorm division for the second and ninth floors. On the all-school level, Yocum put quite an effort on their Homecoming decoration, hosted MIHC's fall carnival, participated in a Student-Faculty Tea and planned their Gaebale Carnival entry.

Social activities were the watchword as Yocum men filled their calendars with exchange dinners with all sororities and women's dorms, floor dinners, weekend dances and after-game drop-ins. They also held a Christmas party for underprivileged children.

Your Alumni Association is on the Move

And We Want YOU In On It, Too.

There is a new excitement among graduates and former students of the university — an excitement over the realization that their years in college have formed the basis for current and future successes and growing opportunities.

Gratefully more and more Alumni are joining as active members in support of the programs of the Association. Scholarships, Outstanding Faculty Awards, Library Purchases, and Departmental Grants are among the projects now existing.

But much more is needed. The vital functions of a University, those functions not supported by taxes, must be provided for you and those to come. And more and more Alumni — not only here, but in all universities and colleges across the nation — are being called upon to help make a great university greater.

All seniors are given a year's free active membership in the Association during their last year in school. When you have graduated will you please seek, or better, still, demand to know what you might do for your University through authentic arkansas . . .

Old Main is the traditional symbol of the University of Arkansas, a land-grant college founded in 1874 . . . this is authentic Arkansas.

Authentic, too, is the delicious Arkansas freshness and flavor found in College Club milk, proud to share in the traditional heritage of authentic Arkansas.

Arkansas Western Gas Company

"Helping Build North and West Arkansas"

Here's a new way of buying gasoline that's more than the cat's meow.

Your engine will purr its very best, while you save money.

Now from one pump Lion Octane-Blended Gasoline comes in five different grades at five different prices. It gives you exactly the grade of gasoline that fits your car best . . . and can save up to 3¢ on every gallon you buy.

What, you may ask, is behind this new idea for buying gasoline?

Every resource of the giant Monsanto family . . . of which Lion Oil Company is a member. Research laboratories, oil fields here and abroad, huge refineries and chemical plants, plus more than 3500 Lion people.

Look to Lion . . . major producer of gasolines, lubricants, asphalts and more than 150 other petroleum products for the individual, for industry and agriculture. Lion Oil Company, Hydrocarbons and Polymers Division, Monsanto Company, El Dorado, Ark.

Welcome!

The View

From My Window

The view from my window has been colored by exuberance then crushing despair and disappointment. One cannot live with this damn book for nine months and not run the gambit of emotions. There are many good things about the University which has passed by this window during the year. This book tries to depict all of them — good and bad.

We have worked for an All-American book, the highest award for yearbooks. We wouldn't be worthy of the University if we didn't try. However, the criteria for an All-American book is in some ways irreconcilable with RAZORBACK tradition. In those cases we have kept the tradition but have done it in the best manner possible. Pleasing the student body was our main concern.

This year has been a controversial year for the RAZORBACK though very few students know it. The present editor was appointed on September 1 after Sam Yager was removed under that sometimes-enforced rule about grade point. If you happen to be a friend of the administration or live in certain houses, that is one rule you need never worry about — you either won't be reported or you can certainly make it past the University petitions committee.

A major policy change by the Board of Publications was also made. The RAZORBACK has gone in the hole for the past several years and at an increasing rate. This year's book will also go in the hole, but not as much as the normal rise from year to year. This deficit comes from the University failing to meet its commitment on funds for the book. They did come up with an allocation increase of $3,000 over last year. However, just the normal rise in cost was over $5,000 more than last year.

Several plans were offered during the year, including the student activity fee idea presented at the end of the year. The problem with all these ideas was that they involved the student body and its organizations bailing the RAZORBACK out of debt. This let the University completely off the hook. Pressure was put upon the Board to do something about the mounting deficit. It was decided to go along with Bill Ebbert's idea of selling the RAZORBACK to state businessmen and student's parents. The problem with that is that it isn't a lasting improvement — he is the only editor that will want to spend his summer traveling the state to sell this damn book. Besides, who relishes the idea of having MORE mammas and pappas seeing all the 'bad' things that go on at the big U and causing more rules to be passed? (I also can't imagine the administration wanting the people of the state to see them subjected to some of the scorn, most of it justified, that is found in the RAZORBACK each year.)

Several things are needed. But these need to be lasting improvements. The book should break even and not make money — that would violate what it is. The University allotment to the RAZORBACK needs to be set at a certain amount for each student, say $3.50, and kept that way every year — this will take care of the increase in enrollment. Certain sections, such as organizations, dorms, Greeks and administration, need to be streamlined to take up less room and cost less money. Reforms need to be made in the photography department so as to save money.

But enough about technical aspects of the RAZORBACK. It is a complex, $55,000 book, and 'that damn book' is an apt term, maybe even an endearing term. At least, the greatest emotion viewed from this window was the relief of the editor when the last page was finished.

Editors have said it in the past, and I can understand why — this book at its worst is better than 99% of the best of other yearbooks. And the main reason for this is that this book is you, the students at the University. Though you make fun of the school, and many things about it are ridiculously funny; though you criticize it, and it needs much more constructive criticism — this University, because of you, is one of the most thrilling, exciting and interesting universities in the nation. RAZORBACKS of the past have reflected this, hopefully this one will too.

A tremendous staff of loyal workers, whom I have already mentioned in the publications section, really made this book possible. The editor started with nothing — really nothing. Hard work and devotion from those who stayed around to see it finished pulled the book out of the fire. Sylvia Spencer even gave up her spring vacation to stay around and help.

There are no enemies that are worth talking about now — its only surprising how little they matter now that the whole thing is over. There are only friends made in the course of one hell of a year. Certain people helped the editor personally and made his work possible — Ronnie Robinson (who started the whole thing), Jerry Lineberger and family, Jim Lindsey, Father Johnson, Pete and Shag Shields and Cheri Moore.

This book is you — take a long look at yourself.

This is the camera that made all the pictures for the RAZOR-
BACK, good and bad; the book, one of the many I didn't open and my empty chair in the library.
